Chicago Election

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley, in a confident and jovial mood, predicted on the final day of his campaign for a fifth term that he will win "a substantial victory" Tuesday over liberal Richard E. Friedman, a Democrat turned Republican.

Daley, who will be 69 in May, was heavily favored to win another four-year term in City Hall and to preserve a Democratic party winning streak that dates to 1957.

"I'm very confident," the mayor told newsmen, "but you can guess at the figures."

Daley supporters predicted early in the campaign his winning margin might exceed the half-million vote plurality of 1967, but observers now feel that Friedman's hard-fought campaign will make it closer.

Asked how many of Chicago's 80 wards he expected to win, Daley joked, "A majority."

Daley also appeared nonchalant about the endorsement of Friedman by the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket. The mayor was asked if Jackson's support could sway the 300,000 Negroes eligible to vote.

"I thought he was a religious leader," Daley quipped.

Friedman also spoke confidently of victory in the midst of a 40-hour marathon, no-sleep windup to his campaign.

"We are on the brink of victory," he said.

Friedman, 41, a Democrat who turned Republican to challenge Daley, ran a vigorous campaign which attacked Daley's alleged lack of communication with people.

"My campaign workers say there will be a massive defection of voters to my candidacy," Friedman said, and added that the Jackson endorsement "came as a pleasant surprise."

Both sides expect that voter turnout will exceed one million as it has in Daley's previous four elections.

Friedman supporters reason that Daley backers will vote regardless of weather or any other factors, and that any excess votes will go to Friedman.

The weather forecast for Tuesday is warm and sunny.

The mayor said that "the more people that vote the better off we are—in all elections."

The mayor was asked what the odds would be for a Friedman victory if he was betting.

"I don't bet, that's against the law you know," he chuckled.

Wage Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department announced Monday the appointment of 12 public, labor and industry members to a committee created by President Nixon to stabilize construction wages.

John T. Dunlop, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University, and long-time construction labor-management expert, was chosen as chairman and one of the public members of the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee created by presidential executive order a week ago.

The announcement of the committee members came shortly after AFL-CIO construction unions said their attorneys had advised them "there is no reasonable legal basis upon which effectively to attack the executive order on its face."

The union leaders agreed to participate.

The new committee will hold its first meeting Tuesday.

In addition to Dunlop, public members of the committee include Clarence D. Barker of the Labor Department's Wage Appeals Board from Santa Barbara, Calif.; Albert Rees, Princeton University professor of economics and director of industrial relations, and Stuart Rothman, Washington attorney and member of the Labor Department's Wage Appeals Board.

Labor members named to the board were Hunter P. Wharton, president of the International Union of Operating Engineers; S. Frank Raftery, president of the International Brotherhood of Painters; John H. Lyons, president of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers; and Charles Pillard, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Industry members named were John E. Healy, president of the Associated General Contractors; Robert L. Higgins, executive vice president of the National Electrical Contractors Association; George A. Miller, executive vice president of the Masonry Contractors Association; and John E. Quinn, vice president of the National Constructors Association.

Appointed secretary to the committee was Dr. Quinn Mills, assistant professor of economists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Appointed administrator was Dr. Milard Cass, former deputy undersecretary of labor.

Nixon a week ago issued the order to create a Construction Stabilization Committee to seek to moderate the past sharp rise in construction industry wages.

White House sources indicated the plan, designed to generally limit wage hikes to 6 per cent a year, was expected to have an indirect effect on curbing price increases in the industry.

East-West Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a voice raised against it, the Senate approved Monday legislation designed to increase U.S. trade with Communist East Europe.

The key provision was included in a bill passed 68 to 1 which would expand the authority of the Export-Import Bank.

Under the section, American businessmen could seek the facilities of the bank to finance deals made with countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Only a few years ago, such a provision could have been expected to arouse sharp debate in the Senate.

It still may face hard sledding in the House where Senate passage sent the bill.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., chief sponsor of the East-West trade rider, told his colleagues the present restriction on such exchanges denies no products to the Communist nations.

They obtain all of the items they need from industrial nations in West Europe or elsewhere in the world and U.S. firms simply lose the right to bid on the business, he contended.

Affects Narcotics Suspects

Court Passes 'Bugging' Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major "bugging" decision, the Supreme Court Monday gave government agents permission to send informers into the homes of narcotics suspects with hidden radio transmitters and to use the recorded conversations for prosecution.

Moreover, said Justice Byron R. White in the 6-3 ruling, the agent does not need a search warrant since there has been no invasion of the suspect's "constitutionally justifiable expectations of privacy."

Normally, White said, no one has a right to expect that a person with whom he is conversing will not reveal the conversation to the police, especially "one contemplating illegal activities."

The ruling, two years in the making and avidly sought by the Justice Department, evoked a plaintive dissent from Justice William O. Douglas. He asked: "Must everyone live in fear that every word he speaks may be transmitted or recorded and later repeated to the entire world?"

Justice John M. Harlan and Thurgood Marshall entered separate dissents saying the Constitution dictates the need for a search warrant.

Meanwhile, the court indicated strongly that it will provide no comfort for local officials who try to zone out Negroes from white residential areas.

The forceful hint came in the court's unanimous rejection of an attempt by the mayor and City Council of Lackawanna, N.Y. to block construction of a housing subdivision for Negroes in an almost exclusively white neighborhood.

The city claimed in the test case that already taxed sewerage facilities were inadequate and that the land was needed for a park. Silently throwing out the appeal, the justices let stand federal court rulings that Lackawanna officials must prepare for the project, Kennedy Park Homes.

At the same time, the court split sharply and ruled naturalized American citizens living abroad can lose their citizenship if they don't take up residence in the United States for five years.

The decision, given by freshman Justice Harry A. Blackmun, directly concerned Aldo Mario Bellei, 31, an electronics engineer who was born in Italy and inherited his U.S. citizenship from his mother.

Bellei, who works for NATO in England, has visited the United States five times and registered for the draft but has not complied with a 1952 federal law that he live here for five years at some point between the ages of 14 and 23.

Blackmun said these naturalized citizens, unlike native born Americans living here, can have their citizenship taken away by Congress.

He was supported by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, White, and Harlan.

In a sharp dissent, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said: "Since the court this term has already downgraded citizens receiving public welfare, and citizens having the misfortune to be illegitimate, I suppose today's decision downgrading citizens born outside the United States should have been expected."

Similarly irked, Justice Hugo L. Black recalled that in 1967 the court had held that no American can be deprived of his citizenship without his assent.

"Today, the court overrules that holding," Black said. "This precious 14th Amendment American citizenship should not be blown around by every passing political wind that changes the composition of this court."

Douglas and Marshall signed Black's dissenting opinion and Douglas signed Brennan's.

In another area, the court unanimously upheld the 1968 law that requires federal registration of manufacturers and importers of shotguns and rifles with short barrels, bombs, rockets, grenades and some other destructive devices.

The law was written after the court had invalidated an earlier registration procedure because Washington turned information over to state authorities.

Justice Douglas said no unconstitutional self-incrimination is at issue now since the government apparently keeps the information to itself.

The ruling permits prosecution of Shirley Jean Sutherland, of Beverly Hills, and Donald Freed, of West Los Angeles, for possession of hand grenades. Prosecuting federal authorities said Mrs. Sutherland and Freed planned to give the ten grenades to the Black Panther Party.

In other actions the court:

—Ruled 6 to 2 that banks may not enter the mutual-fund field.

—Rejected 7 to 2 a plea by officials in Netcong, N.J., to permit voluntary reading of prayers from the Congressional Record in public school.

—Ruled 7 to 2 that gamblers convicted before the court's 1968 decision invalidating registration procedures cannot reopen their cases on the basis of the ruling.

—Rejected unanimously an appeal by a group of San Francisco parents who wanted to block the involuntary busing of school children.

Sheik Vows To Defeat Pakistan Army Forces

CHUADANGA, East Pakistan (AP) — Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's independence forces held onto stretches of East Pakistan territory along the border with India Monday, vowing to fight until they defeat the Pakistan army.

The army of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, trying to prevent this province of 75 million persons from seceding and becoming an independent nation, appeared to be in control of the major cities, including Dacca, the provincial capital.

But 11 days after the civil war broke out, numerous border towns such as Chuadanga remained in the hands of the followers of the sheik, leader of the Awami League, who is believed to be in a West Pakistani jail.

Reports received in this command post of the southwestern sector of the sheik's forces said the army was trying hard to regain control over the strategic district city of Jessore, 40 miles to the southeast.

Radio Pakistan continued to say that the army is in full control of the situation in East Pakistan "and is effectively dealing with the armed infiltrators and miscreants who are now isolated."

The Indian government denied again it was permitting any infiltration from its borders. An official spokesman said in New Delhi that an order had been issued to border security forces not to permit any Indians to cross into East Pakistan.

In Chuadanga, 80 miles north of Calcutta, the local "liberation forces" were so confident of victory that they talked about letting West Pakistani soldiers surrender.

Maj. Mohammed Abu Osman, one of the two supreme commanders of East Pakistan's armed forces, proclaimed a policy of harassment and starvation against the West Pakistanis and declared: "If they surrender we will let them go. If not, we will butcher them all."

He claimed the southwest sector, comprising 25 million Bengalis in a half moon in a curve of the Ganges River, was totally liberated except for Khulna and the cantonment of Jessore.

In Agartala, India, a border town, the acting leader of Bangladesh—the name given the rebellious province—told Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neel his forces were trying to acquire arms from anyone who will sell them.

Mijanur Rahman, organizing secretary of the Awami League and the ranking East Pakistani leader still at liberty, said in an interview his representatives were negotiating in London for 100,000 rifles from any friendly country.

"We will buy arms from anyone who will sell them," he declared. "Buy them from Russia if they agree."

He demanded that the United States and other powers clamp an arms embargo on Khan's regime in West Pakistan "for the sake of humanity, justice and civilization."

Rahman vowed the secessionist forces of Bangladesh would wage guerrilla war "until every Yahya Khan soldier has left our soil."

Disclose New Withdrawals

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced Monday another cutback in American military manpower in South Vietnam dropping the number to about 300,000, lowest since late summer 1968.

A further cutback is in prospect.

President Nixon is scheduled to announce Wednesday the next round of troop withdrawals. He has already indicated that he will maintain or speed the present rate of 12,500 men a month.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced a reduction of 4,000 men that dropped the overall troop strength to 301,500 as of last Thursday. Since then, continuing withdrawals have lowered the total to 300,000 or a little below.

The last time that milestone figure was reached was in late August of 1966 in the midst of the fast-paced buildup that hit its peak of 543,400 troops in April 1969.

The current sixth round of U.S. troop withdrawals comes to an end May 1. By that time, the American force here should be down to 284,000 men, and may be even fewer if the present rate is maintained.

Nixon's announcement Wednesday will cover the next phase after May 1, although he has not indicated the time period it will embrace.

His last such announcement on April 20, 1970, covered one year and he ordered a cutback of 180,000 men.

The U.S. Command announcement on the troop question came to the fore as the fighting died down in Indochina.

There was no word of any fresh fighting at Fire Base 6, a South Vietnamese artillery outpost in the region where borders of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam converge.

Heavy fighting has raged at the fire base, 300 miles north of Saigon, for five days and South Vietnamese defenders reported they repulsed another North Vietnamese attack Sunday.

The South Vietnamese command in Saigon claimed 1,817 North Vietnamese have been killed in the five days of combat and list their own losses as 71 killed and 133 wounded.

The Saigon command also reported a sharp engagement Sunday in eastern Cambodia three miles southwest of the town of Snuol. The command said South Vietnamese troops killed 80 enemy soldiers and took casualties of one killed and 25 wounded.

In Laos, the Laotian Defense Ministry said North Vietnamese troops are building up their strength by installing anti-aircraft guns near the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

Urge Neutrality In Viet Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats Monday called on the administration to stay out of this year's elections in South Vietnam and prove U.S. dedication to self-determination.

"We have preached self-determination at least since the time of Woodrow Wilson," said Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

"I think it is time to put that principle into effect and not just talk about it," he declared in a floor speech in which he called the war a "corrosive cancer on the body politic of America."

Introducing a resolution designed to guarantee U.S. neutrality, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., accused the administration of actively working for re-election of President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

The two leaders are up for re-election in October following legislative elections in August.

Stevenson said the U.S. Information Agency in South Vietnam has been promoting the Thieu-Ky regime.

He also said U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was quoted in the South Vietnamese press last fall as saying the United States supports re-election tion of Thieu and Ky.

Although Bunker later denied such a statement, Stevenson said the damage was done.

In a floor speech and at a news conference later, Stevenson accused the administration of seeking to continue the Vietnam conflict as "a proxy war among Asians."

Stevenson's resolution would establish a commission of five House members and five senators to oversee U.S. activities during the election campaign to assure a hands-off policy.

"The intent of this resolution is not to defeat Thieu and Ky, but to neutralize the political advantage which our military involvement affords them," Stevenson said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Stevenson's resolution might do more harm than good.

He said it would be interpreted as a "covert move" to undermine the present government or to maintain it.

In another resolution introduced Monday, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., called for complete withdrawal of all American troops from South Vietnam within 12 months and an exchange of POWs and an accounting for men missing in action.

Aeronautics Board To Meet To Discuss Air Fare Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said Monday it will decide most of the issues in its general investigation of air fares on or about next Monday—when it is expected to approve substantial fare increases.

The Board kept the details secret. But one industry source said it looks for increases of 5 to 7 per cent in most markets.

The CAB gave no indication, either, as to how soon the approved fare changes would take effect.

Last year the U.S. trunk airlines lost $97 million, the local service lines lost $87.9 million, and the all-cargo airlines lost $7.9 million. Heavy losses continued in January: Trans World Airlines, $13 million; United, $10 million; American, $7 million. The Air Transport Association said losses in February and March have been just about as severe.

The Board said it plans to issue decisions by April 12 on major phases of the year-long proceeding: fare levels, rate of return on investment, seating capacity and average loadings, depreciation, aircraft leasing, and deferred taxes.

Later will come separate rulings as to fares shared in jointly by trunk airlines and local service lines, fare construction, and promotional discount fares.

The CAB authorized a 6.35 per cent fare increase Oct. 1, 1969, but after complaints by a group of Western congressmen the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit ruled that the increase was illegal because the CAB didn't give public notice before approving it.

The CAB thus was forced to withdraw the general increase. Instead, the board permitted airlines to increase fares by various amounts on an interim basis in specific markets where higher operating costs were judged to warrant such action, pending the outcome of the general fare investigation.

Energy Supply For All Time

A 21st-century historian writing about our own time might well observe that "never did so many have so little faith in the future."

This is not the first age given to predictions of disaster. All of Christendom believed that the world was going to end in the year 1000. Our modern fears, however, are based not on superstition or numerology but on science—rather, some of the undesirable fruits of science and technology, such as pollution, overpopulation and the possibility of nuclear Armageddon.

But this same historian may also observe that our failure of faith curiously came at a time when mankind stood on the verge of a true Golden Age, and that the most important event of the 20th century, if not of all centuries, was not World Wars I or II or the threat of III but something presaged by a recent announcement out of the New Mexico desert.

Scientists at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory report that they have taken a major step toward developing a controlled fusion or thermonuclear reaction, the same kind of reaction that provides the energy of the sun and, uncontrolled, of the hydrogen bomb.

With a research device called Scyllac, they were able to produce a hot stream of ionized deuterium gas, or plasma. Deuterium, a form of hydrogen, is readily extracted from sea water.

According to project director Dr. Fred Ribe, there is enough potential energy in the world's oceans to supply power at 100 times current world consumption for 10 billion years. Not only that, but a fusion reactor would be virtually pollution-free and would produce no long-lived radioactive wastes.

It may be years before a fusion reactor is perfected and many more before its energy can be harnessed on a large scale.

But an age of unlimited power, and every fantastic thing that can mean to the world's billions, lies in the future—if we can keep the present world together long enough for it to happen.

Communications

To the Editor:

Seven years ago, in 1964, a group of parents of mentally retarded children had a strong desire to do something special for their children and others like them.

As a result of that strong desire, the Jacksonville Area Association for Retarded Children was formed. From JAARC came Pathway School for the Mentally Retarded equipped with a program to provide that "something special" for a group of very special children.

JAARC was incorporated in 1964. It is a not-for-profit organization which supports Pathway School.

Pathway School is not part of School District No. 117 but rather is a private day care center licensed by Children and Family Services to serve a maximum of 45 mentally retarded young people.

Pathway today provides services for 24 mentally retarded and mentally retarded-physically handicapped young people ages three to 24 years who are ineligible for public school special education programs or other special agency services. Pathway does not duplicate or overlap services being provided by public school or other agencies.

Since its beginning in September of 1964 Pathway School has been housed in church facilities. From 1964-1967 Pathway was housed in the Lincoln Avenue Baptist church. As the enrollment increased space available in that particular facility became inadequate.

Thus, in order to meet the needs of more retarded children, Pathway was moved to its present location in the Congregational church at 520 W. College. Two years ago Pathway expanded to include the Annex to the Grace United Methodist church at 400 W. Morgan in order to accommodate older physically handicapped students who could not navigate the many steps at the Congregational church.

Throughout these seven years, Pathway has been primarily supported by a grant-in-aid from the Illinois Department of Mental Health and by the generosity of Community service clubs and private citizens.

Although Pathway is sponsored by JAARC and serves children from seven different counties, it, in a very real sense, belongs to this community. Unfailing community support over the years has enabled Pathway to provide what JAARC considers to be a much needed training program for a group of children with very special needs.

JAARC is now approaching a higher plateau in its planning to expand and improve the services of Pathway.

As a not-for-profit organization, JAARC this winter requested School District No. 117 Board approval of a proposal. The proposal called for District No. 117 to lease JAARC three acres of land on the Red Farm property for a period of 51 years at $1 per year.

District No. 117 voters will be asked to vote upon the proposal during the school election on April 10.

As in the past, JAARC and Pathway School are again dependent upon public support. Passage of the referendum will not raise anyone's taxes but rather will grant District No. 117 permission to lease JAARC three acres of land to be used in the future by JAARC as a building site for a one-level Pathway facility.

Since that group of parents met in 1964 to discuss their common and very real need, much has been added to improve services to the mentally retarded.

Obtaining the lease for three acres of land would be the beginning of the realization of a dream which has existed for seven years—the dream that some day the Jacksonville Area Association for Retarded Children would be able to secure land and to build its own facility to house Pathway School.

Many citizens have been exposed to the Jacksonville Area Association for Retarded Children and-or to Pathway School via program presentations, news releases, or first-hand observations at Pathway.

Each year community service clubs and private individuals lend much financial support to JAARC and consequently to Pathway.

The Jacksonville Area Association takes this opportunity to thank the community for its financial support and many kindnesses to Pathway School and to ask the community for a supporting vote on the aforementioned referendum at the April 10 election.

Sincerely,
Mary Riemann

War does not brutalize man. It creates the setting, the conditions which makes his potential for brutality expressible, possible, permissible and even rewarding.

Time has dulled the recollections of WWII experiences for me—however, the memory of "in combat" pressures, stresses and fears remain clear.

The Vietnam war has become a shameful thing for many Americans because it has been going on for so many years that they are convinced our unmatched technology, our social theories of human behavior—are failing.

High Court Friction Blamed On Internal Stress

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — About 90 years ago Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller decided a good way to keep Supreme Court tempers cool was to have the justices shake hands before they voted.

For all anyone knows, the tradition is still alive in the conference room behind the bench. But there's reason to wonder whether the 36 handshakes aren't an empty gesture.

Out in the open, in their opinions and on the bench, the justices are taking potshots at each other. Those on the losing side of a decision are quick to suggest the winners really don't know how to read the Constitution.

That kind of sniping isn't new. But it seems to be growing more pointed. Attacks on social philosophies, complaints that settled law is being foolishly unsettled and even un-judicial sarcasm have become more common.

Less noticed but equally significant is the increasing division on more secondary matters, such as whether to stay a lower court's ruling while an appeal is readied.

The best explanation for the friction is internal stress within the court as the old liberal majority grudgingly yields to a growing conservative force grouped around Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Secondly, personalities on the court are a factor. Hugo L. Black, the senior justice, never took a judicial defeat easily. At 85, he is taking them with even less ease.

And though Burger has the court going more his way, he too will thunder darkly when on the losing side.

This week Black and William J. Brennan Jr. took their turns in the spotlight. Both spoke against a backdrop of defeat, both with extra drama.

The target of Black's blast was a 6-3 ruling that reversed a Wyoming man's burglary conviction. The majority said police did not have enough evidence to justify the radio bulletin that led to the man's arrest.

Black, who headed up the dissenters, accused the majority of feeding public beliefs that "our court actually enjoys frustrating justice by unnecessarily turning professional criminals loose."

The decision, Black said, was "a gross and wholly indefensible miscarriage of justice."

The attack was clearly intentional. Black put his glasses on and read carefully from his opinion besides ad-libbing during the 15-minute discourse.

Although Brennan said nothing in public, his performance was no less spectacular.

Normally reserved and an accomplished mediator, the liberal justice took the gloves off in a dissent from a 5-4 ruling that the states can deny inheritances to illegitimate children.

"Today's decision," Brennan wrote, "cannot even pretend to be a principled decision."

A 'Must' For Nixon

More Meaningful Pacts With Soviet

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is difficult to describe how very concerned high officials in the Nixon administration are over the present state of relations with the Soviet Union.

There is a real desire here, clearly evident when one talks with any official dealing with the problem, for some sort of relaxation of tensions with Moscow.

President Nixon, like President Eisenhower, in whose objectives Nixon has very great faith, believes that he would secure his place in history if he could achieve any sort of reasonable accommodation.

Equally important, if some working agreement is not achieved, it is difficult to see how the President can solve a host of other problems which plague the country and therefore plague his administration.

Chief among these are a reasonable defense budget to make possible a step up in domestic programs, an end to the draft and real peace in Vietnam and the Middle East.

It is not the attitude of the Russian negotiators at SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks), or on Berlin or the Arab-Israeli war that concerns the White House. The Russians are tough negotiators looking out for Moscow's interests and they fight, as expected, on every point.

The problem is that no arms or nonaggression agreement is worth the paper it is written on unless both countries have the will to enforce it.

There are cases where a means exists for quick, effective action against a violator, as in the accord on Cuba. In that situation, the Soviet Union has made a series of attempts to establish a missile-submarine base at Cienfuegos in violation of the agreement with President Kennedy. But they have been restrained by a combination of almost instant air intelligence and the ability of the United States to react.

In the case of a strategic arms agreement with Russia, it is virtually impossible to devise a sure means for enforcement. We discover advanced strategic missile developments only after the first missile (or prototype) is displayed or put in its silo. This could be dangerously late.

When a Soviet violation is discovered, it is very difficult in the open society of the United States to convince the public that a violation has occurred which is serious enough to risk a new arms race.

Nixon is known to believe that even on such a relatively simple matter as West Berlin, an agreement — no matter how precisely written — can be nullified by Russian and East German bureaucratic harassment. Therefore it could be effective only if the general East Europe-West Europe political situation improved.

In this sense a SALT agreement becomes practical only if there is a mutual U.S.-Soviet accommodation on worldwide differences of such a character that there is no incentive for Moscow to cheat.

For one thing, a Soviet willingness to accommodate on an equal exchange basis would tend to indicate that the current Soviet attitude was indeed one of live and let live.

Without accommodation, the assumption in Washington is that Moscow will make determined repeated attempts to evade any agreement it makes, as it has in Cienfuegos.

Losing Job Can Be

Ego-Shattering Experience

Dear Ann Landers: Unemployment in our area is at a ten-year high. I wonder how many people realize what happens to a family man who is out of work. I can tell you, Ann. It is the most ego-shattering experience in the world.

I have a few suggestions for the wives of these men: Don't greet him at the door with, "Did you find anything today, dear?" If he did, you won't need to ask. He'll tell you. And for heaven's sake don't go around in a ratty kimono and torn hose. This is the time to bring out the white linen tablecloth and the good china. Put flowers on the table and paint the kitchen ceiling a bright yellow. Above all, keep your sense of humor. It can save your life—and his, too.

Laughter in the house can have a magical effect. It says, "This, too, shall pass. Everything will be all right. I have faith in you, and in the future."—A Wife Who Is Living Through It

Dear Wife: You sound like a wonderful gal. Your letter is sure to give a lift to women who share your plight. Confidence is contagious. Good luck and thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 15, our daughter is 13. People are forever complimenting us on how well behaved they are. My husband and I often wonder if they have us mixed up with someone else. At home, our kids are constantly at each other's throats like a couple of jungle cats.

Last night it was worse than usual. They were having a terrific argument and hollering so loud you couldn't hear the rock music. My husband became so irritated he stalked out of the house and went to a movie. I took two tranquilizers and went to bed. At about 10:30 I heard a crash—like breaking glass. I rushed downstairs and there was the girl with blood on her blouse. She had pulled out a handful of her brother's hair. His head was bleeding and he was holding a hockey stick. He had hit her in the mouth.

This morning I was talking to my mother. I told her the kids were driving us nuts. She said all brothers and sisters have disagreements—that it's a normal part of growing up. Is this true? I need your opinion.—Excedrin Headache in Louisville

Dear Head: Disagreements, yes, but your kids are trying to kill each other. The manner in which you and your husband isolate yourselves from the problem is extremely revealing. When things get out of hand, Pa stalks out of the house and hides in a movie. Ma takes a couple of tranquilizers and goes to bed. No evidence of any parental discipline or guidance whatsoever.

Your son and daughter need an adult figure of authority. I suggest counseling. And you and your husband could use some counseling, too. Find someone with four couches, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a senior in college and going with a wonderful young man who is in graduate school. We plan to be married this summer. He wants to give me a ring for my birthday, which is next month. Rod works part time and has very little extra money. His mother has some beautiful jewelry and she wants me to have one of her large diamonds. I don't want a large diamond. I'd rather have a small pearl—something Rod bought himself. My mother says I'm crazy. What do you say?—Simple Stella

Dear S.S.: Since it is Rod you are marrying and not his father, I say you should have a ring he can afford. Hold out for the pearl, girl.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The bobcat, also called wildcat, is a small lynx native to most parts of the United States. The bobcat is a nocturnal predator whose name is derived from its short bobtail. The World Almanac says, "Though a medium-sized member of the cat family, it becomes a fierce fighter when cornered."

Law For Today

Q. I have been taking a variety of prescription drugs for the flu. I get confused at times because the bottle doesn't give the drug's name. Doesn't the law require prescription medicine bottles to be labeled with a name?

A. No, state law does not require this. Ethical considerations prevent the pharmacist from including a drug's name on the label unless directed to do so by the prescribing physician. You could ask your physician to give this authority the next time you have your prescriptions filled. However, the law does require that prescription drug labels have the following information: dispensing agent's name and address; pharmacist's filling date and serial number; prescribing doctor's last name, and directions for use.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

TUESDAY, APRIL 6—Born today, you are not a person who makes quick decisions regarding likes and dislikes. In fact, you are somewhat prone to take overlong to make up your mind about things, often allowing the moment for action to slip by while you ponder whether or not to make a move. Once you do decide how you feel about any given object, situation, or circumstance, however, you are not easily persuaded out of your decision. Conscience—a good and a strong one—is behind this.

Your complex personality calls for many close friends with compassionate understanding for your foibles. An early marriage would not be amiss for one of your needs; a partner who both loved you and understood you and had a permanent place in your life during "off" hours could do much to help you with the self-realization that is to be so important to your success. For unless—or until—you gain full knowledge of yourself, success cannot come.

You possess an artistic temperament of the classic order—given to moments of temper, moments of decline and moments of the highest joy and creativity, you need to learn how you respond to the outside world when in the midst of one or the other of your moods. Learn this and you will know which decisions to make when. The rest is easy.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, April 7
ARIES (March 22-April 20)—The competition is extremely keen today. There is advancement in store for the Aries who handles himself well in the face of it.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Meet business associates on a social level today if you would come to a new understanding of your joint problems.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take the initiative when it comes to old and new projects alike. You should be able to get the help you need if you go about it right.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Appearances may be deceiving—but it is on them that you will be judged first today. See to good grooming without delay.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Don't be hardheaded about new developments on the employment scene. You may find them very much to your liking in the long run.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Don't decide on your own whether or not recent decisions are the right one. You may have to change your mind.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—The happiness of loved ones may well depend upon the speed and accuracy with which you can respond to a challenge today. Be prepared.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—A day for making progress along new lines of endeavor. Inspiration comes from unusual sources this morning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Half-made plans will do you no good when the chips are down. Do what you can to help solidify family feeling of well-being.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—The wise Capricorn will ignore the stray remarks of strangers who cannot understand your aim. Stick to your own plans for gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Others may place matters of the strictest confidence in your safekeeping today. Take care not to disappoint them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Begin now to reform your own character. Once done, you can feel better about being critical of others.

Halt State Land Purchase In Jersey

JERSEYVILLE — A letter from the Board of Supervisors has been sent to the Director of Conservation requesting that the State of Illinois stop buying up land in Jersey County until it is shown that the land is needed by the state. This action was taken, it was stated, in an effort to protect property owners in the southwest part of Jersey County and in the interest of all holders of real estate in Jersey County.

Rumors are to the effect that appraisals are being made of everything from Ferguson Estate along the McAdams Highway west to the Rosedale road line. This includes good residential property and valuable farm acreage.

Clyde Cope, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, reports that copies of the letter have been sent to all government officials who may have a role in such a program.

CHARGE KING AIDE WITH DISRUPTING CHURCH SERVICE

NEW YORK (AP) — Hosea Williams, an aide to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has been arrested in St. Patrick's Cathedral and charged with disrupting Palm Sunday services.

Williams, program director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, led a small band of supporters to the cathedral Sunday, the third anniversary of the assassination of King, who founded the SCLC.

Bishop Joseph Flannelly had led several clerics, including Terrence Cardinal Cooke, in a procession to the back of the huge packed cathedral as the 1 a.m. high mass was beginning when he encountered Williams and ten followers.

"We come to you as Christ came on Palm Sunday," Williams said.

"How can the church continue to preach the gospel of Jesus and continue to have holdings in big companies that oppress people in South Africa?" he continued. "How can the church continue to live a lie?"

As the other demonstrators began to chant, two policemen outside were summoned and Williams was arrested.

Later, released in his own recognizance, Williams said he did not intend to obstruct the religious service, because "we thought they would allow us to participate in that service."

He also vowed to return to St. Patrick's before the week is out to present demands to Cardinal Cooke, including one that the charges against him be dropped.

"I want to the church on behalf of the black and poor. I committed no crime and I will pay no fine," Williams said.

China Sends More Troops Into Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — China has sent another 4,000 to 6,000 troops into Northern Laos in recent months, Pentagon sources report.

The sources estimate Peking's military strength there has risen to between 18,000 and 20,000 men, about double last year's number.

U.S. officials said it appeared the reinforcements were intended mainly to beef up protection for Chinese engineer troops working on a major road project leading from South China's Yunnan Province toward the Mekong River and for defense of the road itself.

Among other things, the Red Chinese were said to have positioned large antiaircraft guns and to have introduced new radar for surveillance and warning.

MINOR ACCIDENT ON EAST CHAMBERS

JACKSONVILLE city police investigated a minor accident at 3:14 p.m. Sunday in the 600 block of East Chambers.

A car driven by Francis P. Doolin of 511 East Chambers backed from his driveway into the side of an auto owned by Rodney Garrison of rural Mason City.

City police listed minor damage to the vehicles. There were no injuries in the mishap.

Girl Asks Veto Of Leash Law In Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — A letter written by a seven year old girl and signed by 18 other children, asking that the Jerseyville City Council not pass the Leash Law, was presented to the city fathers prior to the passage of the ordinance at their meeting Tuesday evening. The letter, speaking in behalf of their pets, was written by Karl Irlinghausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Irlinghausen.

The Leash Law was slated to become effective upon publication and some confusion arose as to the exact date as one news media gave April 1st for enforcement, another April 8th and the third April 15th. This situation was caused by the fact the council was not sure the ordinance would be in the April 1st edition of the Democrat News, the local newspaper.

The time for enforcement has been extended until April 8th in order to give dog owners an opportunity to provide confinement for their animals.

The new ordinance amends a section of a previous ordinance and reads "No person shall cause or permit any dog to run at large on any street, sidewalk or other public place unless the dog is being held securely by a leash of not more than eight feet in length and any dog caught running at large shall be taken up and impounded in the manner provided for impounding dogs running at large, and if such a dog cannot be safely taken up and impounded it may be slain by any police officer or any officer of the City of Jerseyville, wherever found in the City."

CLOTHES CARE TODAY

By RUTH E. HOWARD

Silk comes from the cocoon of the silkworm in long filaments, very thin but very strong. "Cultivated silk" comes from domesticated silkworms. The filaments are fine and even (taffeta, satin, peau de soie, crepe). "Wild, tussah, or raw silk" comes from wild silkworms. These fibers are coarse and non-uniform, dry to the touch, both light and heavy weight. Sometimes they have sheen but usually the color is matte or dull.

"Doupioni silk" is made of filaments from cocoons which have grown together making uneven nubs at irregular intervals (quality shantung, peonette, other shaggy fabrics). "Waste silk" is the tangled mass of silk called noils, taken from the outside of cocoons or from damaged cocoons. Noils are fuzzy and dull, with irregular slubs, somewhat similar to doupioni (less expensive shantungs, spun silk, and rough-textured silks).

Like woollens, silks require labeling. When the fabric is made of silk fiber only, it is labeled "pure silk," "pure silk," "silk," "all silk" or "pure silk." Any metallic weighting, any loading or adulterating material, must be stated and the percentage noted on all labels.

With so much invested in your fashions remember don't take the chance of not looking sharp. MAKE SURE YOUR CLOTHING IS UP TO PAR! It costs more not to keep them looking sharp. HOWARD'S, 121 S. EAST ST., PHONE 245-2215, is open from 7:15 to 5:15 Mon. thru Sat. Free pick-up and delivery too.

Speaking Of Exemptions...

By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK (NEA) — A pall looms over the land; great gray clouds shift endlessly from home to home and there is great wailing and gnashing of teeth and breaking of pencil leads.

The fiscal Judgment Day has come. The Internal Revenue Service is getting its pound of flesh, plus some overlooked fatty tissues. Doom. Depression. Darkness all around. Blah.

At times like this, the world does not especially need people like Alfred Balk. But here he is—a chunky, bespectacled, middle-aged chap with a smile on his face and malice in his heart.

While most Americans are busy opening their checkbooks to the IRS, Balk brings tidings of more fortunate citizens. Listen:

"In New York City, when one gazes on the 77-story Chrysler Building, he is looking at the world's tallest tax exemption."

"This is only a temporary situation, however. When the World Trade Center in lower Manhattan is finished in 1973—it will have 110 stories—the title will pass on to it."

Mr. Balk has just written, obviously, the story of U.S. real estate tax exemptions. It is called, "The Free List: Property Without Taxes," and it has an unhappy ending.

"According to one study, about one-third of the real estate valuation in the United States—$600 billion out of $1.8 trillion—is tax exempt," he said.

Balk's book is a fully documented nationwide study. He reviews the roots of real estate tax exemptions, how they just grew as a result of piecemeal local governmental action and how they have reached a magnitude that is costly both to individual taxpayers and to society as a whole.

The idea for the book, he said, grew out of a magazine piece he did, entitled, "God Is Rich," which revealed that the total exempt real and personal property owned by American churches is valued at $110 billion.

"Some religious organizations have demonstrated that they are not above exploiting their privileged (tax-exempt) position," Balk said. "In Connecticut, the Catholic Archdiocese of Hartford purchased 121.5 acres of vacant land in New Britain for $23,500. The land was then classified as a cemetery — it had one grave on it — and exempted. When the land later had appreciated to $607,000, the body was removed and the land sold! That certainly beats Bingo every Saturday night."

Mr. Balk's book is just chock-full of this sort of information. "Man is just human," he explains. "Let him have what he's entitled to and half the time he'll cheat."

Perhaps "cheat" is the wrong word here. Then again, perhaps not. Balk liked to quote an executive of the National Association of real Estate Boards, who says, "Abuse of the exemption privilege is now running rampant," and Fortune magazine, which said exemptions are "coming to be recognized as a national scandal."

Half of the real estate valuation in Boston and Washington, D.C., 40 percent of that in Harrisburg, Pa., and about one-third in New York City, Pittsburgh and Buffalo are now off the tax rolls.

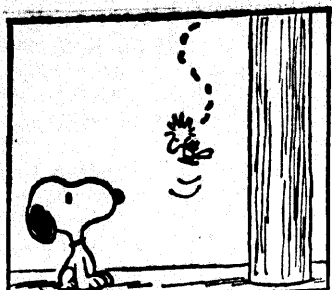

Holiday Inn motels in Alabama, luxury high-rise "retirement homes" in Oregon, the campuses of Northwestern and Denver universities and government defense plants—leased to some of America's largest corporations—also are exempt from real estate taxes.

And so, incidentally, is the Houston Astrodome. Except for $1.

The arena was built by Harris county with proceeds of $31 million in bond issues—and then leased to Roy Hofheinz's Houston Sports Association for 40 years at $750,000 a year, Balk explained. "And although HSA reported 1966 profits of $3 million on a gross of $11 million for stadium operations, the Harris County Commissioners Court, sitting as a Board of Equalization, valued the leasehold at $1—too insignificant to be taxed."

Now, then. Doesn't Alfred Balk make you feel better?

Oswald: "Take a look at the West hand. South has reached three no-trump after the Lawrence Walk bidding sequence of 'a-one, a-two, a-three.'"

Jim: "You have to make a blind lead. You feel if you find the right one you will beat the contract. The general rule is to attack one of the major suits and you hold four cards in each. Which suit should you pick?"

Oswald: "This time the winning lead is the four of hearts. You hit your partner with the ace and wind up with three heart tricks and your two side aces."

Jim: "It is also the best lead from a percentage standpoint. In general you want to play a suit in which you can establish the greatest number of tricks."

Oswald: "You start with one sure trick in spades and no sure tricks in hearts. So you can establish one more trick in hearts than you can in spades."

Jim: "Of course the heart lead won't be the winner every time. It is possible to set up hands where the heart lead will give South his contract and the spade lead will defeat declarer. However, we can assure you that year in and year out the heart lead will work out better."

This time is, of course, an extreme case. If the spade is opened, South will make at least four no-trump and may even limp home with five if the defense lets an ace go to sleep."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

America's Sturdy Staff Of Life
U.S. Bread: A Lot Going For It

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I was surprised recently to have you recommend the purchase of bread as the only satisfactory bakery product on the market today. Yet the enclosed article says the nutritive value of bread and other bakery products is practically nil. What can we do to get better flour? I bake my own bread but am obliged to use the available flour, which is poor. Any ideas?

Dear Reader—I read your enclosure, including the underlined quote from President Nixon's French-born nutrition adviser: "Dr. Jean Mayer thinks that American's white bleached dough products would not even be called bread in his native land. Their food value is almost zero. White flour is preferred by food industry executives because it keeps on the shelf longer than the more nutritious whole wheat bread and because insects avoid it—it doesn't have enough food value to keep them alive."

That is a pretty harsh indictment of our bread and I'd like to say a few good things about it. Most white bread is low in fat and many bakeries now use nonfat milk solids. Many other bakery products contain lard, saturated fats, coconut oil, egg yolks and things that should be restricted in amount in a diet to prevent heart and artery disease. You can also buy bread enriched with butter, egg yolks and items that you should try to avoid.

I have read a lot of comments about how poor American bread is. Well, there are very few food products that provide a balanced diet by themselves. Bread certainly has calories and the enriched white bread is loaded with Vitamin B complex. According to the U.S. Agriculture Department, American white bread has just as many of these elements as that nostalgic "French Bread." Our enriched American white bread has up to twice as much calcium and contains more phosphorus and iron. It also has about the same food value as whole wheat bread. Those, ma'am, are the facts. Some people may prefer the taste of French bread and that is their privilege but facts are facts.

It seems to be popular to knock anything that is American, from bread to wine, but neither need take a back seat.

You should use enriched flour if you do your own baking. And you can increase the calcium by using larger amounts of non-fat dry milk. Calcium is very important to help prevent decalcification of the spine that occurs so often after the menopause.

If you want to be a real health faddist, you might go to a health food store and buy some natural milled flour, just as nature intended it to be, ground husk and all, but it may not contain as many vitamins as your white bread.

I do recommend you make your own rolls and biscuits since most commercial products

CHALLENGE:
Cesar Chavez

25 years of hard labor for $1845:

This year, everybody's introducing a new "Volkswagen-sized" economy car.

So not to be outdone, we've done the same.

Except, of course, we didn't have to start from scratch.

For years, while everybody else has been jumping from model to model and worrying about looks, we've stuck with our original and improved the way it works.

And so today, while ours may not look like the newest economy car, it's the most developed.

It's the only one with a sealed steel bottom. To protect its insides against just about everything outside.

The only one with an air-cooled magnesium-alloy engine. To eliminate boiling over and freezing up.

And the only one with a free electronic diagnostic system. To spot problems early and actually help extend its life.

Best of all, even with all this, our new economy car costs only $1845.

So compared to all the others, even if it doesn't look the newest, maybe now it looks the best.

Value Of Cosmetic Surgery

When Attitude Wins By A Nose

DEAR BETTY: You suggested in a column that getting a nose operation could change a life. Why don't you write about Jesus Christ? Why do people like you waste your time on silly things instead of doing what good you can?—FAITHFUL

DEAR FAITHFUL: Numbered among my readers are Christians, Jews, Mormons and those who are non-religious. The purpose of this column is not to put forth my personal religious views.

Thinking persons in different fields—surgeons, psychiatrists, ministers, rabbis—agree that plastic surgery can enable some of us to lead more satisfactory lives. For example, cosmetic surgery done on criminals having marred or exaggerated features resulted in almost miraculous changes in their attitudes toward themselves and toward society in general.

Cosmetic surgery is not the answer for anyone believing a classic profile insures happiness. It is not a cure-all for emotional problems. But, just as some of us can't see the forest because of the trees, some of us have our potential obscured by our preoccupation with one bad feature.—BETTY

DEAR BETTY: I suppose lots of people write to say they turn to your column the very first thing. I save you until last. I've never written this kind of letter before, but I wanted to thank you for being here after I've read about the war, pollution, murders, taxes and all the other worries of the day. You always give me a lift.—READING READER

DEAR READER: You have just been elected president of the Mutual Aid Society. People like you give me a lift!—BETTY JERSEYVILLE — The wife and son of Pfc. Clarence E. Lemon who was lost at sea in the Atlantic in 1945 have given a protective fence and gravel base around the eternal flame at the Memorial on the courthouse in his memory.

The fence was installed by Adolph Otto and James Isringhausen who volunteered their services.

Mrs. James Isringhausen who spearheaded the drive for the memorial on the courthouse lawn, stated she would like to have the names of servicemen killed while in service so they may be added to the memorial plaque before the May 30 service.

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Olive oil
1/2 pound mozzarella cheese, sliced thin

DEAR POLLY: I painted an old metal wastebasket pink and then glued darling baby gift cards all over it. Our daughter enjoys looking at the cards and I am sure the givers enjoy seeing these cards used as a decoration in baby's room.—EMILY

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. D. C. F.—I have found a practical use for baby cards is to cut out the pictures and make a border on the walls of the nursery down about 10 or 12 inches from the ceiling. Fasten together and to the wall with loops of masking tape made with the sticky side out. As the child grows older these can be removed and the same idea followed with birthday cards that have pictures of animals and other things of interest to children.—Mrs. D.V.A.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. D.C.F. could use her many baby cards to make a collage. Cut the cards at the fold, glue the pictures (and verses if you wish) with white glue, overlapping them at random, to a large piece of white or colored poster board. Leave a margin around the sides. When glue is dry, apply a coat of glossy varnish. Tie a ribbon to each corner and hang in baby's room. If you have cards left over, why not make a collage for a friend who

Need Grows For Home Health Aids In Area

According to records of Morgan County Home Health Aids Visiting Nurses, services for the Home Health Aid has increased steadily since January, reports supervisor Mrs. Bunnetta Deatherage, R.N.

A Home Health Aid receives free instruction during a ten-session schooling, held once each week in the evening. Each class is two hours long. Instruction is given by business and professional people and deals not only with nursing care in the home, but with much information of value to a person assuming responsibility in the home when caring for a dependent person. The majority of persons needing services of a Home Health Aid are those returning to their homes after hospitalization and needing some assistance and also the handicapped.

This is the fourth year Morgan county has been sending Aids into local and rural homes to provide such service. The need for an Aid ranges from as short as one hour to round-the-clock attention. In January 40 different homes received such service, with 32 Aids filling the need; in February 44 homes with 32 Aids; and in the month of March, 54 homes with 36 Aids employed set a record.

Persons needing such service receive information by phoning 245-8921; this number is found in the phone book under the old listing, Homemaking Service, but the service and location is the same, 102 North West street.

Plans are underway for recruiting a new class to take the instruction course, hopefully to get underway in May. There is no set requirement for entry, other than being in good health and of good character. Most persons taking the course, which provides them income on a limited basis, are fully or semi-retired. Persons interested should call the same phone number as listed above. The office is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MINOR GRASS ALARM

Firemen answered a minor grass fire alarm Sunday about 2:45 p.m. at the Sam Osborne residence at 1553 Mound. However, the small fire was out when firemen arrived at the scene.

There was no damage reported.

FIREMEN from Jacksonville and assisted by South Jacksonville battled a blaze more than three hours Sunday evening which destroyed two storage sheds and a good part of a two-story home located just east of the city limits on the Old State Road. The home was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Evans and the house is owned by Jerry McCurley of Bloomington, Ind. Mrs. Evans spotted the flames from the sheds and tried unsuccessfully to put it out. Firemen were called at 5:57 p.m. and the sheds were engulfed in flames. The blaze spread from the sheds to the back porch of the house, then up a wall to the upstairs bedroom. The fire started in a mattress stored in one of the sheds according to firemen. Smoke and water damage resulted throughout the house. When firemen ran out of water, South Jacksonville volunteers sent two trucks. Water was also obtained from a nearby well. Damage was estimated in excess of $4,000. Photo By Ron Cox

Black Mayor To Be Elected In E. St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — East St. Louis elects its first Black mayor Tuesday. Blacks make up about 70 percent of the population of this financially and racially troubled city of 65,000.

The candidates are James E. Williams Sr., an attorney and newcomer to politics, and career politician Virgil Calvert, a city commissioner.

Williams, who earned his law degree in night school while working as a civil service employee, surprised experienced observers by beating out another veteran politician, Charles Merritts Sr., in the primary election.

Merritts is president of the East St. Louis School Board and a well-known businessman. The 49-year-old Williams campaigned on a platform of confidence in government and spelled out a detailed code of ethics for both his campaign and the conduct of his administration once in office.

The campaign note apparently appealed to Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, who stepped into the campaign Saturday with a promise of a state office building for the city if Williams were elected.

He said if Calvert wins, there will be no office building. Ogilvie's message was made public at a Williams campaign rally Saturday night by William Robinson, director of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

Robinson said Ogilvie feels Williams would provide a strong city administration with which the state could work to cure the economic and social ills of East St. Louis.

He said Ogilvie also feels Williams would use wisely the estimated $3.7 million to flow into the city from state and federal sources this year.

Calvert, on the other hand, is regarded as part of "old interests" which have brought East St. Louis to its present plight.

Calvert, 50, was a deputy sheriff for 11 years and served as justice of the peace and police magistrate.

Since 1968, he has been commissioner of public property. He was appointed to both the magistrate and city council posts, running unsuccessfully for magistrate when his appointment term ended.

The Calvert campaign has included proposals for attracting industry and creating new jobs, new housing, correcting the city's deficit-financing situation and reducing crime.

President Hears Problems Of Movie Industry

EL TORO MARINE BASE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon offered a sympathetic ear Monday, but no immediate tax relief or government aid to the Hollywood movie industry, plagued by unemployment, big money losses and foreign productions.

Nixon flew back to Washington after spending an hour and 40 minutes at the Western White House talking with movie industry leaders about what was described as "a whole catalogue of terrors" threatening the industry.

Spokesmen for the President and industry participants said Nixon told them he didn't think there was much chance this year for getting Congress to pass a tax relief bill for the movie industry.

They said Nixon explained that the House Ways and Means Committee was already jammed with tax matters.

The industry's suggestions included a review of the depreciation tax and other tax benefits for the industry.

Allende Wins Firm Mandate In Chilean Election

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Marxist President Salvador Allende's leftist coalition government has won a firm mandate in municipal elections to continue the transformation of Chile into a Socialist state.

In final returns from Sunday's voting, Popular Unity candidates, including Communists and Socialists, received 1,375,063 votes—48.7 per cent of the 2,832,784 total.

The election was the first chance for Chileans to express what they thought of Allende's first five months in office. Candidates competed for city and town council seats in 280 municipalities.

Popular Unity's share of the votes tabulated Monday was a substantial increase over the 36.3 per cent Allende received in a three-way presidential election Sept. 4.

Allende's supporters had conducted a vigorous and expensive campaign, hoping to get close to 50 per cent of the vote as a sign of support for his plans to "open the doors to socialism in Chile."

The three main opposition parties—the Christian Democratic, National and Democratic Radical parties—received 1,343,484 votes or 47.57 per cent. However, they ran separate contests and competed against each other.

Allende, first freely elected Marxist president in the Western Hemisphere, said the voting returns demonstrated that Chile is moving to the left.

But he rejected opposition claims that he will drastically accelerate his administration's programs to make Chile a Socialist country.</

Bombing Cost Study Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed Monday that President Nixon commission a study of "the true costs and effectiveness" of U.S. bombing operations in Southeast Asia.

Despite pressure he anticipates for a stepup in the bombing, Proxmire predicted such a study would indicate the number of U.S. air missions could be cut in half without reducing the effectiveness of the air war.

The bombing, he said, does not appear to have been very successful anyhow against Communist supply routes.

Proxmire, a critic of Vietnam policy and a militant opponent of massive military spending, proposed a joint resolution calling on Nixon to order an impartial and expert study of the bombing.

Proxmire said it should be patterned on the strategic bombing survey ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944, which covered the impact of American bombing in Europe during World War II.

Proxmire said air strikes in Southeast Asia have cost the United States a total of $15 to $20 billion. He said current costs may total $2 to $3 billion a year.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue-chip issues and certain oil stocks rose moderately Monday, but the rest of the market generally showed the same sluggish tone that has characterized recent sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed 2.03 points to 905.07, its biggest change in six sessions. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange narrowly nosed out declines.

Oil issues on the Big Board's most-active list included Natoms, up 8 1/2 at 77 1/2, and Occidental Petroleum, up 1/2 at 20 1/2.

Among the big losers was a glamour issue, Memorex, off 10 1/2 at 65 1/2, the company reported 1970 earnings over the weekend but gave no year-to-date figures.

Mail order-retail and oils were higher. Metals generally were lower.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.10 to 55.68. The Associated Press 60-stock average advanced .5 to 315.8. Industrials were up .5, rails up .2 and utilities up .6.

Of the 1,681 issues traded on the Big Board, 707 rose, and 697 declined. New yearly highs were touched by 152 issues and lows by 15.

Big Board volume rose to 16.04 million shares from 14.52 million shares Friday.

The most-active Big Board issue was Natoms, with a volume of 297,500 shares.

The American Stock Exchange index rose .02 to 26.22. Of the 1,141 issues traded, 466 declined and 434 advanced. Volume declined to 5.15 million shares from 5.37 million shares Friday.

SOYBEAN PRICES DECLINE SHARPLY

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy liquidation hit the major commodity futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

When the session had closed, soybeans were down nearly 4 cents a bushel, wheat was down 2 1/2 cents, corn was 1 1/2 cents lower and oats declined nearly 1 cent.

Soybeans opened 1 cent lower and declined almost steadily to around 4 1/2 cents under the previous close at around noon.

In the corn pit, some commercial selling on the opening was absorbed but thereafter prices weakened with buyers scarce.

At the close, soybeans were 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel lower, May 2.93; wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower, May 1.46; corn was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower, May 1.46; and oats were 1/2 to 3/4 lower, May 70 1/2 cents.

Encyclopedia Salesmen Deserving Of Brass Watch

By Richard Putnam Pratt

The art of salesmanship in America has hit some interesting peaks over the years. Snake oil, underwater lots, and the Brooklyn Bridge have all been landmark cases.

But for sheer longevity, the zeal of the encyclopedia salesman is deserving of the brass watch. Most American homes are knee deep in bulky volumes whose chief function is to anchor a bookcase securely.

No one will deny the educational value of a resource that distills the totality of human knowledge, but there is such a thing as overkill.

We all gave up owning our own cows when we found that milk could be purchased readily. We still buy encyclopedias, however, oblivious to the excess of our bookishness.

The difference is in salesmanship. If the cows were peddled with the verve and imagination lavished on encyclopedias, every two-car garage would harbor at least one bovine.

It might not be so bad if these salesmen would stick to selling. The buyer with no resistance must learn to live with his weakness. Too often, however, encyclopedia buyers have been conned with the sleaziest of tricks:

— The salesmen are almost never salesmen. They are educational consultants, takers of public opinion surveys, or field testers of a new product.

— Encyclopedias are commonly offered at prices seemingly too good to pass up. But then shipping costs, finance charges and the price of 10 years' worth of supplements can boost the overall cost to startling levels.

— Buyers are often promised a sizable rebate for every new customer they can find. Yet experience has shown that such referral schemes most often fail completely, leaving the buyer to pay the full freight.

Rottenest of all is the salesman who takes advantage of ignorance or language difficulties to coerce the poor into buying his books as a guarantee of their children's success in school.

There are several ways to combat such situations.

The first is obvious. Don't let any salesman into your home until you know what he is selling. If it's an encyclopedia and you don't want any, close the door.

If you do want an encyclopedia, consider buying a used set. They age very slowly, and supplements that update them annually are easy to come by. Check the classified ads. Prices are usually realistic, so you can benefit from what was someone else's mistake.

Auto Insurance Reform Plan Outlined

CHICAGO (AP) — A major auto insurer said Monday that Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's plan for insurance reform "should provide buyers in Illinois with adequate insurance protection at reasonable cost."

Burton F. Harris, senior vice president, Continental Casualty Co., said, "We are hopeful that the governor's plan will be speedily adopted."

Ogilvie proposed earlier Monday insurance reform which includes a limited no-fault provision, payment of benefits within 30 days and fixed wage compensation.

The governor said legislation is being prepared to put the plan into effect for all passenger auto insurance in the state.

Major features of the plan are: —Payment of benefits, up to an over-all limit of $15,000 per person, within 30 days regardless of who is at fault.

—Compensation of 85 per cent of wages lost for the first year with a $150-a-week limit.

—Medical, hospital and funeral costs covered up to $2,000 for each person involved.

—Settlement of claims left to insurance companies, with court-administered arbitration disputes involving claims of less than $3,000.

The plan was developed after a seven month study made by the Illinois Department of Insurance. James Baylor, director, said the plan might "stabilize or even reduce the present costs of insurance for Illinois motorists."

Ogilvie said, "It will unquestionably reduce the insupportable volume of court cases—many of which are unnecessary or seek unreasonable damages."

Baylor said, "We estimate that nearly three-quarters of the bodily injury lawsuits now being filed can be eliminated, thus alleviating the court backlog which is most severe and unacceptable in Cook County (Chicago)."

The Circuit Court's law division in Cook County has 32,000 pending cases involving claims of $15,000 or more, some of which have been pending four years or more.

Plan Auto Insurance Reform For Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie Monday proposed a plan to reform the state's auto insurance system. It includes a limited no-fault provision; payment of benefits with 30 days and fixed wage compensation.

The plan was contained in a seven-month study submitted by James Baylor, director of the state department of insurance, who said it could stabilize or even reduce auto insurance costs.

In endorsing the proposal Ogilvie said, "It provides for prompt payment to motorists and pedestrians of vital out-of-pocket costs. It unquestionably will reduce the insupportable volume of court cases—many of which are unnecessary or seek unreasonable damages."

And the governor quoted Baylor as saying the plan might "stabilize or even reduce the present costs of insurance for Illinois motorists."

Ogilvie outlined several provisions of the plan in a statement: —Benefits payable within 30 days to cover expenses of the policy holder, members of his family, persons using the insured auto, passengers and pedestrians injured by the car.

—Benefits payable, within limits, without regard to who caused the accident. Settlement of this issue, he said, is left to the insurance companies. Lawsuits would still be used in major cases.

—An allotment of $2,000 per person for medical, hospital and funeral costs.

—Lost wages will be compensated at a rate of 85 per cent of the loss with a maximum of $150 per week for one year.

—Service costs due to the incapacity of the injured, such as child care, will be paid at a maximum rate of $12 a day for one year.

Under the plan, mandatory coverage will have a limit of $15,000 a person. But Baylor said insurance companies will be required to offer additional optional coverage to individuals.

The additional coverage would start a $50,000 per person or $100,000 per accident. It would extend the limit on medical benefits and increase the time limit on income and service compensation.

The proposal would also limit monetary awards for "pain and suffering" to half of the first $500 of medical expense and the total amount of medical cost thereafter.

The plan also calls for setting up court-administered arbitration of disputes involving less than $3,000. Cases involving larger amounts would be tried under the present system.

"We estimate," Baylor said, "that nearly three-quarters of the bodily injury lawsuits now being filed can be eliminated, thus alleviating the court backlog, which is most severe and unacceptable in Cook County."

Baylor also said the provisions of the plan exceed those called for on a national scale by Transportation Secretary John Volpe.

He said legislation is being prepared to implement the plan.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., APRIL 22, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? Many have learned the hard way that public and private insurance pays only 40% of the nation's total medical care bill. What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in our National Home plan that Pays you $500.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have $500.00 cash coming in every month when you go to the hospital. You get your $500.00-a-month cash—tax-free—as long as you are confined in the hospital. You are covered from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to five-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

Now, this low-cost plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your introductory rate is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then, you may continue at National Home's regular low rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this $500.00-a-month plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Use the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage or rent payments, to replace savings—or any necessary, but costly, expenses not covered by other hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed this low-cost plan that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

We can never cancel your policy!

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you become or how many times you collect from us. Your policy guarantees that we can never cancel your protection for any reason whatsoever. It is Guaranteed Renewable for Life! And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family—this policy (NH10-669)...

PAYS $500.00-A-MONTH CASH for each accident or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $250.00-A-MONTH CASH for the first three months, when you're 65 or over. And a full $500.00-A-MONTH CASH thereafter—even for life. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital.

PAYS $300.00-A-MONTH CASH if a covered child is hospitalized for injury or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the sixth day in the hospital. And the benefits continue for as long as necessary.

PAYS $2,000.00-A-MONTH CASH when both husband and wife (under age 65) are hospitalized at the same time for accidental injury for as long as both remain in the hospital—even for life, if necessary.

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a registered nurse at home if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more.

PAYS up to $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

65 OR OVER? YOU COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE BENEFITS

We have designed this plan as a valuable addition to whatever is paid by Medicare—or health insurance you may have with any other companies. In fact, combined public and private insurance covers only about 57% of the total medical costs for people 65 or over. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. In addition to any benefits you may receive from Medicare, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $250.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $500.00 monthly while hospitalized thereafter...even for life if necessary!

Pays you $300.00-a-month cash whenever any dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, all your unmarried dependent children from age one month through 18 years are covered, too! What's more, any newborn children you have in the future are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost to you. And whenever any of your children go to the hospital, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $300.00-a-month cash, for as long as necessary. Children are covered for accidents from the first day and for sickness from the sixth day.

Pays you tax-free cash Maternity Benefits, too.

With this plan, you can also collect cash at the rate of $500.00 a month for every day you are confined to the hospital for pregnancy, childbirth, or even miscarriage. You get this cash, which is yours to use as you see fit, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Of course, both parents must be enrolled in this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

Pays you $400.00-a-month cash for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Here's a wonderful "get well" benefit of this National Home plan: You collect cash benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month when your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within five days after you come home, following a stay in the hospital of five days or more for which benefits were payable. You are paid for the same number of covered days that you were in the hospital—even up to 12 full months!

Double Cash Accident Benefits.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays you an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $500.00 but $1,000.00 a month. Your spouse receives not $500.00 but $1,000.00 a month. That's $2,000.00 in all, in cash payments to you every month (when under age 65) starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000.00 cash for these accidental losses...

The accidental loss of limbs or eyesight can be terrible. But if such loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot or the sight of an eye—and $2,000.00 for loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

Waiver of premium benefit.

Should you—the policyowner—be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, we will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you may have seen in Reader's Digest, Parents, National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyowners in all 50 states—and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than $1,500,000.00 a month. In addition, our Company has a RECOMMENDED rating from Best's Insurance Reports, one of the foremost insurance authorities in the nation.

Fast, reliable claim service when needed most.

You never really know how good a policy is until you have to make a claim. That's why we think you'll be interested in what some of our National Home members have to say. Their comments—quoted below—are typical of the hundreds of expressions of appreciation we receive from policyowners every week.

"Received your checks totaling $585.98 for injury. I appreciated your kindness and promptness in the claim. It certainly came in handy and I had less worries knowing I had this protection. You certainly paid all the benefits stated in the policy without question." Mrs. ANGELA B. HARDY, Abbeville, Louisiana

"You folks were very prompt in sending the money when my wife went to the hospital for surgery. Thank you so much."

HAROLD DOVENBERG, Zanesville, Ohio

"I was more than satisfied with the way my claim was handled. One couldn't ask for better service and the 'get well soon' message was one of the nicest thoughts on your part. I thank you sincerely."

Why you must act before the date shown on your Enrollment Form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to enroll in this plan? Because this is a guaranteed enrollment offer, we can open the enrollment only during a limited time period—with a firm deadline date for everyone. To provide you with this broad coverage at these rates, we must receive your Enrollment Form during the same period as all the others.

As soon as we receive your Enrollment Form we will rush your policy to you by First Class Mail. When your policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. It is a very short document and you'll be pleasantly surprised to see there is no fine print. Show it, if you wish, to your doctor, lawyer, insurance agent, or some other trusted advisor.

Here are your low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse and any adult dependent. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $2.95
45-49	only $3.40
50-54	only $3.75
55-74	only $4.35
75-79	only $5.00
80-84	only $5.55
85 and over	only $6.65

Only $1.55 more per month covers all your unmarried dependents. Children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost. And then if you wish, just add $1.15 monthly to that, and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too.

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED ABOUT THIS NATIONAL HOME PLAN

- How much will I be paid when I go to the hospital?
You will receive cash at the rate of $500.00 a month ($16.67 a day). When you're 65 or over, you collect (in addition to any Medicare benefits) $250.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $500.00 monthly while you remain continuously hospitalized thereafter. And you collect cash for an accident even if you're in the hospital for only one day. Coverage for illness begins the sixth day—and benefits are paid in full for as long as you're hospitalized...even for life, if necessary.
- Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?
You collect cash at the rate of $300.00 a month whenever any of your children (age 1 month through 18 years) go to the hospital. If Coverage for Children is added to the basic plan, coverage for accidents begins on the first day—sickness on the sixth day. And if you have a growing family—as soon as any newborn child is one month old, he, too, is covered—automatically...at no additional cost.
- When do I start to collect hospital benefits?
This new plan (NH10-669) covers you from the very first day for accidents and from the sixth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to five-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.
- Will you pay me cash benefits for pregnancy?
Yes, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. You collect cash at the rate of $500.00 a month for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage on the sixth day of hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)
- Suppose I'm hospitalized for a long time and can't meet my premium payments?
If you—the policyowner—are hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. You aren't expected to pay back, either.
- How will we know what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?
Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; confinements within a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.
- What are the requirements to enroll in this National Home plan?
You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to qualify during this Enrollment Period—you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Enrollment Form.
- Besides saving money—are there any other advantages to joining this plan during this Enrollment Period?
Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just the brief Enrollment Form in the corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- How do I enroll?
Fill out the brief Enrollment Form and mail it with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: National Home, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481.

We will send your National Home policy by mail. Examine it carefully in the privacy of your own home. Show it, if you wish, to your own insurance agent, doctor, lawyer or other trusted advisor. PICKING UP LOOSE ENDS

More odds and ends today:
SAY WHAT you want about baseball, there is always that certain excitement about a new season getting underway. Sure, it's a long season and the game often drags, but the beginning of a new year signals new hopes for your favorite, new names to learn and the batting averages and pitching records to follow. One of the secrets of the success of our National Pastime has to be the almost daily ups and downs of the hard baseball fan. Although it may often seem otherwise, no other sport plays virtually every day, and if your spirits are down because your club lost today, there is another game the next day.

PREDICTION DEPARTMENT: The first time Los Angeles plays in Busch Stadium Richie Allen will receive a standing ovation. It won't, however, equal the three-minute ovation the one-time problem boy got in his St. Louis debut last year. That is still one of the most spine-tingling moments we have ever seen in sports. We didn't read it anywhere, but we were left wondering about the reception Curt Flood and Denny McLain got in Washington in the opener Monday. If Washington has fans like those in St. Louis, they will take Flood and McLain to heart until they prove themselves undeserving. That's another good thing about baseball. The player who was soundly booed while wearing the grays, is usually cheered in the whites.

WHILE IN THE prediction business, how many of these improbables would you believe? Dal Maxvill is hitting .380 at the all-star break but is then traded to Kansas City for 5-4 Fred Patek for defensive purposes. Ed Aring is last-minute replacement on New York Nationals and throws one in from 70 feet at the buzzer to beat Harlem Globetrotters tonight, and your scribe remembers, this time to mention the shot in game story. Intra-city Chicago trade sends Leo Durocher and Vince Lloyd to White Sox for Harry Caray and Chuck Tanner. This writer gets hooked on hockey and doesn't get the free food and drink bit in Busch Stadium until after NHL playoffs are finished, sometime about World Series time. Jim Woods is voted baseball broadcaster of the year in major leagues. Ambuc's Slo-Pitch Softball team reverses 0-12 mark of year ago and finishes YMCA league unbeaten after change of managers. Denny McLain throws ice water on Ted Williams and isn't heard of until after World Series. Entire University of Illinois basketball team is drafted by Boston Celtics. Muhammed Ali defeats Joe Frazier and, true to his word, hangs up the gloves. Major Leagues go to 12, two-team leagues to provide more pennant races and Cubs again fade in September and come in second. This writer gets all his pre-season baseball picks right on the nose. Ernie Banks wants to play just one game a day instead of three.

THERE HAS apparently been some confusion over the ticket situation on tonight's appearance here by the Harlem Globetrotters. A check with Exchange Club project chairman Chick Henske Monday evening reveals that absolutely all tickets for the game are sold, and no sale of standing room tickets at the door is planned. Approximately 400 extra chairs have been put up around the bottom and top of the Jacksonville High school Bowl, assuring a crowd in the neighborhood of 3,000 to witness the first appearance here by the Globetrotters in several years. MacMURRAY College graduates Glen Stinson and Mark Thomas have taken somewhat different directions in their pursuit of professional baseball careers. Both were signed by the Chicago Cubs a year ago and spent last summer at Fargo, N.D. This season Stinson, an outfielder, is expected to spend the summer with the Cubs' Quincy, Ill., farm club in the Midwest League. Thomas, a pitcher, is currently serving in the active Army Reserve and is expected to be placed in the Instructional League in August, according to MacMurray baseball coach Dave Berst.

CONSIDERABLE WORK was accomplished Sunday on the new Pony League Baseball Park on Lake Mauvasterre, but at least another Sunday of work by the heavy equipment to move dirt and level the area will be required, according to President Gale Waltrip. After that work sessions each late afternoon will be the order. Volunteers will be needed to assist in the construction, with the cost of the park itself expected to exceed $20,000. The Pony League people hope to have the facility open in some six weeks, and hope to host various softball and baseball tournaments later in the summer, with concession profits to go toward paying off the park. It should be a most welcome addition to the local sports scene when finished.

WE WERE MOST disappointed and amazed at the lack of attendance during the National YMCA Basketball Tournament held at the JHS Bowl Friday and Saturday. It appeared that there was never more than 100 people in attendance at any one time, according to our count, and that is almost unbelievable. There was some good, interesting basketball, most of it the popular racehorse variety, throughout the 11 games played, and the many local and area cage fans would surely have enjoyed it. MacMURRAY's Bill Wall was interviewed for some 8-10 minutes by announcer Ray Scott during halftime of Saturday's televised East-West College All-Star game from Dayton.

AMERICAN LEGION baseball, for 17-18-year-olds, will be returning to the Jacksonville sports scene this summer after an absence of several years. The local American Legion Post 279 will again sponsor a team, to be managed by Eldon Owdom and coached by Jack Robinson. Players from Jacksonville and the surrounding area where Legion ball is not available will be eligible to try out for the club, with application and tryout information to be released in the near future. Although the schedule is not set, the team is expected to play approximately 20 regular season games, and will host the District 20 Legion Tournament later in the summer. The team will play its games on Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons. This is another welcome addition, with Colt League and high school grads now able to continue playing baseball for the first time in several years.

MICK DEFRATES, nephew of Wilbur DeFrates of Jacksonville, is one of the team members providing the opposition for the Harlem Globetrotters here this evening. The Michigan native is playing his first season for the New York club. THE WLDs women's bowling team recently hauled down some $600 for an eighth place finish in the 42nd An-

Globetrotters Show On Tap Here Tonight

Basketball can be fun. In fact, the sport can be downright hilarious!

If anybody wants proof, they can find it in abundance at the JHS Bowl tonight when the fabled Harlem Globetrotters present their family entertainment package.

This will be a king-sized Globetrotter program. The famed ambassadors in short pants will meet the New York Nationals in the main event, backed by their top-notch variety entertainers in the pregame and halftime shows.

The program starts at 7:30 p.m. and runs about two-and-a-half hours.

The "Magicians of Basketball," who have brought joy and laughter to some 65,000,000 fans in 87 countries around the world over the past 44 years, have added new stars and a number of new gags to their repertoire of amusing antics.

"With their great ability to ad lib and adapt to local situations, I have to admit that many times they even surprise me," explains George Gillett, the team's general manager and one of the club's best fans.

"Of course, some of the regular skills, which our fans have come to expect over the years, are still part of our program but don't be surprised if our players add a few new wrinkles to these," warned Gillett.

The 1969-70 season was the best in the 44-year history of the Trotters but they've set their sights on even greater horizons this campaign. They are now featured in a new animated cartoon series appearing every Saturday morning on CBS-TV, and club officials predict an even greater popularity for the merry men of mirth.

The tentative list of Globetrotter players scheduled to appear here Tuesday includes:

Howard Smith, 6-3, 187-pound graduate of Morehead College in Kentucky. Smith was All-American selection at Morehead, joining Globetrotters for the 1967-68 season. Served year in Army, averaging 26-points per game for the 7th Division League in Korea, and rejoined team in 1970.

Theodore Ray Lee, 6-8, 225-pound graduate of University of Houston. During Lee's career at Carroll High school in Monroe, La., guided team to three straight wins over Rayville High school, whose star was Elvin Hayes, who later made All-American at Houston. Hayes and Lee teamed to hand Lew Alcindor and UCLA one of its only two defeats in three years of domination of college basketball.

Mel Davis (player-coach), 6-5, 205-pound graduate of Tennessee A&I of Nashville. Davis was All-City while prepping at Chicago Dunbar High school, and played four years at Tennessee A&I. Joined Globetrotters in 1962.

Bob "Showboat" Hall, 6-2, 190-pound grad of Miller High school in Detroit. Joined Globetrotters in 1949, succeeding Goose Tatum as top clown when Tatum and Trotters parted company in 1955. Acknowledged as master magician of basketball.

Joe Cunningham, 6-6, 200-pounder from Winston-Salem College, N.C. Joined Globetrotters in 1967 and specializes in soft outside shot.

Dallas Thornton, 6-5, 207-pounder from Kentucky Wesleyan. Learned tricky routines in high school through ball handling exercise his coach called the "Globetrotter Drill." Join the team in 1969.

Walter Robertson, 5-11, 185-pounder from Chicago Loyola U. MVP at Loyola in 1969 and 1970, playing in both NIT and NCAA finals. Finished college career with 24.2 scoring average, joining team in 1970 and becoming teammate of brother Pablo.

Jerry Venable, 6-6, 210-pounder from Kansas State U. Had distinguished career in both high school and college, scoring 64 points in one prep game and 45 in a college outing. Playing second year with Trotters.

Hubert Ausbie, 6-5, 182-pounder from Philander Smith College in Little Rock. All-around athlete, who ran 100 in :09.8, third in nation in scoring as college senior. Veteran of ten years with Trotters.

Pablo Robertson, 5-7, 180-pounder from Chicago Loyola U. Pablo is dribbling specialist and has developed into court comedian since joining club in 1967.

Former Major League Pitcher Carl Mays Dies

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Carl Mays, the New York Yankees pitcher who threw the pitch that hit and killed Cleveland batter Ray Chapman in 1920 is dead. He was 79 years old.

Mays, the winner of 206 games as a hurler for four major league clubs and later a scout for 20 years, died Sunday in suburban El Cajon Valley Hospital. He had been suffering from pneumonia the past few weeks.

The submarine pitcher shook off the effects of Chapman's death to finish the 1920 season with 26 victories. He steadfastly maintained that Chapman lunged out of the batter's box when he was hit.

The following year Mays posted a 27-9 record, his career high, and from then on started a slow decline.

In 1924 he was traded to the Cincinnati Reds, that year winning 20 against 9 losses. He was 19-12 with the Reds in 1926.

Prior to joining the Yankees he won both games of a doubleheader against Philadelphia to clinch the pennant for Boston in 1918.

Remainder Of Clubs Open Play Tuesday

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Minnesota Twins, divisional champions wiped out in playoffs last year, begin the 1971 baseball season Tuesday with all their hopes tied to the strength of their pitching staffs.

And no one knows it more than the two managers—Denny Murtaugh, whose Pirates finished first in National League East and then lost to Cincinnati in the playoffs, and Bill Rigney of the Twins, who won in American League West before bowing to Baltimore in the playoffs.

The Pirates seemed to have strengthened their pitching with the addition in off-season trades of Nelson Briles from St. Louis and Bob Johnson from Kansas City. The Twins, however, may just be on the other side of the ledger.

Briles and Johnson add depth to a holdover quartet of starters that lists Dock Ellis, Luke Walker, Steve Blass and Bob Moose. While not one posted as many victories as Minnesota's Jim Perry, the Pirates' pitching staff would seem to be in better shape than the Twins'.

Rigney released two potential starters last week in Luis Tiant and Dave Boswell after acceding to Bill Zepp's demands to be traded and dealing him to Detroit. That left a staff led by the 24-game winning Perry, Bert Blyleven and Tom Hall.

Both Ellis, who pitched one of four no-hitters in the majors last year, and Perry, the Cy Young Award winner in the AL, get the starting assignments Tuesday. Ellis will go against Philadelphia's Chris Short at Pittsburgh while Perry opposes Milwaukee's Marty Pattin at Minnesota.

In other AL openers, New York is at Boston, Cleveland at Detroit and Kansas City at California. The other NL curtainraisers are Montreal at New York, St. Louis at Chicago and San Francisco at San Diego. Los Angeles and Houston, who opened Monday night, also go at it again.

The last two teams to see action begin play Wednesday, the champion Baltimore Orioles taking on Washington at home and the Chicago White Sox getting under way with a doubleheader at Oakland.

Cubs And Cards Open Play This Afternoon

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, stung by September fadeouts the past two seasons, launch another bid for the National League East title against the St. Louis Cardinals in a 1971 baseball opener Monday.

With forecast of partly sunny and warmer weather, a near capacity Wrigley Field crowd of 35,000 was expected.

The Cardinals sent their Cy Young award winner, Bob Gibson (23-7), against Chicago pitching ace, Fergie Jenkins (22-16), a 20-game victor in the past four seasons.

For the first time in 18 seasons, venerable first baseman Ernie Banks will miss a Cub opener. Banks, 40, hobbled by arthritic knees, is on the disabled list until April 21.

Although another mainstay, catcher Randy Hundley, also has been sidelined with an ailing knee this spring, the Cubs won 9 of their last 10 exhibition starts.

They finished the spring campaign with 17-10, second only in the entire NL to the Pittsburgh Pirates (18-7), who last season won the NL East crown by five games over the runner-up Cubs.

In 1969, Manager Leo Duro-cher's Cubs led their division most of the season, but collapsed in September to finish eight games behind the champion New York Mets.

"We've had a nice peak in the last part of spring," said Durocher, 64, starting his sixth Cub season. "I think we have a good team and we're ready to get the season underway."

Jim Hickman, a surprising .315 hitter last season, moves in from the outfield to replace Banks in an infield formidable with Ron Santo at third, Don Kessinger at shortstop and Glenn Beckert at second.

Durocher's outfield also is solid with Billy Williams, the Cubs' first $100,000 player, in left; Joe Pepitone in center, and Johnny Callison in right.

The Cardinals, who finished fourth in the NL East last season, try this season without controversial Richie Allen, traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers, and pitcher Nelson Briles, swapped for sharp-hitting outfielder Matty Alou of the Pirates.

The Cards have youth and speed, but a heavy pitching load falls on Gibson and Steve Carlton.

Senators Capture Rare Opener, 8-0

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Bosman pitched a six-hit shutout as the Washington Senators crushed Oakland 8-0 Monday and won the ceremonial American League baseball opener for the first time since 1962.

President Nixon missed the victory as M. Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer, a former Vietnam prisoner of war, was chosen by the White House to throw out the first ball.

Six walks, a pair of crucial errors, and a hit batter helped the Senators to all their runs in the first five innings. They scored twice in the second without a hit and twice again in the fourth on just one hit, a bunt single.

Frank Howard and Mike Epstein each drove in two Senators' runs while Howard saved Bosman's shutout with a leaping catch at the left field fence that robbed Felipe Alou of a homer in the third inning.

47 Records Are Broken In NHL Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-seven records were set during the National Hockey League's regular season, 35 by the Boston Bruins—the big one being Phil Esposito's 76 goals.

Esposito also collected 76 assists for a record 152 points, according to the NHL statistics released Monday.

The runner-up in the scoring race was Boston's Bobby Orr who set records for defenseman of 37 goals and 139 points and a league record of 102 assists.

The other Bruins ranked third and fourth—Johnny Bucyk with 116 points and Ken Hodge with 105—and Bobby Hull of Chicago was fifth with 98 points.

New York Ranger goalies Ed Giacomin and Gilles Villemure won the Vezina Trophy with a goals-against average of 2.26.

Errors Let Braves Clip Cincy, 7-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Felix Millan opened the eighth inning with a triple and scored the tie-breaking run on Woody Woodward's throwing error as the Atlanta Braves tripped the Cincinnati Reds 7-4 Monday in the 1971 National League baseball opener.

A chilled Riverfront Stadium crowd of 51,702 saw the Braves capitalize on six errors, including three by third baseman Woodward.

Theismann Signs With Argonauts

TORONTO (AP) — Joe Theismann stunned the Toronto Argonauts by signing a two-year contract with the Canadian Football League team after it had all but given up hope of landing the Notre Dame star quarterback.

"We were surprised and delighted," John Bassett, chairman of the Argos' board said after Sunday's signing. The agreement was announced Monday. No terms were disclosed.

Theismann, runner-up to Stanford's Jim Plunkett in the Heisman Trophy balloting as most valuable college player last season, was reported to have agreed to terms with the Miami Dolphins early last month.

Argo Coach Leo Cahill had been negotiating with Theismann to join the Toronto team but gave up after the reported deal with Miami, which had picked him fourth in the National Football League draft in February.

But Bassett said Monday that Theismann's March 8 visit to Miami had resulted only in an agreement on terms. The Dolphins later sent Theismann a contract to sign but the quarterback apparently found it did not completely coincide with the terms he thought he had won.

"This gave him pause for reflection," said Bassett, which led to his coming back for another talk with the Argos.

"I think he's particularly suited to the Canadian game. He's a good runner and a great passer, but I think it will still take him a season or two to develop to his full potential."

As a senior, Theismann led the Irish to 21 victories, winding up with an upset over top-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl. He completed 155 of 283 pass attempts for 2,429 yards.

At 6-foot and 170 pounds, he was considered small for the NFL, which accounted for his not being picked until the fourth round by the Dolphins who, in fact, were reported considering the college player as a prospective defensive back.

Miami was apparently equally surprised by Theismann's decision. "We reached full agreement with Joe Theismann concerning the financial terms and length of his contract when he was in Miami," said Joe Robbie, general managing partner for the Dolphins.

"We have never discussed or changed the amount of his salary or bonus or the length of his contract..." He said Theismann "asked that the formal signing be held up until he could review the technical language of the contract..."

Robbie added that the Dolphins had agreed to some technical language revisions in the pact, "told Coach (Don) Shula last Thursday or Friday that we were in complete agreement and that he would mail the contract back to us immediately. We have an agreement with Joe Theismann which we expect him to honor."

Roman Summer Breaks Leg But Still Wins Race

BOSTON (AP) — Roman Summer broke his left front ankle 70 yards from the wire but kept going on three legs to win the feature race at Suffolk Downs Monday in one of the most courageous performances in New England thoroughbred racing history.

Trainer Vinnie Blengs said the ankle was completely shattered, and he didn't think the 3-year-old colt could be saved.

Roman Summer, a 1-2 favorite, was leading the field by six lengths in the $3,800 Brookline Purse when he took a bad step and snapped the ankle. Jockey Bob Casey did all he could to control his mount as they finished three lengths in front.

The time for the six furlongs was 1:12, and Roman Summer Kate, the longest shot on the board at nearly 64-1, finished second and returned $20.20 and second and returned $2.20 and $7.20. Living Color came in third and paid $2.60 to show.

My First Deal, which finished seventh, was unable to avoid the crippled Roman Summer after they crossed the finish line and slammed into him, upsetting jockey Greg McCarron. Both Casey and McCarron escaped injury.

Southern Drops MacMurray Twice

CARBONDALE — Southern Illinois University handed MacMurray a pair of defeats, 10-0 and 8-1 in a Sunday afternoon twinbill.

Southern, coached by former Jacksonville High and MacMurray College mentor, breezed to victory in the opener with Dave Martin scattering seven singles and Springfield Griffin graduate Bob Blakey slamming a pair of home runs good for five runs driven across.

Eight MacMurray fielding miscues and five SIU stolen bases played a major role in the nightcap, as a pair of Clan hurlers limited the winners to six hits.

The Highlanders' lone tally of the day crossed in the sixth frame when Scott Murphy doubled, Curt Grote and Rich Tucker walked and Dain Meyer singled.

Southern now stands 12-4 while MacMurray drops to 4-7 on the season.

Number Of Fish Stocked By IDC May Be Boosted

SPRINGFIELD — The number of fish stocked by the Illinois Department of Conservation in Illinois waters may be greatly increased this year.

A five-year research study by Ray Fisher, Fairfield, fishery biologist for the division of fisheries, shows that a higher rate of stocking will produce better fishing.

"In the past we stocked largemouth bass and bluegill at a rate of 100 each per surface acre of water," said Al Lopinot, chief fisheries biologist. "However, we have found that insufficient fish management by the owners of lakes and ponds results in poor fishing within a few years following the initial harvest of fish."

Poor fishing results as the fish multiply and begin crowding the lake, Lopinot said. Fishery biologists have found that stocking 100 largemouth bass and 1,000 to 1,500 bluegill per surface acre of water will result in much better fishing during the first few years, with or without proper fish management. With proper management, good fishing will be possible indefinitely.

"The problem is that no matter how many fish we stock in the ponds, the fishing will become poor if the water area is not properly managed," Lopinot said. "Another problem is whether our fish hatcheries can keep up with the demand if we offer this increase in fish."

Buffalo Inks 7-0 Smith

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association signed their No. 1 draft choice, 7-foot 250-pound Elmore Smith Monday but disclosed little of the contract terms.

Braves' owner Paul L. Snyder said the payments to the Kentucky State star will be spread over "approximately a 20-year period."

But Snyder declined to say how long Smith is obligated to play for the Braves, except that it is a multiyear pact.

Smith also was tight-lipped about the contract terms.

Asked if it were true that he had turned down a $2.2-million offer from the Carolina Cougars, which picked him in the American Basketball Association draft, Smith said, "Yes."

"Why did you decide to sign with the Braves in the NBA?" he was asked.

"I think it's a better league," Smith said.

Sam Snead was the last repeater in the PGA golf championship when the Slammer won the title a third time in 1951. Jack Nicklaus almost repeated in 1964 when he tied for second after winning in 1963.

ROD LAVER shows the form that has made him the top-ranked tennis player in the world and, if the $100,000 he received recently for winning the Tennis Champions Classic in New York is any indication, the richest as well.

Frazier's Hometown About Same

BEAUFORT, S.C. (AP)—The heavyweight boxing champion of the world watched the steady rain fall over his hometown and said, "It really hasn't changed too much here and I know some damn people ain't never gonna change."

Joe Frazier, dressed in a beige knit suit and multicolored boots, stretched out in a motel room chair, and said of his homecoming to this South Carolina coastal city, "I got a mommy down here. I came back because Mom is here. Might not come back if she wasn't here."

Frazier, who has a beard sprouting, said that while back home he would try to buy some land where he could build his mother the new home she needed and "try to get some rest, which I'm not getting."

He met with newsmen during the day to talk of singing and fighting and of "how all kinds of people work to build America and now you can't sit down and enjoy it."

The man who four weeks ago won a unanimous decision over Muhammad Ali to cement his claim as heavyweight champion, spoke sometimes hesitantly "of the craziness where too many people worry about who is going to live next door to them or what kind of big car they are going to drive."

"There's just no time for this craziness," he said. "Life is too short. You gonna walk out one day and your legs gonna collapse and that's it for you. When it happens to me I just wanna say I lived a happy life and I wasn't hurting nobody."

Frazier plans to stay in Beaufort until Saturday, then begin work with his musical group "The Knockouts," getting new material together and "getting the voice in shape for singing."

LA, Bulls Square Off In Decider

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"These teams are so evenly matched that the home court has become decisive every time," declares Los Angeles Laker Coach Joe Mullaney of his club's National Basketball Association playoff against Chicago's Bulls.

So who has the home court in the seventh and final game of their Western semifinal playoff. The Lakers do, playing at the Forum on Tuesday night.

Their series stands 3-3, each team winning all its games at home, and waiting in the wings are the Milwaukee Bucks who downed San Francisco 3-1, winning the deciding game by 50 points.

A league decision, made about the time of the All-Star game, could prove a major factor in the outcome of this playoff. The NBA office had to decide which club would get the home court advantage four times in a full best-of-seven series, either the divisional champions or the clubs with the best overall record.

Divisional champions won out. So Los Angeles, champions on the West Coast, host the four while Chicago, runners-up to Milwaukee in the Midwest, had three. Over the league season, the Lakers won 48 games and Chicago 51.

"I don't know what it is and I can't explain it," said Laker Keith Erickson, "but we're a

Art Modell Back Before Grand Jury

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns' owner Art Modell returned to testify Monday before a federal grand jury here investigating operations of the National Football League.

The jury is expected to conduct regular business Tuesday and Wednesday and resume its NFL probe Thursday.

He indicated Monday that he would be permitted to make comments of his own before the jury, which is probing possible antitrust activities in the NFL.

After his initial appearance before the jury, Modell said there "definitely was no blacklisting in pro football or the Cleveland organization."

The investigation started last November under the direction of the Cleveland district office of the antitrust division of the U.S. Justice Department. The probe followed complaints by some former NFL players that they had been blacklisted from the league.

George Owen, former director of player relations for the New Orleans Saints, testified Monday morning. He said he did not know of anyone who had been blacklisted.

different team at home."

After the Lakers won the fifth game 115-89, the Bulls came back in Chicago to take a 113-99 victory and force the playoff into the full seven games.

In Los Angeles, the Lakers held the Bulls' ace scorer Bob Love to five points in the second half, but in Chicago, it was the Bulls' who limited the Lakers' top shooter of the series, Gail Goodrich, to six in the final two quarters after the left-hander had hit for 19 in the opening half.

Bob Weiss and Jerry Sloan led the Bulls' rally in the second half of that sixth game. Coach Dick Motta of the Bulls sees that NBA playoff decision as most important, saying, "It wasn't until February that the ruling was made. I wanted a clarification, and, to my regret, I got one."

GAMES WEATHERED OUT
Monday's inclement weather forced the postponement of a pair of baseball games involving local squads. Routt High was weathered out of its third game to date when the Rockets home tilt against Perry was wiped out. The PMSC battle, will be rescheduled later. Illinois College's game at Principia, the Blueboys' season opener, was also called off and rescheduled as part of a twinbill here April 15.

The first PGA championship was held at Swanoy, Bronxville, N.Y., in 1916. Long Jim Barnes won it at age 30.

Flyers Move Up But May Move Out

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Flyers, finishing the regular National Hockey League season with a rush, may bow out of Stanley Cup play in a hurry, too.

In grabbing third place from the Minnesota North Stars, Philadelphia must open west division Cup play here Wednesday night against the champion Chicago Black Hawks, who cuffed the Flyers for a 4-1-1 record in regular play.

In fact, the Flyers have failed to win in the Chicago Stadium in four seasons of trying.

The Black Hawks get another crack at the Flyers in Thursday night's second game before the best-of-7 series moves to Philadelphia for the third and fourth games Saturday and Sunday.

With the Black Hawks coming off their winningest NHL campaign in history (49-20), Coach Billy Reay had bad news for the Flyers.

"We're in as good shape going into a Stanley Cup playoff as any club I've had," said Reay. "We were in good physical shape last year, but we've got more experience this time."

Actually, the Hawks, who this season shifted from the east to west division because of NHL expansion, could be sounder physically.

Only healthy first-line goalie is Tony Esposito, who may have to do an iron man chore as long as the Hawks are in the marathon Cup competition.

Reay has brought in three backup goalies since Gerry Desjardins was injured several weeks ago. Rookie Ken Brown will be the spare netminder for the first few series games, at least.

However, goalie Jim Shaw of Dallas probably will be brought up this week, with Dallas now trailing Omaha, 3-1, in the Central League playoffs.

Also, the Hawks' Jim Pappin and Keith Magnuson are playing with bad knees.

Reay wasn't surprised that Minnesota, whom the Hawks expected to face in the opening series, wound up fourth behind Philadelphia for a Cup matchup with the second-place St. Louis Blues.

"The North Stars had an awfully tough schedule in the last few weeks," said Reay. "They had only two of their last six games at home and lost one of those key home games to Vancouver 2-1."

NAACP Planning Picket Of Buc's Opener Tuesday

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The local NAACP chapter said Monday it will picket the Pittsburgh Pirates' season opener Tuesday and asked black Pirate players not to cross it.

The target of the threatened picketing is the Iron City brewery which the NAACP contends has only 26 black employees among 670.

Earlier, employees of Duquesne Brewery also said they would picket the game between the Pirates and Philadelphia unless Duquesne beer also is sold in the stadium as it was last year.

Concession officials at the stadium said they will sell only Iron City beer this season.

CARDS DROP BERTAINA

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals Monday sent pitcher Frank Bertaina to their Tulsa farm club and added southpaw Fred Norman to their 25-man roster.

Norman was claimed on waivers from Los Angeles last fall. He had a 1-3 record and .245 earned run average in seven games at spring training.

Enthusiasm With Realism: Blackman

"Combine your enthusiasm with realism," Blackman has made it clear that Wells must improve his pass completion percentage (.418) and show more quickness to run the option. Steve Livas, a starter two years ago, has returned to the squad and will join Tom McCartney (6-2, 188) who guided the frosh to their 3-0 record in the three-way fight for starting honors.

Robinson, the team's leading rusher last year with 749 yards, including a 183-yard performance against Ohio State, and Navarro will be pushed by two sophomores — John Wilson (6-2, 200) and Ed Jenkins (6-0, 182). These two showed great speed and ability for the frosh last year. Wilson averaged 6.3 yards per carry and Jenkins posted a 4.3 mark in two games.

"Just how quickly Wilson and Jenkins mature as running backs will be a big factor next year," Blackman has said.

Over on defense, Blackman feels more secure with starters at almost every position. The Illinois will be in a 4-4 alignment instead of the 5-3 front they have shown for years.

Bob Bucklin (6-1, 233), a two-year letterman and second team Academic All-American last fall, will move to defensive end from middle guard. He joins two-year letterman Glen Collier (6-2, 202), Tab Bennett (6-2, 239) a sophomore standout when healthy in 1970, and Norm Cooper (6-1, 250) are likely starters, but returns Dan Rotzoll (6-5, 232) and Jim Welsh (6-1, 229), George Samojedny (6-2, 230) will push end or tackle.

The lack of depth at linebacker has Blackman concerned. Larry Allen (6-2, 216) has all the tools but played only 82 minutes as a sophomore because of ankle problems. Moe Kelly, two year letterman, is a stand-out and senior Dan Darlington also has two years experience. Octavius Morgan (6-2, 210) from the freshman squad is a contender.

A new position in the alignment will be the rover back. The position demands the quickness to cover receivers deep and also challenge running backs at the line of scrimmage. Mike Walker,

Vietnam Hero Wins Greensboro Playoff

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Buddy Allin is a frail-looking little 130-pounder, sandy-haired and boyish appearing, looking for all the world like the drug-store delivery boy.

But the ex-artillery officer, decorated four times in 16 months of Vietnam combat duty, again proved his mettle when he batted in a birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff and won the $38,000 first prize in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Allin, who had won only $5,000 prior to his victory, had a final-round 69, two-under-par on the 7,034-yard Sedgefield Country Club Course, and finished with a 273.

Rod Funteth, the third-round leader, had a 71 and Eichelberger had a 69.

Eichelberger and Funteth each collected $17,575 from the total purse of $190,000.

Peter Brown was alone in third with a 69 for 276. Veterans Terry Dill, 68, and Miller Barber, 72, followed at 277. U.S. Open king Tony Jacklin of England had a 67 and was one of three at 278.

Foyt Claims First Prize At Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — "When you've beaten Richard Petty and the other NASCAR drivers, you've beaten the best," says Texan A. J. Foyt, who is finding the Grand National late model stock car racing circuit financially rewarding.

Foyt, a three-time Indianapolis winner, steered his 1969 Mercury by Petty on the back straightaway 12 laps from the finish Sunday and claimed the $19,200 first prize in the Atlanta 500.

"He'll run wheel-to-wheel with you," Foyt said of Petty. "He got into the corners better than I, but I beat him out of the corners and that's how I got the lead. Things got a little hairy running that fast and I almost lost it twice."

Foyt had controlled the race most of the way, holding the lap lead for 208 of the 300 trips around the 1.5-mile saucer-shaped oval. But Petty closed a 26-second advantage under a caution flag and then zipped into the lead when Foyt stopped for fuel on the 306th lap.

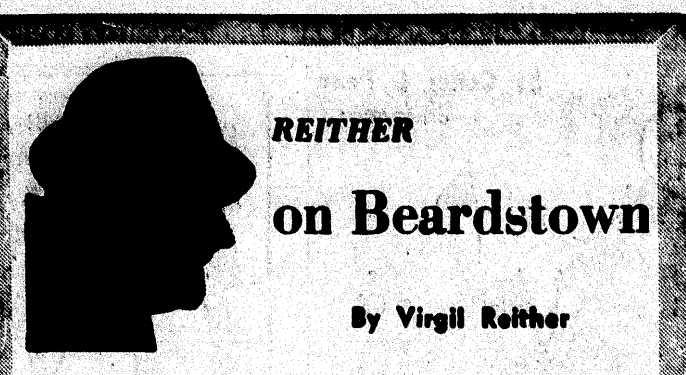

Petty retained his slim lead, but Foyt stayed right on his bumper and made his move 26 miles from the end. Foyt extended his advantage to 1.8 seconds when he took the checkered flag.

The finish gave Foyt memories of his 1967 triumph at Indianapolis when he picked his way through a five-car pileup on the final lap.

Foyt and Petty had to negotiate a two-car spin-out a quarter-mile from the finish line Sunday.

Foyt averaged 131.375 miles per hour despite running under caution flags four times during the race. Petty, in a Plymouth, earned second place money of $10,700.

Pete Hamilton drove his Plymouth to a third place finish, followed by David Pearson in a Ford and Bobby Isaac in a Dodge.

REITHER

on Beardstown

By Virgil Reither

BEARLSTOWN — This week end marked the final days of operation at Beardstown's century-old Central Hotel.

The last of its patrons moved out, water and gas service has been shut off and furniture moved.

With completion of demolition of the Gem Theater Kenneth O'Hara and his men will move against the hotel and soon clear the corner of Fourth and State streets to make way for a new filling station to be operated by Bill Spears.

Caretaker Harold Wherley and his wife were the last to move out. They have an apartment on rural route 1 near the Jerry Henderson place. Harry Gossage and Happy Severn, two long-time residents, have lodging at the Knarr apartments, 301 Jefferson.

Doodle Hageman, who lived at the Central about 20 years, has moved to the old Henderson hotel on Fourth street and says he is set up comfortably.

The Central hotel is the former Goodell hotel, and has had an important part in Beardstown history. A frame building 21 stories, with some 60 rooms, it also housed a beauty parlor, a barber shop and a year ago was a recreational center.

Bud Hiatt, who used to work at the Central — then the Goodell hotel — remembers when there were 12 pool tables in the recreation room, and they were almost always in play.

The hotel was originally operated by Lew Goodell, but Van Durg, Emil Rink and the Henderson-Zillion families have also operated it.

His wife is the former Jeanne Kutscher of St. Paul, Minn. She was in Germany studying for her Master's degree when she met Gary. They both speak German well, so they have no language barrier in Germany, where they have just observed their second wedding anniversary.

Operators of the local daily newspaper, the Illinoisian-Star, said they have taken 'precautions' as a result of a telephone call to local police stating 'the newspaper is next.'

The caller was a woman, police said, and it was immediately connected with the bomb-threat incident which occurred at the hospital here when about 50 persons were evacuated.

Court Action

Jack Montgomery was fined $10 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct Friday on a plea of guilty before Judge Fred W. Reither in circuit court here.

Charles Swan asked for time to secure an attorney and his case was continued.

Cancer Drive

Thirty five volunteer workers gathered at the Methodist church Thursday for a kickoff meeting in the local Cancer Drive.

Sid Bradd is again chairman for the drive, and it has been announced a house to house canvass for funds will be made. The goal is $5,000.

Candidates For Election

A race for supervisor in Beardstown township has attracted about as much attention as any in Tuesday's elections, which will be held throughout the county.

A. C. (Todd) Schuettler, formerly a Democrat office holder, is running as an independent candidate for township supervisor, and is being opposed by Dick Lashbrook, a Democratic precinct committeeman.

Sid Campbell, incumbent, is not opposed for reelection as Beardstown township road commissioner.

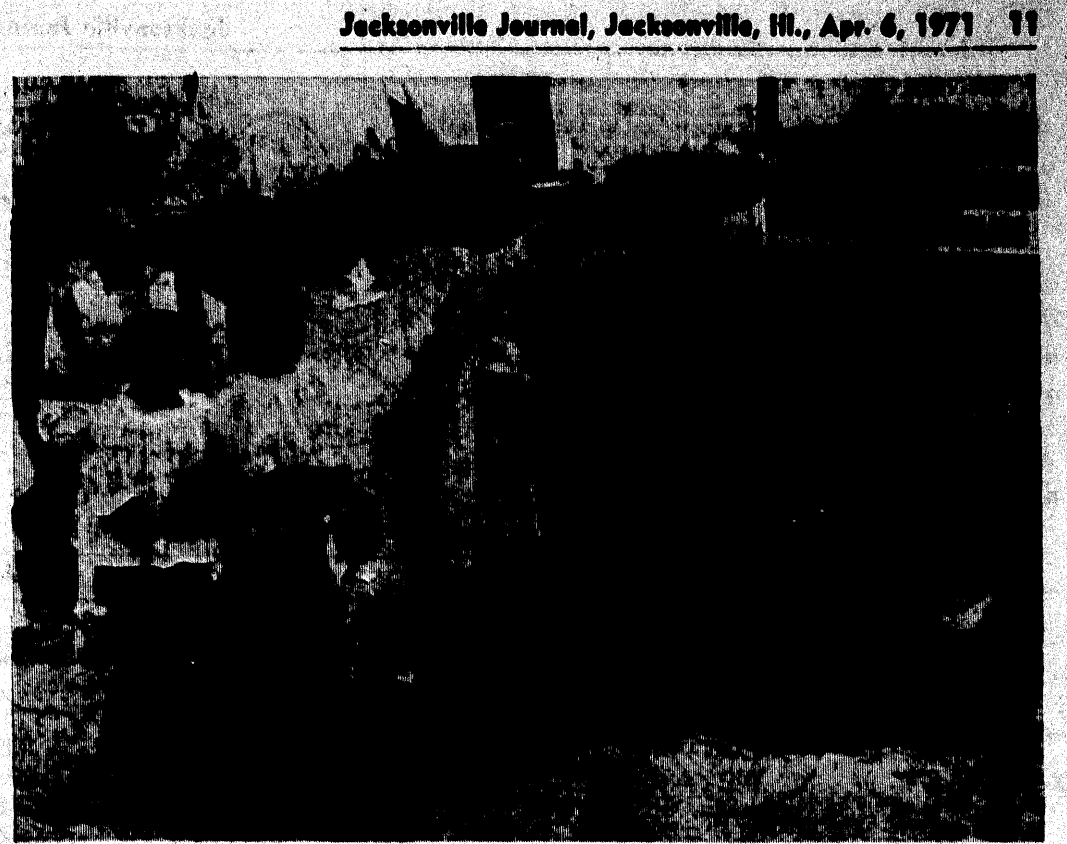

There is no opposition for supervisor in Hagener township where Russell Nordaiek is seeking re-election as supervisor.

Ashland Supervisor Edgar Thornley and Arenville supervisor Esther Morrison also are unopposed for another term.

In Newmansville township where the supervisor Vernon Edwards is retiring, two men, Weldon DeGroot and Kenton Bottens, are opposing candidates.

Philadelphia township has a three-way contest for the job as road commissioner. Wood Gebhardt, George Jokisch and Owen Brown are the candidates.

Beardstown is to have two other elections April 6—Park Board and School Board members will be named.

Bullets And Bucks Ice Playoff Spots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After losing one game, the Milwaukee Bucks wanted to make sure it didn't happen again. O, boy, did they!

The Bucks, recouping from last Thursday's loss, poured it on early and often and crushed the San Francisco Warriors 136-86 Sunday to win their National Basketball Association Western Conference semifinal playoffs, four games to one.

Milwaukee will play for the Western title against the winner of the Los Angeles-Chicago series, deadlocked 3-3 after Chicago's 113-99 victory Sunday.

In the day's other playoff match, the Baltimore Bullets turned back the Philadelphia 76ers 128-120 to win their Eastern Conference semifinal series, 4-3.

Baltimore will meet the New York Knicks for the Eastern Conference title. The Knicks took Atlanta, four games to one, last week.

Visibly stunned by their earlier loss to San Francisco, the Bucks came out smoking and didn't stop the fireworks until building a 60-point advantage, 126-66, through the final period.

The winners, paced by John McGlothin, Lew Alcindor and Bob Dandridge, held a 38-13 first-quarter lead. Their superiority was so evident that the Bucks could have gone scoreless in the second quarter and still held the halftime lead. At intermission it was 69-35.

Milwaukee's Oscar Robertson tied an NBA playoff record with eight assists in the opening quarter. The one period mark had been set by Rod Hundley of Los Angeles in 1961.

McGlothin had 28 points, Alcindor 23 and Dandridge, 19. Fritz Williams led San Francisco with 13 points.

Baltimore and Philadelphia played on even terms in the first quarter with the Bullets holding a 31-30 edge. But Baltimore's Fred Carter and Earl Monroe combined for 20 points in a 43-point second quarter that actually salted it away with a 74-52 halftime lead.

Jack Marin led the Bullets with 33 points, four assists and 16 rebounds. Monroe had 20 points and Carter 18. Billy Cunningham led Philadelphia with 30.

Bob Love and Bob Weiss contributed to a 22-point third quarter that carried Chicago past Los Angeles and set their series showdown meeting for Tuesday night in Los Angeles.

The Lakers, building leads to 11 points in the first half, had a 57-42 advantage at halftime. The Lakers hit 58 per cent from the field with hot-handed Gail Goodrich contributing 19 points.

But Weiss, who scored 25 points, and Love, 21, helped the Bulls take charge, outscoring the Lakers 28-15, to grab an 80-72 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Goodrich wound up with 25 points to tie Weiss for game-high honors.

Bruins Break 37 Records On Year

BOSTON (AP) — The 1970-71 Boston Bruins broke 16 National Hockey League team records and 21 individual marks in their regular season which concluded with Sunday's 7-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The East Division champions finished with a 54-14-7 record, setting highs for victories and for points in the standings, 121.

Their 399 goals and 1,093 scoring points also established records, as did their 25 short handed goals—a figure nearly twice as high as the old mark of 14.

Highlighted among the individual records were Phil Esposito's 76 goals and 152 points, and Bobby Orr's 102 assists.

Petraglia Moves In On One Year Winnings Mark

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Johnny Petraglia, the whiz kid of professional bowling, is just $1,222 shy of cracking the one-season tournament winnings mark.

The 24-year-old Brooklyn southpaw, nicknamed "Rags" because of his rags to riches story, boosted his 1971 winnings to $66,152 with the $25,000 check that accompanied the Firestone Tournament of Champions title Saturday.

The Firestone was Petraglia's third PBA tournament victory in three weeks. With more than 20 tournaments remaining on the 1971 calendar, he is almost certain to top the $67,374 season winnings record set by Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., in 1968.

The three wins in a row tied a record set a decade ago by Dick Weber of St. Louis.

Petraglia copped the prestigious Firestone by whipping defending champion Don Johnson 245-169. Johnson began the final match poorly, leaving two splits and missing a spare, and found himself 43 pins behind after four frames.

Petraglia was top-seeded in the final after emerging on top of an original field of 48 champions.

Long Weekends, Anyone?

3-Day Work Week Makes Time

By TOM TIEDE
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (NEA) — Computer operator Gil Mosher used to be like the rest of America's 82 million working stiff—a slave to clock and calendar.

Eight hours a day, five days a week, 40 rush hours a month, 280 crowded cafeteria lunches a year. And the weekends? With 82 million others off at the same time, filling the barber chairs, the department stores, the movie houses, the highways and the beaches, the weekends were never much of a relief.

"I'd start out on Monday," he remembers, "same thing Tuesday, then Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Whew! The weekend. But by the time I'd start feeling like a human being again, it was Monday and time to go back to work. It was awful."

Repeat: "Awful." But no more. Gil Mosher has been reborn. He has been hired by a forward-thinking company which permits him to work full time on a three-day week schedule.

Repeat: A three-day week.

He checks into his office each Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He puts in long 12½-hour stints each time. And then he's off for "four, big, wonderful days."

Repeat... oh, never mind. You read right. Gil Mosher's employer is the Mutual of New York (MONEY) insurance company here. And he is one of 36 men, all computer operators, permitted the revolutionary three-day work week. MONEY management introduced the unique change in routine late in 1969—but not simply to be revolutionary. There were hard business circumstances which necessitated the dramatic departure from tradition.

"We were faced with a couple of problems," says MONEY personnel manager Tom Davis. "One, we were just changing our computer operation to a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week schedule. Two, we had the problem of keeping good computer operators; they are always in demand, as you know, and are notorious job-hoppers. Traditionally, if they are not completely satisfied one place, they go elsewhere."

Thus, the three-day week idea. Which, says Davis, "has been a blessing." He says it has increased work efficiency: "we only change shifts twice instead of three times." He says it has enlarged the scope of employee professionalism: "They are here longer at one time and so see more of the operation." And of course he says it has improved personnel morale: "A couple of men said they didn't like the change, but most of them are excited about it. It gives them time to live a little more. Believe me, I see a lot more smiles around here now."

Mutual of New York officials are not the only employers witnessing happier faces these days. The shorter work week, once just a figment of the laborer's imagination, is catching on around the nation. Exact statistics have not been kept, but a good estimate is that at least 150 U.S. firms, big and small, have shortened their work weeks. Most have gone to four days (10 hours per day) but at least 13, at least unofficially, have slimmed schedules to a mere three days.

And the idea is spreading. Mrs. Riva Poor, editor of a book called "Four Days, 40 Hours," says it's not just a trend, it's a "movement." She says at least 20,000 workers in the nation are now on either full time or periodic short weeks, and "thousands of other companies are looking into the possibility." She says it would be a mistake for any firm to ignore the potentialities. "The flexible work week just makes too much good sense."

There are those, certainly, who have tried the tack and then dropped it after finding employee efficiency declining. One small-shop manager in Massachusetts says he put his people on a three-day schedule. "But I had to give it up. The guys were aimless. They started hanging around the shop on their days off, which interfered with the men who were on the job. I tried it for six months or so, but I lost money. Hell, the five-day week is plenty good enough anyway."

And employers aren't the only ones who have complained about the shorter week. Wives have: "He used to drink beer and watch TV on Saturday and Sunday; now he drinks beer and watches TV on Saturday, Sunday and Monday." And so have a few employees: "I'm spending twice as much money on my days off as I used to."

Yet, as might be imagined, the critics of the shorter work week are being outshouted by the proponents. Gil Mosher of MONEY says, "I want to get more education—and with the three-day week I can." Author Riva Poor says the departure from the archaic five-day week helps ease congestion in the cities, minimize peak periods for electric power, allow people to live further away from their jobs. And economist Paul Samuelson says the shorter week permits men to take over more of their family responsibilities, thus enlarge their own capacities and "redress the ancient curse of female drudgery."

Clearly, increasing legions feel the three- or four-day week is a swell idea.

Repeat (are you listening, boss?): A swell idea!

Boyle's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One out of every 11 American homes now has a swimming pool. One in every three has two or more cars and also a color television set.

It isn't just the old who are affected by the tensions of the time. A Harvard medical researcher has found that a tendency toward hypertension can be detected as early as the age of two in children of parents who suffer from high blood pressure.

What is the most valuable single patent in history? It probably is Alexander Graham Bell's patent for the telephone, according to the National Geographic Society. The patent—number 174,465—was issued on March 7, 1876.

Are you as strong and healthy as you were 10 years ago? Well, the U.S. dollar isn't. It is worth only 65 per cent of the value it had at the start of the last decade.

Scientists have good reason for concern at the rate mankind is using up its energy reserves. In the last 30 years alone the human race has consumed more coal, oil and gas than it did in all its previous history.

Some victims of a heart attack are depressed by the fear that it will end their working career. In most cases this fear is unfounded. A study by Dr. Stanley Fisher, a University of Connecticut psychologist, found that the chances are better than four to one that the survivor of a heart attack will be back on the job within a year.

A matter of size: We may not be getting better as a people, but we are getting bigger. Men entering U.S. military service today average two inches taller and 10 pounds heavier than those inducted at the start of World War I.

A matter of age: As a nation we are getting older, but as a population we are getting younger. The present median age in the United States is 29, but by 1978 it is expected to drop to 27.

Worth remembering: "Money is funny. You have to be dead to get your face on it, but very much alive to get your hands on it."

The girls who went are: Sarah Henson, Bonnie Rogers, Mary Ellen Murphy, Susan Edwards, Randi Jones, Tammy Longley, Wendy Coulter, Rebecca West, Wanda Newingham, Michele Owdom, Carol Clements.

TROOP 82 MAKES FLOWERS FOR NURSING HOME

Junior Girl Scouts from Troop 82 at Lincoln school, brought sack lunches to the home of their leader, Mrs. Robert R. Anderson, on April 3.

They made over 100 flowers from tissue paper for the patients at Melrose Nursing Home. The girls will go to the nursing home on April 14th and give the flowers to the patients.

After the flowers were made there was dancing and games and refreshments were served.

Helping make the flowers were Sue Ellen DeVore, Wanda Newingham, Cheryl Marsh, Susie Edwards, Wendy Coulter, Mary Ellen Murphy, Jenny Anderson, Bonnie Rogers, Michele Owdom and three guests, Joanie Covey, Barbie Kolberer and Jimmy Anderson.

ROOM AT THE TOP There is plenty of room at the top of our organization for professionals. We are a young multimillion dollar company that has made substantial progress every year since inception. In the past three years we paid out over $500,000 to ten of our salesmen who prior to their association with our company knew nothing of our product and service. We have a small town philosophy, but that's how we got big. If you are willing to work hard and like to meet people, you will make out with us—not a fortune; although some of our men do reach in excess of $25,000 per year. However, these people say they have found a home with us. The ideal man is one who is married, over 25, owns a car and desires to improve his current income level above $20,000. Please submit name, address, phone number and qualifications to P.O. Box 986, Champaign, Illinois 61820, D. B. White, Vice Pres.-Marketing. 4-4-X-1

Fire Truck Engine Replacement OK'd; Award Street Bid

Members of the Jacksonville city council Monday night gave approval to the public protection committee for purchase of a new engine for the 1955 pumper at the fire department.

The engine of the present truck "blew out" last week during a country run.

Committee Chairman Dale Brown said the engine will be replaced with a new International engine at a cost of $2,973.72 plus installation of between $300 and $400.

Chief Dale Bond said the LaFrance engine would be too costly to repair and that the conversion to the International engine could be made and installed within a month. Bond said he would like to get the fire truck back into service as quickly as possible.

Members of the council authorized replacement of the engine.

Street Material Bids
Illinois Road Contractors, Inc., submitted the low bid for providing street surfacing materials for all non-arterial streets in Jacksonville. IRC's low bid of 19-cents for road oil and other patching material was slightly under the bid of Illinois Valley Asphalt Co.

The council accepted the bid and the material will be used as the street department requires during the construction season.

The council authorized a lease

Snow Causes Power Failure Monday Evening

The unwelcome April snow that blanketed the Jacksonville area Monday was responsible for a power interruption at Illinois Power's Anna St. substation. Illinois Power customers in the northwest section of the city and part of South Jacksonville were affected.

T. A. Fornkahl, electrical distribution superintendent, said snow accumulating on the insulators at the substation caused a fuse to blow at 9:02 p.m. Partial power was restored shortly after the fuse blew but lights were dim in many homes until the problem was corrected at 9:30 p.m.

Henry E. Ring, Of Ashland, Dies Monday

ASHLAND — Henry E. Ring, 73, of Ashland, died at 12:05 p.m. Monday at Norris hospital. He was born at Virginia Dec. 31, 1897, son of Carl and Marie Loser Ring. He married Clara Wildt March 3, 1920. She survives with one son, Darrell. There are six grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers, William F. of Virginia; and Chris of Paris, Mo.; and six sisters, Helene Nelson of Tallula; Martha Meyer of Jacksonville; Rosa Meyer and Linda Menge, both of Arenzville; Elizabeth Hendrick of Beardstown; and Amanda Laurer of Virginia.

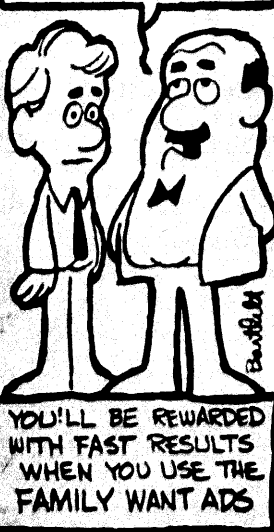

Friends may call at the Gainer Funeral Home from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Wednesday.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist church at Ashland with the Rev. Audy Burklow officiating. The body will lie in state one hour before the services. Burial will be in the Ashland cemetery.

The family suggests that friends consider memorials to either the Baptist memorial fund or the American Cancer Society.

for land at Lake Jacksonville to the Starlight Camping Club under the same terms as leases with other camping clubs around the lake. The lease was approved over the negative votes of Aldermen Brown, Evans and Hazelrigg.

Alderman Wilbur DeFries inquired about several walnut trees which had been cut at Lake Jacksonville during the past several weeks. Alderman Carl Bourn, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, indicated that his committee had approved selling 26 trees from the lake area. He said after the council session that the city had received a certified check before the trees had been removed.

Bourn said the reason for selling the trees was that a few had been reported "missing" earlier. He said the funds realized from the sale would be put back into improvements at the lake.

Alderman DeFries said he felt it would be a good idea for a sale of that type to be presented on the floor of the city council for everyone's approval.

Do Something Month
Mayor Dan F. Lahey asked and received city council support for declaring the month of April as "Do Something Month." Lahey said he would like to have council approval rather than the usual issuance of a proclamation for the Jacksonville Jaycee project to obtain volunteers for several agencies in the community.

Jaycee President Richard Cody expressed his thanks to the council for their consideration and support of the program.

The council authorized purchase of 30,000 parking meter tickets at an estimated cost of $750 from Production Press, Inc.

The council members were invited to view a new three-wheeled motor scooter in the police garage which is currently on demonstration to the city by the Cushman Company. The three-wheeler would be used by the meter maids and other utility uses for the police department, if purchased. Chief Charles P. Runkel invited the aldermen to inspect the machine but said he was not yet ready to make a recommendation to purchase the units.

Alderman Charles Quinn said he would like to thank anyone who had a part in removing a dilapidated house in the 500 block of Webster. Quinn said he had tried to get the house removed for the past three and a half years.

Twenty-five members of the seventh grade at Our Saviour's school attended Monday night's council meeting.

Alderman Brown asked the city attorney to report on the maximum amount of money that could be spent by a committee without council approval. Attorney Bill Colburn said he would report back after reviewing the city's ordinances on the subject.

Sen. Stevenson: Lt. Calley Must Pay Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., expressed sympathy Monday for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., but said, "If Lt. Calley murdered innocent women and children he must pay the penalty; an order . . . is not an excuse to murder innocent men, women and children."

His comments about the conviction and Calley's life sentence on charges of murdering 22 Vietnamese in My Lai were given at a news conference.

President Nixon has freed Calley from the stockade at Ft. Benning, Ga., pending automatic appeal of the conviction. Stevenson said about the President's role in the Calley case:

"I don't know what the President's intentions are. I don't know if he is responding to public pressure, or to political pressure."

"I don't know whether he intends . . . to interfere in the orderly judicial process or whether he intends simply to exercise his responsibilities as the President and as the commander-in-chief."

"I don't know whether he knows what he is doing in the case of Lt. Calley . . ."

"The country must retain its sense and it is receiving precious little help from the politicians . . . from the President on down."

"We all sympathize with Lt. Calley. He is another victim of this ugly war in South Vietnam. He is added now to the . . . hundreds of thousands of men, women and children broken in body or in spirit by the war."

"The blame for what happened at My Lai is too great for him or for any one man to bear, but the law must be upheld."

"I have faith that justice will be done in this case. If, indeed, Lt. Calley murdered innocent women and children, he must pay the penalty. I can say as a citizen and as a senator and also as a former Marine Corps officer that an order to murder women and children is not an excuse to murder innocent men, women and children."

Draft Counseling Service Starts Here

The local Selective Service Information Center has begun operations according to an announcement made Monday by that organization. The center was formed to provide a reliable source of information concerning Selective Service laws for the draft age men of the community.

Ten qualified draft counselors are available to answer questions and give information about Selective Service matters. Counseling is available on an appointment-only basis until the organization moves into permanent office.

Appointments may be made by contacting Louis Palmer at 243-1202. The counselors, five of whom are Jacksonville residents and five MacMurray and Illinois College students, were trained here by the Midwest Center for Draft Counseling, an independent agency.

The center's parent organization, the Jacksonville Selective Service Information Association, recently elected an executive board. The officers are: the Rev. Donald Batz, president; Mike Kennedy, vice president; William Meyer, secretary-treasurer; Fred Smith, Illinois College representative; Angela Siligato, MacMurray College representative.

Following is the statement of purposes drafted by the association.

"The Jacksonville Selective Service Information Center is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to provide an independent source of reliable information and counseling on the Selective Service law. It has received the endorsement of the Jacksonville Council of Churches, which appoints advisors to serve actively in it. All work for the organization is on a voluntary basis as a community service to high school and draft age youth.

"It is not the purpose of the center to propagandize or to take sides for or against any particular military conflict, nor will it advocate evasions of the Selective service law. Its counselors are trained not to try to influence a young man but to assist him in clarifying his own views, principally by providing a source of clear, accurate, and balanced information on the provisions of the Selective Service law and his rights and duties under the law.

"As a community draft information center, it will receive continuous materials from the national Selective Service headquarters, which cooperates with such centers, as well as from independent sources of civilian legal advice. The following are some of the categories of information which will be provided by the center:

—Information on the procedures followed by the draft board in making classifications, so a young man may anticipate when he may expect his various notices.

—The penalties he will face if he fails to comply with the law.

—The channels of effective appeal available under the law if a young man feels he has been denied a classification to which he is legally entitled.

—The provisions of the law dealing with conscientious objection, which make available to anyone who qualifies for the exemption the option of non-military service or alternate civilian public service of national importance.

—The specifications of physical, occupational, educational, and family hardship deferments and exemptions to which the client may be entitled under the present law."

The income tax deadline will soon be here. Richard P. Kennedy, manager of the Internal Revenue Service office in Jacksonville, said that assistance will be available on Monday, April 12, and on Thursday, April 15. Assistance hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 12:45 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The IRS office is located in the Jacksonville Savings and Loan Building at 211 West State street.

Driver Fined On DUI Plea In Circuit Court
Magistrate Paul Finstermaker presided over several traffic cases Monday afternoon in magistrate division of circuit court.

James Rush, 22, of 1489 Passavant Drive was denied probation and ordered to pay a fine of $400 and $10 costs on his plea of guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol. Rush entered his plea and asked for probation March 22 from an incident which happened Feb. 26. The probation officer recommended to the court that the defendant pay a fine and that his record was sufficient that further supervision would not be necessary.

Rose Mae Jackson, 20, of 135 W. Independence entered a plea of guilty to driving without a valid operator's license and was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and $10 court costs.

Eddie Hogan, 17, of 354 North West entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor and was fined $50 and $15 costs.

Anthony Decker, 17, 320 Hockenhull, was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

Stephen L. Powers, 23, of 715 South West received the appointment of the public defender to represent him on charges of illegal transportation of liquor and giving liquor to a minor. The case was continued to a later date.

Thomas Snodgrass of route 3, Roodhouse entered a plea of guilty to having no valid registration and was fined $20 and $10 court costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment declined slightly from 5.2 per cent to 5.1 per cent of the work force in March, prompting the Nixon administration Friday to voice hope that the nation's economic slowdown will be moderate. The decline was the first in five months and followed a spurt in the jobless rate from its 3½-year low of 4.6 per cent in October to 5.2 per cent in January.

It remained at that level in February to the surprise of many economists who had predicted still further sharp increases early this year due to the softening of the economy and the energy crisis.

Chairman Herbert Stein of the President's Council of Economic Advisers said the March drop "tends to support the view that the economic slowdown through which we have been passing will be of moderate depth and duration."

However, Stein did not rule out some increase in the jobless rate later this year as the labor force grows and productivity increases.

The Labor Department reported that total employment remained essentially unchanged at 85.9 million in March. At the same time, the number of people out of work dropped from a seasonally adjusted 4.7 million in February to 4.6 million last month.

Employment in manufacturing, mainly in the auto industry, continued to decline last month, but was more than offset by increases elsewhere in the economy, the department said.

Since October, about 530,000 workers have lost their jobs. Over this period the government said the number of persons receiving unemployment benefits rose by 430,000 indicating that most of the jobless were compensated for at least part of their lost wages.

In addition to job losses in the auto industry, March employment also was down in the metals industry, electrical machinery manufacturing, construction and mining. Strong gains were reported in retail trade, services, and state and local government.

Unemployment rates for most groupings in the labor force dipped slightly in March. The jobless rate for married men was 2.4 per cent; adult women, 5 per cent; teen-agers, 15 per cent; white workers, 4.6 per cent, and blacks, 9.4 per cent.

HEW Official Disputes Nixon Welfare Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's claim, a key government official says the decline in welfare rolls accounted for "just a small part" of the $73-million surplus in the federal welfare budget this year.

Nixon announced last weekend from his Florida White House that he was asking Congress to slash about $800 million from the fiscal 1974 welfare budget, citing a cumulative loss of 255,000 persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

But James S. Dwight Jr., public assistance administrator in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said at least 60 per cent—or $459 million—of the surplus represents funds unspent by the states for social services.

The social services surplus, he said in an interview, bears "no relationship" to the declining relief rolls.

Dwight, a former aide to California Gov. Ronald Reagan who was appointed administrator of HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service by Nixon a year ago, refrained from directly contradicting the chief executive.

But he said the administration previously had anticipated a substantial drop in AFDC costs through more efficient management and had trimmed $852 million from WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight Chapin, once President Nixon's appointments secretary, was convicted Friday on two counts of lying to a grand jury investigating political sabotage in the 1972 presidential campaign.

Sentencing of the 33-year-old Chapin, now an airline vice president on leave, was set by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell for May 15. Chapin will remain free without bond.

"I'm going to continue to fight for my innocence," Chapin told reporters afterward. "On the day I was indicted I went out on my front lawn and said I was innocent. I intend to fight this thing all the way through."

He also said "obviously I am very disappointed. The judge threw out one count of the indictment, the jury threw out one count and on a portion of another I was found not guilty."

He said he and his wife will return to their home in Winnetka, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, by Monday when he must report to a probation officer.

Immediately after the verdict, delivered by a jury that deliberated nearly 11½ hours, Chapin walked over to his weeping wife and kissed her.

He was the eighth former White House aide convicted either by guilty plea or trial.

The jury of seven men and five women found Chapin innocent of one count. A fourth count was dismissed by Gesell during the five-day trial.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Chapin was invited by the judge to submit "all the information about yourself" before sentencing.

The jury was asked by the judge how it voted on the first count in which Chapin was charged with making two false statements to the grand jury last April 11.

Foreman Charles L. Wesley, a retired postal worker, said the jury convicted Chapin of lying when he said he never discussed distribution of campaign literature with Donald H. Segretti, an acknowledged political saboteur hired by Chapin.

But the jury found that Chapin had not lied on the second part of the count where he was charged with falsely denying that he knew Segretti had distributed statements.

Despite the split on the question Chapin stands convicted on that count. The jury also determined that Chapin lied when he said that he had never given Segretti "any directions or instructions with respect to any single or particular candidate."

It found him innocent of a charge that he lied when he told Segretti to talk to the FBI at a time when it appeared Segretti would be questioned by agents.

Campaigns Begun To Help President Pay Back Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any money donated to President Nixon to help pay his income tax will be returned, a White House spokesman said Friday.

The comment came as various campaigns were launched around the country to send money to the President.

The Florida state Republican chairman, L.E. "Tommy" Thomas, said he wanted one million Floridians to mail $1 to the White House "and let the President know that you think he is one in a million."

A group in Kentucky reported it has raised more than $250 for a "Peoples Fund for Nixon's Taxes."

The White House said it has received more than a dozen telephone offers to help the President. A spokesman said callers were being discouraged from sending money and that any money actually received would be returned. "If anybody sends money in the mail to the White House it is returned to them in the form of a check, cash or whatever it is," said the spokesman.

The Internal Revenue Service said in the event donations were used to help pay the President's more than $465,000 tax debt, it isn't clear whether the money would be considered a gift, or income.

If the money qualified as a gift, the President would not have to pay any tax on it, IRS said.

But, if it were classified as income, the President would have to pay income taxes on it in future years.

"We've never ruled on this, since the matter has not come up before," an IRS spokesman said. "It would boil down to a factual situation."

Chicago multimillionaire W. Clement Stone, who already has contributed $5.8 million to Nixon presidential campaigns, said he would not hesitate to help Nixon pay his tax debt. The White House turned down the Stone offer Thursday.

Thomas said in a statement that many callers expressed resentment "that it is apparent that what was good enough for Hubert Humphrey and

Edward Nixon: Asked Cash Only Donation From Vesco

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's youngest brother, Edward, testified Friday at the Mitchell-Stans trial that it was he who put a cash-only label on financier Robert L. Vesco's secret $200,000 contribution to the 1972 presidential re-election campaign.

The witness quoted former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans as telling him that "the contribution should be in cash to remain absolutely anonymous, but as far as the committee was concerned it didn't make any difference."

Nixon said he then called Vesco and "I must have said something like cash—if you can do it by cash, do it by cash."

The government claimed it was Stans who specified cash only as a means of keeping the contribution secret. But the 43-year-old Nixon said the desire for secrecy originated with Vesco.

Stans is on trial with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell on charges they conspired to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of Vesco's international financial empire in return for the $200,000 contribution.

Nixon was the first witness for the defense. He took the stand after United States District Court Judge

Lee Gagliardi dismissed for lack of evidence one count of the 16-count indictment charging conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury against Mitchell and Stans. (Turn to Page 6)

Prater: Boyle Told Me To Lie

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — A former United Mine Workers official convicted of murder in the Yablonski slayings testified Friday that W. A. "Tony" Boyle visited him in jail and told him to stick with his story about having had nothing to do with the deaths.

William J. Prater, 53, a former field representative for UMW District 19 from LaFollette, Tenn., said the former UMW president visited him in the Erie County, Pa., jail during Prater's murder trial last year in the death of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

Boyle, 72, a former UMW president, is on trial in Delaware County Court for the Dec. 31, 1969, murders of union rival Yablonski, his wife and daughter in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

The prosecution contends that Boyle ordered the killings and arranged to divert $20,000 in union funds to pay the assassins.

Under questioning by special prosecutor Richard A. Sprague, Prater admitted he had lied at his trial in denying participation in the murders.

Prater later confessed his involvement and testified at the trial of Albert Pass — who, Prater claims, enlisted him in the plot. Pass, of Middlesboro, Ky., former secretary-treasurer of District 19, was convicted of murder last June.

Begin Cleanup After Storms

By The Associated Press
Cleanup crews began on Friday to clear away debris while relief agencies set to work helping those left homeless, jobless or hungry by tornadoes that devastated a number of communities in the Midwest and South.

The tornado death toll Friday stood at 298, with about 4,000 hurt. Damage was expected to total more than a half-billion dollars.

Meanwhile, President Nixon added Georgia to a list of five states declared disaster areas. He asked to be kept up-to-date on the situation while en route to Paris, a White House spokesman said.

The Federal Disaster Administration planned to open "onestop" relief offices in the affected areas on Saturday.

"These centers will provide a focal point for disaster victims so they can go one place and arrange for temporary housing, unemployment assistance, food stamps, Small Business Administration loans, IRS help, Red Cross and Salvation Army assistance," he said.

The Internal Revenue service announced a 60-day postponement for federal income tax filing dates for tornado victims and has approved casualty deductions for the disaster on last year's returns.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development James T. Lynn toured the stricken areas to personally assess the damage and give a report to Nixon. (Turn to Page 6)

Myths about Impeachment

As the House Judiciary Committee draws toward the end of its inquiry, persistent myths about impeachment ought to be dispelled. One of these is that to impeach President Nixon would somehow "ruin" the presidency and make future chief executives vulnerable whenever their popularity ratings sank low.

The President-himself, and his loyalists, foster this notion. It is a notion which derives little support from common sense or history. Impeachment is a complex process requiring the consent of a large number of diverse people; it is not something that could be lightly undertaken, even if anyone were so minded. History shows that it has not been cavalierly used as a political weapon.

On the contrary, only one president has had impeachment articles drawn against him, and that was more than a century ago. The event was traumatic, yet the presidency survived without serious harm.

A second myth is that impeaching President Nixon would somehow "tear the country apart." Those who advance this contention are likewise on shaky ground, if only because there is little in the way of historical precedent.

After Andrew Johnson's impeachment in 1868, he was duly tried in the Senate, but was acquitted. The episode did not "tear the country apart." This though the situation was far different than that at present. Johnson had taken a lenient attitude toward the beaten South, and was thus the target of hot postwar passions in the North. Present circumstances are not comparable to that; in this case the President is caught up in an administrative scandal which primarily involves thirst for power rather than conflicting ideologies.

In the final analysis, the arguments about impeachment turn upon just how thoughtful the founding fathers were. In this connection one can profitably reflect on a recent comment by the distinguished historian Henry Steele Commager in The New Times magazine. Impeachment, Commager pointed out, is not an aberration in our system; it was inserted into the Constitution for very real and practical reasons, to protect against the possibility of an imperialistic presidency.

There is really only one question at issue — whether the President's offenses are serious enough to warrant impeachment followed by trial before the Senate.

If He Campaigns In Michigan

Nixon May Put Dwindling Prestige On Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The stakes could rise sharply soon in a special election in Michigan's 8th congressional district.

The Republican candidate, James M. Sparling, has invited President Nixon to campaign in the district before the voters go to the polls April 16th.

Nixon is said to be considering the invitation and the Washington Post said he tentatively has decided to accept. If so, the stakes become greater for Nixon than the outcome of the election itself.

The 8th district has been Republican since the depression thirties. The GOP candidate is believed running behind, however. His Democratic opponent, State Sen. J. Robert Traxler, is hitting Watergate hard in the style of Richard Vander Veen, who won the Michigan seat vacated by Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

The President will be putting his dwindling prestige squarely on the line if he campaigns in Michigan.

A Republican victory would tend to close party ranks around Nixon as he defends himself against impeachment charges.

A GOP defeat would leave him more isolated.

There is reason to suspect the White House was less than enthusiastic about the way the invitation was presented. Sparling seemed to be putting some distance between himself and Nixon by saying it would give the President a chance to defend himself on Watergate and on his economic policies.

Moreover, the invitation was made public, putting the President in something of a box. If Nixon rejected the invitation, it might leave the impression he was afraid to go into Michigan.

Ford already is committed to help Sparling, which means the April 16 election will be a test for him too. But if the President campaigns, it may be difficult to establish who was responsible for what — good or bad.

Ford is still getting overwhelmingly favorable reaction to his Chicago speech ripping into Nixon's 1972 re-election team as "arrogant."

Reports that the speech was a hurry-up job, written on the plane to Chicago, turned out to be incorrect. They were based on the fact that only a single copy was brought aboard the plane and a secretary typed copies for the traveling press.

Ford approved the final draft himself, however, and obviously considered it important. It was an apparent effort to put as much distance as possible between the Republican party and Watergate.

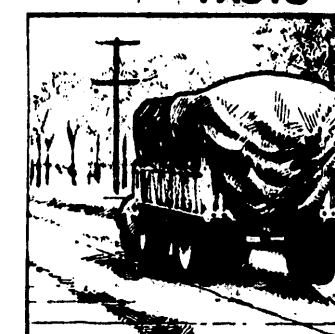

But the Vice President denied it was aimed at putting distance between Nixon and the GOP.

The fact is, however, that Ford has been on a political tight-rope for months, trying to disassociate the party from Watergate while at the same time defending the President against impeachment charges.

It wasn't working. Watergate was rubbing off on GOP candidates. Republicans lost three out of four special congressional elections this year — all party strongholds.

The April 16th election has to be a further testing ground.

The U.S. trucking industry had 9,034,000 employees who earned a payroll of some $72.4 billion, during 1971. The World Almanac notes. There were 26 states with trucking payrolls of more than $1 billion. California's 12 million trucking employees earned more than $11.7 billion. Texas' trucking payroll was over $5 billion, followed by New York's nearly $3.7 billion and Pennsylvania's $3.5 billion.

Communication

To the Editor:

On the 29th of March an incident occurred which necessitated the calling of the Rescue Squad to the home of a thirteen-year-old girl. The girl had to be rushed to the hospital by ambulance. The reason? DRUGS.

This time the girl was lucky. She could now be dead or worse yet, she could have lost her sanity.

Because of deep concern, the Jacksonville Police Department was called and Officer Gary Brown was sent to investigate. The child was incoherent so the officer said he would talk to her the following day.

When Officer Brown arrived at the girl's home the next day, he was greeted by several sets of parents and their daughters. The girls, frightened about what had happened to their friend, admitted to their parents that they, also, had been smoking marijuana. The chain reaction was so great the meeting was transferred to the police station.

Three-fourths of the parents knew nothing about cannabis or what it looked like. Officer Brown had samples of the substance and explained its effects.

It's time parents woke up to the fact that their children may not be Mr. or Miss Goody Two-shoes. About ninety per cent of our school children are on drugs of some kind. When you question them and they deny using drugs, they may not be telling the truth. Don't just hear what you want to, but find out the truth. Their lives may depend on it.

All of us who talked with Officer Brown give him our special thanks and support. A Concerned Parent S.A.D.

P.S. My initials spell the word that best describes this whole situation.

Concerned about Tendency Of Unwed Teens to Keep Babies

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school teacher who is deeply concerned about the tendency of unmarried teenage girls to keep their babies. They are often unstable, immature and irresponsible. The child becomes an unwanted burden on "Grandma," who already has too much to do. I tell these pregnant girls about the thousands of childless couples who could give their baby a world of love. I outline the advantages of growing up in a home with two devoted parents. They snap back with, "I NEED to keep my baby because it's all I have," or, "What would people think of me if I gave away my own flesh and blood?"

My sister, who is a social worker, relates heartbreaking stories about unwed, teenage mothers who are prostitutes, on drugs — their children being bounced off the walls by drunken or drug-crazed boyfriends. Some beat their babies because they resent changing diapers or caring for a sick child.

How did this insane trend get started? I pray to God something can be done to reverse it. — Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear H.: The "trend" got started by far-out movie stars and entertainers who were involved with married men or became intentionally pregnant for some neurotic reason and didn't want to get married.

I happen to know of an unmarried woman (NOT a teenager) who decided to keep her child and she did a beautiful job of raising it. But such women are few and far between. Most teenagers who become pregnant out of wedlock would do well to heed your counsel.

Dear Ann Landers: When I saw the letter titled "How To Be a Successful Mother-in-Law," I nearly lost my breakfast. (I read you in the morning paper.) "One eye closed and one mouth shut," eh? The way I figure it she's a hypocrite.

If the dame noticed with one eye shut that her daughter-in-law hasn't had the living room slip-covers cleaned in three years, what do you think she'd have seen if she opened BOTH eyes? A housekeeper who would leave a filthy dishrag in the corner of a sink as its permanent resting place would give me heartburn.

Sorry, but I couldn't be so phony. I'd have to tell my daughter-in-law what I thought. I'm sure she'd admire my honesty. — For the Truth.

Dear Truth: I'm not so sure she'd admire your honesty. Chances are she'd consider her soiled slip-covers and dirty dishrag none of your business.

No space forces Japan's 'overpresence'

By Bruce Blossat

TOKYO — (NEA)

Economic pressures of many kinds are driving the Japanese enterprisers overseas more and more just at a time when business bonds between nations seem to be at their most delicate.

A strong lesson was taught the Japanese by Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's midwinter visit to five Southeast Asia countries, where in two instances — Thailand and Indonesia — hostile student demonstrations tried to suggest that Japan's heavy economic influence was less than welcome. High Japanese officials insist that, in hard practical terms, Tanaka's visit was successful and that "domestic politics" was deeply involved in the demonstrations. But they also concede that Japan needs to be supercautious about developing a highly visible "overpresence" in places where it is pursuing strong economic interests.

There are some developing nations today, for example, where certain elements automatically equate foreign investment with "exploitation," even as top government officials are encouraging the Japanese to come in. And, watching foreign seizures of investment properties, Japan's business leaders are very much on guard and more than faintly suspicious when given official assurances that any new ventures they may make will be "safe" from later seizure.

Nonetheless, forces are compelling Japan to reach out. It is running out of priceless tillable land as its huge metropolitan complexes continue to eat up the flat areas.

For years, the Japanese have been filling in shallow waters along their coastlines to provide industrial sites for the receipt and simple handling of raw materials and the manufacturing and the dispatch with ease of finished products. But the country is also running short of this very valuable shoreline space and as one businessman put it: "You can't build factories here on the tops of mountains."

Japan's tillable land may soon be only 15 per cent as sprawl goes on. So it is looking to other shores for space. One Japanese shipyard at Singapore is to be expanded and another one built. Japan makes half the world's ships.

It has developed facilities in Brazil, rich source of the iron ore. The Japanese steel industry, pressing closely upon America and Russia, imports 99 per cent of its ore. But it is desperate for new plant sites at waterside.

Some firms are locating overseas, of course, partly or mainly to ease the pain of foreign limits on Japanese imports. Giant SONY, top electronics producer, has an expanding plant at San Diego and soon will raise one in Britain's Wales. Another company is negotiating for a plant in "underdeveloped" Scotland.

All these activities, as indicated, must be managed in a highly sensitized world. Japanese cringe over Tanaka's Southeast Asia troubles, and over headlines blaring "Japan Invades Scotland."

The government is reinforcing guidelines intended to soften difficulties. Hiding and promotion of native personnel is crucial. Outfits like SONY have elaborate training programs, not merely to try to assure touted Japanese quality control, but to develop native managers so Japanese enterprisers can stay in the background.

Where the Japanese do appear in any numbers, they are being freshly warned against clinging together in exclusive, isolated colonies which arouse resentment — if not envy. Some of the bad feeling probably is inescapable. It is the price of economic greatness and hence dominance, as the United States and that faded giant, Britain, learned long ago.

Your Birthday By Stella Wilder

SUNDAY, April 7—Born today, you have tremendous self-assurance and should be able to accomplish whatever tasks are set for you, not only with dispatch, but with great accuracy.

Highly dependable, you refuse to take one of those assignments which you do not believe yourself capable of completing in good time and order. On the other hand, if you do agree to take on a given responsibility, others can be certain of your keeping to your agreement—in both the letter and the spirit of it.

You have considerably more business sense than you are sometimes given credit for. You have seldom made a poor investment, an unwise speculative move—though, because you have done nothing to broadcast your successes in this particular field, there are few who realize your accomplishments in it.

Even in the face of great difficulties, you are usually able to pull your own and other people's chestnuts out of the fire, saving not only reputations but material goods as well.

Firmly self-disciplined, you need no one to give you a boost up the ladder of success. You know how to parlay small advantages into giant steps forward, how to cash in on mistakes—your own and those of others—and how to get the best out of coworkers and even out of your superiors on the employment scene. Doubtful and excessive moves you wish no part of; steady progression, however, is your "thing."

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, April 8
ARIES (March 21-April 19)—There is much to be done today if you would fulfill your potential. Don't hang back simply because you are too modest to blow your own horn.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)—An excellent time for progress among individuals. Take your time before accepting an offer to work with a group, however; there things may not go so well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)—Promote your own talents and abilities. Fulfill your ambition to accomplish something creative and highly original. Be your own best agent.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)—There may be a number of obstacles to your gaining your ends today—but you should behave as though there were nothing to stop you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)—Evaluate your own mistakes and you are well on the way to improvement. Don't rely on another's value judgment; he may be too subjective to be relied upon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)—Established procedures should be good enough to get you where you want to go today. Don't be too quick to change your method of operation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)—Though you may doubt the validity of another's arguments, today is not the best time to say so. Make an effort to go along with another—for the time being.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)—So long as you can be down-to-earth in your judgment of your own work, you need not ask for another opinion. Otherwise, you would do well to seek help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)—Refuse to change your method of operation at the whim of one who may or may not know what you are aiming for. Consult a professional.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)—Though you may feel some annoyance at another's suggestions, you would be wise not to discount them altogether. There is much to recommend study.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)—If new trends disturb you, you don't have to go along with them—at least not for the present. Give yourself time to adjust to circumstances.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)—Though the day holds little promise of success where old goals are concerned, new aims stand a very good chance of being achieved.

Mule Upkeep Is Zooming

FAYETTE, Mo. (UPI)—Howard Sartain's mules won a walkaway victory over the machine age years ago. Now they're on a collision course with inflation—a fight Sartain says they already have won.

"Sure, I'm keeping my mules," he said. "They do everything a tractor can do and sometimes more and you sure don't have much feeling for a tractor. I'm fond of my mules."

Sartain and his four nameless mules farm 250 acres of mid-Missouri land, mostly in hay because, "We're going more into livestock."

"Those mules plow, they disk, they do all there is to do—except once in a while I hire a tractor for some extra heavy work."

Sartain said that so far as he knows, "I'm the only farmer—anyway the only one around here—who still works mules for what a Missouri mule's intended." The cost of mule upkeep, like everything else is zooming.

"A horse collar used to cost maybe $5," Sartain said. "Now it's $20 when you can find one—which is only one place over in

California's Newest Service Is 'Rent-A-Tree'

SEBASTOPOL, Calif. (AP)—California's newest rental service is "Rent-a-Tree."

For as little as $25 a year, Michael Martin and Jerry Abbott will rent an apple tree in their 13-acre orchard in this lush Russian River country 60 miles north of San Francisco.

With the fee go full picking, sitting and climbing rights. Only chopping is frowned upon. The owners take care of all the less romantic chores such as pruning, spraying and propping.

"Our motto is 'We Care for Your Tree,'" Martin, a 35-year-old former social worker, said in an interview Monday. "It will give people from the city a chance for some unusual recreation in the country."

"We also hope it will give us a profitable way of harvesting apples by eliminating the middlemen," Martin said. He said he and Abbott, a 36-year-old attorney, both have "been in apples all our lives," and bought the orchard bit by bit over the past few years.

Customers will be able to choose from among more than 100 trees, priced according to the number of apples they yield at harvest time.

Martin said the $25 variety is good for about three boxes of apples, while a few giant trees that rent for $150 apiece can fill up to 60 boxes.

Each rented tree will carry a redwood plaque on a chain giving the name of its tenant. Renters will have free use of a grove of fir trees for picnicking.

"We're selling more than apples," Martin said. "Although they'll have only one tree, they'll be able to enjoy the whole orchard."

Martin said he and Abbott got the idea for "Rent-a-Tree" from similar experiments that have succeeded in the eastern United States and Europe.

The first trees will be available for rental this weekend during a local apple blossom festival, Martin said.

Gas Prices
In Illinois
Stabilizing

CHICAGO (AP)—Gasoline prices in Illinois appear to be stabilizing and nearly one service station in four is opening up for Sunday sale, says the Chicago Motor Club.

The motor club found in a statewide survey that 22 per cent of stations surveyed in the Chicago area planned to be open while 23 per cent of those downstate would be open.

No Chicago area stations reported using a daily quota system on the purchase of gas and only 2 per cent said they were imposing dollar limits on sales, the motor club said.

About 6 per cent of the downstate operators continued limited sales and 4 per cent said they were operating on a daily quota basis.

Most stations checked said the fuel outlook for next week is as good or better than this week.

The average price of regular gas in the Chicago area this week was $6.2 compared to $5.5 a week ago. The average Downstate was $6.3 compared to $6.

When we become mired in the routine of life, one day is like any other. This was just another working-day for most of the people in Jerusalem.
Three men died on Calvary Hill. One of them was the Galilean!
Business as usual in Jerusalem. Unless we understand the whole significance of what is happening we pay little attention...
Do you understand what happened that Friday? Do you realize WHO hung on that central Cross? Do you know WHY He died? And FOR WHOM?
There is nothing more necessary in our lives than the deep, personal knowledge of what happened that Friday... and the Sunday following.
Come to Church!

Jury Indicts American Ship Building Co.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted the American Ship Building Co. and its board chairman Friday, charging they contributed illegally to campaign funds of President Nixon and influential members of Congress.

The executive, George M. Steinbrenner III, 43, of Bay Village, was charged with conspiracy, five counts of illegal campaign contributions; two counts of helping individuals make false statements to the FBI; four counts of obstruction of justice and two counts of obstruction of criminal investigation.

Steinbrenner is majority owner of the New York Yankees baseball team.

At the President's banquet Saturday Mrs. Wald, president-elect of the Chi chapter, served as its representative. Mrs. Robert Dougherty is the current president. The speaker was Marcella Harris of Rockford.

Convict Peskin On 3 Counts In Federal Court

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal court jury has convicted former Illinois state Rep. Bernard Peskin of bribery, conspiracy and filing false income statements in a suburban rezoning scheme.

Twenty-four hours of deliberations concluded Thursday night when the jury handed down the verdict, which also cleared Peskin on two other counts of bribery and a tax evasion charge.

The 51-year-old attorney was accused of using his law office to channel money from the Kaufman and Broad Inc. construction firm to village officials of suburban Hoffman Estates, in connection with zoning changes for building a suburban housing complex.

The jury was called back to court Thursday night by Judge Frank McGarr of U.S. District Court after it had failed to reach a verdict during two previous nights of deliberations. He asked the jurors if they could reach a unanimous decision, and about half an hour later, they did.

Campaigns

Lyndon Johnson is too good for the President. "While they were allowed huge deductions for contributing their papers to the government, President Nixon is not," Thomas said.

The White House said Wednesday, in announcing Nixon's decision to pay the additional taxes and interest for the years 1969-1972, that any errors in his tax returns "were made by those to whom he delegated the responsibility for preparing his returns and were made without his knowledge and without his approval."

"If a taxpayer looks over his return and signs it and sends it in, presumably he knows what's on the return," the IRS spokesman said.

American Ship, of Lorain, was charged with conspiracy and willful violation of a federal campaign contribution law.

Besides the Nixon campaign, the indictment said, illegal contributions were made to campaign organizations for Rep. Charles A. Mosher, R-Ohio; Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Indiana, and Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; the late Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio; and various congressional dinner committees.

Robert E. Bartlome, American Ship secretary, and Stanley J. Lepkowski, treasurer-comptroller, were named as unindicted coconspirators.

Bartlome and Lepkowski were granted immunity from prosecution when they testified earlier that Steinbrenner and American Ship counsel John H. Melcher ordered them to lie to the FBI about funneling illegal corporate contributions to Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Melcher wasn't mentioned in the indictment, though a number of other American Ship employees were.

Steinbrenner said in New York that he is "totally innocent, and we will prove it in court, where the case belongs."

If convicted of all counts, Steinbrenner could be fined $85,000 and sentenced to 55 years in prison, said U.S. Atty. Frederick M. Coleman. He said the company could be fined up to $20,000.

The indictment said the alleged violations occurred between September 1970 and September 1973.

A Nixon campaign committee got $37,200, the indictment said. It also said Bow and Inouye groups were given $500 each, the Hartke and Mosher panels $1,000 each, national Democratic congressional dinner groups $6,000 and the Senate-House Majority Dinner $14,000.

Bartlome testified to the Senate Watergate committee that $100,000 was sent by courier to Herbert V. Kalmbach at Nixon's reelection committee in Washington just in time to avoid having donors named publicly under a new federal law. The law applied to contributions made after April 7, 1972.

He told the committee that employees provided $25,000 and were reimbursed through bonuses from the company. He said Steinbrenner provided the rest.

Friday's indictment charged that the illegal contributions were made by Steinbrenner's having Bartlome tell employees what candidates were to receive funds, having the employees write personal checks for the amounts, and then arranging that the employees received bogus bonuses as reimbursement.

It also said that Steinbrenner directed employees to submit fictitious expense vouchers to create a cash fund from which the reimbursements were made.

Cash

The dismissed count was one of three in the indictment charging obstruction of justice. Each encompassed a specific time period during which the government claimed the conspiracy was active.

The effect of throwing out the one count was minimal. The other two cover most of the alleged sequence of events. However it reduces the maximum possible sentence upon conviction from 50 years to 45 years for each defendant.

Nixon was the second of the President's two brothers to testify at the trial, now ending its seventh week.

"COME TOGETHER" SET FOR SUNDAY

Chicago Alderman Wigoda Indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Alderman Paul T. Wigoda was indicted on charges of accepting an illegal $50,000 payment in connection with a City Council rezoning action and filing a false income tax statement.

The indictment was handed down one day after a jury in U.S. District Court convicted former state Rep. Bernard Peskin of bribery and tax fraud in connection with a suburban zoning case.

Wigoda, 51, was accused of obtaining the money in exchange for a favorable rezoning vote by the City Council. The indictment said the sum was paid by Roy Gottlieb and Kenneth Tucker, partners in the Edgewater Company, which in 1965 purchased the 92-acre Edgewater Golf Course.

Wage, Price Legislation Tabled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee dealt a probably fatal blow Friday to the Nixon administration's hopes to extend the Cost of Living Council beyond April 30.

By a 21-10 vote, the committee tabled all legislation concerning wage and price controls, the Economic Stabilization Act and the extension of the council.

The Senate already has killed all pending controls bills.

The size of the vote indicated attempts to resuscitate controls legislation would face stiff resistance.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-Pa., objected even to having a meeting on the subject, since the majority of the committee had opposed extending the council or mandatory controls over health and construction industries, which the administration had also requested.

Reps. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, and William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., pushed for some form of standby authority to permit reimposition of controls if inflation worsens.

The administration originally hoped to get Congress to extend mandatory wage and price controls over health and some other industries. This week, however, director John T. Dunlop said the council would accept a bill proposed by Rep. J. William Stanton, R-Ohio, which would end controls but keep the council alive as a research and data-gathering agency.

In May 1967 the firm sought a rezoning to allow a residential planned development on the property.

On March 14, 1969, Wigoda voted with the majority of the City Council to approve the zoning change.

The two-count indictment said Wigoda, aided by Robert E. Haskins, a lawyer for Tucker and Gottlieb, "wrongfully used his position as a Chicago City Council Alderman" to receive a $50,000 cash payment "under color of official right."

Haskins was not named as a defendant in the indictment. He testified under a grant of immunity before the special grand jury that returned the indictment.

The indictment said that Wigoda's 1969 income tax return gross income should have been "substantially in excess" of the listed gross income of $58,964.91.

The golf course was purchased for $8 million and its value rose after the zoning change. The state bought 55 acres for $8 million, which it made the Laurence C. Warren State Park. The Chicago Park District sought the rest of the property.

Wigoda is a Daley organization Democrat and law partner of Alderman Thomas Keane, Daley's floor leader in the City Council. He was the fifth Chicago alderman indicted on federal charges in the past two years.

No hearing date has been set.

Domestic Crude Oil Production Declining

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — While American motorists thirsted for gasoline at the height of the Arab oil embargo, domestic crude oil production continued the gradual decline that had begun almost a year before.

Domestic crude oil production has declined more than 250,000 barrels a day since the October start of the embargo.

In mid-October 1973, United States production was averaging 8,941,000 barrels a day. By mid-March, the average was 8,688,000 a decline of 253,000 barrels a day.

Between them, Texas and Louisiana, the nation's two largest producing states, account for 222,000 barrels of the decline.

The production drop is a continuation of a slow decline that began early in 1973 after a small and short-lived upward swing.

Federal and state officials say wells in both states are producing practically every barrel possible under maximum efficient rate formulas but that well abandonments and declining production from old wells is not being offset by new production.

The maximum efficient rate is the one at which state regulatory agencies say a well can be pumped without damaging the oil reservoir. If pushed beyond the rate, the well might be able to produce more oil for a time, but the reservoir's pressure might be released too rapidly and less oil would be produced over the life of the well.

Some industry critics have charged that production could be raised above these rates without reservoir damage, but the state commissions who regulate oil production disagree.

The National Petroleum Council, a federal advisory group made up of oil industry executives, recommended in November that some oil fields be raised above their maximum efficient rates to help meet shortages. The council said that production could be increased for a short time without damage to reservoirs. The council's recommendation was disputed and not followed by the commissions.

The council also recommended that military reserves at Elk Hills, Calif., be tapped. That required congressional approval which did not come, despite support for the idea from the White House.

Prof. M. A. Adelman, a respected oil economist from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, says there are several fields in Texas which are being operated below the maximum efficiency rates. He says these fields were the basis of part of the petroleum council's recommendation. He said many oil industry experts and the commissions say the fields cannot be pushed. He says he cannot tell from either side's explanation what could or could not be done.

But he says the argument really doesn't make much difference since the amount of oil is so small. He said the council was really saying: "You can do a little but you can't do much." The council's recommendations would have produced an additional 330,000 barrels of oil a day, 150,000 of the total from the Elk Hills reserve, the council said. That is not a substantial amount of oil when compared to U.S. needs of about 19 million barrels a day.

The state regulatory commissions were created to limit the production of oil during the days when overproduction caused the price of a barrel to drop to as low as dime, threatening the industry with financial ruin. By limiting production they succeeded in raising the price to more profitable levels.

Now the commissions describe their function as one of "conservation"—of assuring that the maximum amount of oil is drawn from wells at the most efficient rate.

Washington attorney Lee C. White, formerly a member of the Federal Power Commission, says the commissions can be described as domestic versions of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, OPEC. OPEC countries control nearly two-thirds of the world's known oil reserves and have recently quadrupled the price of crude.

White feels the state commissions over the years have achieved the same ends as OPEC: they have controlled production to keep the price of oil up.

"If you have a product, one you can control the level of, it doesn't take an M.A. from Harvard Business to figure out the product becomes more dear," he says. "You can sell less for more."

White also says the commissions suffer from too much influence from the major oil companies.

But Adelman says the charge that the commissions are little OPECs no longer has any validity. He says it was true in the past, but now that quotas have been lifted on imported oil, the commissions "no longer have the whole U.S. supply under their control."

All criticism about the role of commissions is really beside the point, Adelman says. There is no way domestic production can be increased in the near future, he says. The decline will continue.

"We are losing a little production each month," said Jim C. Langdon, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission which has held Texas under a 100 per cent production factor since April 1972.

"It is startling and sort of scary if you start projecting this thing," said Thomas M. Winfield, chief engineer of the Louisiana Department of Conservation. "It is solely due to lack of drilling for new reserves. We've had just a modest increase in drilling since the price of crude increased."

Since mid-October, American Petroleum Institute figures show that Texas production has dropped from 3,615,000 to 3,530,000 barrels of crude oil a day, Louisiana from 1,961,000 to 1,824,000.

Excluding Alaska, U.S. proved oil reserves peaked in 1961 at 31.7 billion barrels but have declined in nine of the 12 years since then, including the last seven years. They now are estimated at 25.3 billion.

Domestic drilling operations declined from a record 58,000 well completions in 1958 to about 26,000 last year.

The drilling slump also has hastened the shutdown of low production stripper wells, those that produce 10 barrels or less a day.

Langdon and Winfield are hopeful this trend is now being reversed. Stripper well oil is now exempt from federal price controls and is selling for about $10 a barrel, versus just under $4 less than a year ago.

Agents Confiscate SLA, Hearst Papers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Federal agents went to the office of an underground newspaper's attorney Friday and confiscated documents sent by the terrorist group that kidnapped newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, the FBI said.

"They just came in with a search warrant and snatched it," said John Bryan, editor of the San Francisco Phoenix. "They had earlier asked me for the material and I refused to divulge it."

Bryan said materials sent from the revolutionary Symbionese Liberation Army were held for safekeeping in the office safe of his attorney, Vincent Hallinan, in San Francisco.

A search warrant, filed by Thomas P. Druken, assistant special FBI agent in charge, said the FBI has reason to believe that Hallinan or his office had

Cars Collide On E. Morton

City police investigated a two-car accident at the intersection of Hardin and East Morton about 12:06 a.m. Friday.

A northbound auto driven by Tommy R. White, 48, of 820 E. Lafayette apparently pulled into the path of an eastbound auto driven by Randy L. Wright, 18, of Alexander.

White suffered minor injuries but did not require hospital treatment. He was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

"certain property, namely one envelope and contents, including communications and attachments from the so-called SLA to the Phoenix newspaper, which are evidence of offenses against the laws of the United States, to wit kidnapping and mailing threatening communications."

Druken also said, "I believe certain information (is present) pertaining to the kidnapping fingerprints, type and slant or handwriting exemplars, postmarks or other evidentiary material."

The SLA sent the biweekly Phoenix a message Tuesday with a dozen roses saying it would reveal within 72 hours the exact time and place of the release of Miss Hearst.

With the taped message was half of a driver's license, which the Hearst family identified as Patricia's.

Rats Invade Chicago Suburb

Carpentersville, Ill. (UPI)—Exterminators were ordered out in full force yesterday to end an invasion of rats.

The rats started to show up two months ago when the Material Service Corp. began digging a gravel pit near this Chicago suburb.

Ken Hughes, assistant village manager, said the excavation wiped out the burrows of big Norway rats who had been living in peace there. Since rats like exactly the same food as do human beings, they started showing up in Carpentersville.

Now, it is estimated, there may be as many as 250,000 rats around Carpentersville, a town of 25,000. If something isn't done, it is feared, they could multiply to 500,000 within eight weeks.

James Neyems, a regional engineer for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said, "I don't want to alarm anybody, but do you remember the Black Plague that swept Europe in the Middle Ages? That was typhus and that was transmitted by rats."

Hughes indicated he did not think conditions were all that alarming, but said of alarmists, "You can't say they're wrong, because we don't know."

"To many people, rats are the most frightening animals on earth. It is a disease carrying animal. It is true that a lot of people are afraid to let their kids play in the back yards. We have quite a few scared people, frightened people who need help."

Cong Overrun Outpost

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong overran a third South Vietnamese outpost north of Saigon in as many days Friday, capturing a government fire base 55 miles north of the capital after a barrage of several hundred mortar shells.

Military sources said the base that fell in the early morning attack was situated nine miles south of An Loc, where government troops were marking the second anniversary of that city's siege.

A whole 2,600-man regiment of the Viet Cong's 7th Division took over fire base Chi Linh after breaking up the government militiamen's defense guarding a 100-yard bridge leading to the base, the sources said.

The base was manned by about 200 men but most of them had been moved out to defend the bridge against a Viet Cong attack Thursday, the sources said.

Communist gunners fired several hundred 82mm mortar rounds into the militia defense post before smashing into the base, the sources said. Radio contact was lost, they added, and there has been no word about the fate of the defenders since then.

Business Mirror

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)

Where in the world is everyone going all the time, and why? Never before have people had more reason to ask why they are running about, what with the gasoline shortage and rising fares.

In 1929, Americans spent less than $8 billion on transportation. Now they spend around $100 billion in a year's time. Whereas coming and going accounted for less than 10 per cent of personal expenditures in 1929, it now approaches 14 per cent.

The situation is coming into more critical focus every day. Gasoline is in short supply. Urban mass transportation systems are urgently required. Some railroads are on welfare; some airlines seek that role.

Never has there been a bigger demand for transportation. But probably never either have the economics of transportation been so confused. Demand usually means profits for the sellers, but it isn't always so in transportation.

This week the trustees of the Penn Central Transportation Co. announced they will seek $400 million in federal grants and indicated they might consider selling the line's assets if the money wasn't forthcoming.

On the same day, the nation's two international airlines, Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for annual subsidies that could exceed $300 million.

While their reason, the spiraling cost of fuel, was unique, their request wasn't. Back in 1968, the federal government tried to bail out Northeast Airlines, which since has become part of Delta Air Lines.

Regional and local service airlines also receive subsidies so that they will offer service to communities with insufficient traffic to provide a free market incentive.

Where is everyone going? A West Coast executive "commutes" each week to New York or Washington.

You can't do business with bankers or senators over the telephone," he explains. He doesn't quite come up with an answer when asked if the duties couldn't be delegated to someone in the East.

Venezuela Carefully Eyes Oil Industry Takeover

By KIM FUAD
CARACAS (UPI)

Venezuela's ruling party plans to make haste slowly in nationalizing the country's giant foreign-owned oil industry that supplies almost 1.7 million barrels daily.

"Nationalization must not be delayed," according to the "Accion Democratica" (AD) party's oil spokesman, Arturo Hernandez Grisanti, "but precipitate action must be avoided."

AD swept to power in the Dec. 9 elections here, winning a majority in both houses of Congress where nationalization of the oil industry is now under debate. The opposition parties call for immediate action.

The left-of-center government party agrees with other parties that there is a political consensus favoring state takeover of the $4.7 billion industry. It warns, however, that Venezuela's private business sector, fearful of the economic repercussions of nationalization of the country's cornerstone industry, must also be consulted.

Hernandez Grisanti, stating his party's position in Congress last month, said that while it will be Congress and the executive that will decide on how nationalization will be carried out, broad consultation must be made to achieve a genuine national consensus.

advantage of an income tax deduction and a group fare rate to Paris and Rome, so they can further their education in the great museums. Have they mastered all the museums at home? Embarrassing question.

Everyone has what he considers a logical explanation for going from one place to another. The government encourages it. Advertisers promote it as the modern way to live. Nobody tries to defend staying in place; it isn't the thing to do.

But as the bills grow and the deficits mount, public and private, staying around home could be provided with the most reasonable, logical defense of all.

Witness Says UMW Election Delayed Killing

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — A prosecution witness testified Friday at the murder trial of W. A. "Tony" Boyle that the planned assassination of Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski had to be postponed because it was too close to a United Mine Workers union presidential election.

William J. Prater, a former UMW organizer, said he was told that "Yablonski didn't need to be killed before the election because it had been determined that Tony Boyle would win."

Prater said he was told on Nov. 20, 1969, that the plan to kill Yablonski, Boyle's opponent in the election, had to be postponed because the election was too close and "people would think Yablonski was killed to keep him from the presidency."

Prater said that on Dec. 17, 1969, Albert Pass, then secretary-treasurer of UMW District 19, "told me he had received the green light to go ahead and kill Yablonski."

"He told me to increase the amount to $15,000 and that would be paid if Joe Yablonski was killed before the first of the year."

Observers feel that AD's stand implies that actual takeover of the industry will not come until next year, following study by Congress and a special commission of experts named by President Carlos Andres Perez.

Grisanti, who officially is AD's oil expert, stressed Venezuela's role as the world's third ranking oil exporting nation and said that the country's traditional clients would be guaranteed oil supplies after nationalization.

"They have nothing to fear," he said. Among the customers Grisanti referred to are the United States, which imports 1.7 million barrels per day, Latin America and the Caribbean countries, Europe, and Canada.

What remains to be determined is the amount of compensation to be paid to U.S. and other foreign oil firms operating here and what system will replace the private companies, Grisanti said.

Under existing laws, the companies must hand the state their fields and installations as their 40-year concession agreements on some 5.5 million acres expire, between 1983 and 1997, with no compensation.

Advancing the takeover date means, according to most parties, that the state will have to pay compensation, using the net book value of unamortized investments, now estimated at about $1.3 billion.

Report Concern Over Fate Of Kidnaped Exec

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Esso Argentina Oil Co. spokesman Friday reported "growing concern" over the fate of kidnaped executive Victor E. Samuelson for whose release the company gave leftist guerrillas a record $14.2 million ransom 25 days ago.

"In the company there is growing concern," the spokesman said. "Up to the payment of the ransom and a few days afterward we had evidence of Mr. Samuelson's good health. But since then these guys have just disappeared."

Samuelson, 37, of Cleveland, was kidnaped by a squad of riflemen from the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) who invaded the Esso plant he managed 50 miles north of Buenos Aires.

Last week the same spokesman said the company's "intelligence reports" indicated that Samuelson was in good health and "as far as we are concerned he is alive. There is no reason to believe the opposite."

Friday's statement was the first by Esso suggesting that the ransom may have been paid in vain.

Esso, a subsidiary of Exxon Corp. sent ERP leaders 142,000 one hundred dollar bills March 11, and published an ERP-dictated communique that said the guerrillas would "return to the people... a small part of the superprofits the Esso Company obtains in the country through exploitation of its workers."

The ERP also is holding two Argentine army colonels, including one kidnaped a month before Samuelson.

Soybean Futures Trend Lower

(AP) — Soybean futures came under heavy selling pressure the past week and fell 70 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trades, marking a total loss of $1.08 in two weeks.

Most other commodities on the nation's major exchanges trended lower.

Corn, oats, soybean meal and oil and wheat also were lower on the CBOT.

At least one soybean or soy oil option was down the limit on 4 of the 5 trading days.

Shell egg futures declined on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, while cattle futures were lower and live hogs and pork bellies closed on mixed tones.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, burdened by another rise in banks' prime lending rates, sank heavily Friday in continued sluggish trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 11.35 to 847.54, while losers outnumbered gainers by more than 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The NYSE's broad-based index encompassing all its listed common stocks fell .70 to 49.55, its lowest close since Feb. 20.

Big Board turnover, at 11.67 million shares, was just a shade above Thursday's 11.65 million.

Brokers agreed the main catalyst in the decline was an increase in the prime rate from 9 1/2 to 9 3/4 per cent, posted as the market opened by New York's First National City Bank and quickly duplicated at many other banks across the country during the day.

Friday's downswing focused particularly on glamor growth stocks and other issues favored by institutional investors, notably several oil-service issues. In the oil service group, Halliburton tumbled 5 1/4 to 144, Fluor was off 2 1/4 at 28 1/2, J. Ray McDermott lost 2 1/4 to 70 1/4, and Schlumberger was down 4 1/4 at 100 1/4.

Among other glimmers, IBM was down 6 1/4 to 233 1/2, Texas Instruments slipped 2 1/4 to 95 1/4, Digital Equipment lost 3 1/4 to 103, and MGIC Investment was off 1 1/4 to 33 1/4.

Gold was also hit hard, with Dome mines down 5 1/4 at 185 1/2, Campbell Red Moog at 49 1/2, and Yrago Lake off 4 at 91 1/2, and Homestake down 3 1/4 at 88 1/2.

British Petroleum, the x-New 1974 low.

Big Board volume leader, was off 1/4 at 12 1/2 after a 100,000-share block changed hands at that price.

Syntex, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, was down 2 at 45 1/2. A 148,800-share block was traded at 45. The company attributed recent activity in its stock to "unfounded" reports about two of its new drugs.

The Amex's market-value index was down .62 at 95.91.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Traveler's leis hold memories

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I brought two leis from Hawaii. One was of orchids and the other of gardenias. They are drying and I am sure I have heard of a recipe for making sachet bags or filling apothecary jars with these but cannot remember what goes with them. I do hope some readers can help me preserve these treasured memories. — JENNIE

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the makers of quick drying clothes in which they elastic so long to dry that the delicate fabrics in some garments could be ruined from the heat. — TONIA

DEAR POLLY — Tell Pat her little girl will never lose her mittens if she would crochet a yarn chain that goes from one mitten to the other. Make it long enough to pull up through one coat sleeve, across and down the other sleeve. I did this and my two girls never lost their mittens again. — MRS. C.E.C.

DEAR POLLY — Dotell Pat who buys several identical pairs of mittens to have a matching pair when mittens are lost that shoe strings are much cheaper. She can sew each end of a long string to the back of the wrist of a mitten so the string goes across the back of the child's neck. Then the coat is put on. By taking off the mittens and then the coat they can be left in the sleeves so they are always with the coat. No more lost mittens. — LEONA

DEAR POLLY — When our heat is turned down or rooms are chilly for any reason, sheets can feel damp and clammy when one goes to bed but a hair dryer can double as a very efficient bed warmer if one does not have an electric blanket. When ready to retire, stuff a pillow between the two sheets to form a pocket-like arrangement. Place your dryer on the bed, set on "Hot," insert the hose in the pocket between the sheets. In a few minutes remove the dryer and the pillow. Stand by while warming the bed. You'll find it will stay warm for a surprisingly long time. — MADGE

DEAR POLLY — There were several marks that had been made with a magic marker on one of my painted walls. When the entire wall was repainted the marks reappeared when it was dry. I went over the spots several times but they continued to appear when the paint dried. I was using a latex paint. Finally I tried covering the marks with a thin coat of colorless nail polish, let it dry and then painted over with one coat of paint and that was the end of the marks. Hope this saves a headache for some other reader. — EUNICE

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Exercise benefits for double amputee

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a double amputee. Would I benefit from bike riding (stationary bike) since only my left leg can do the pedaling? Since I have a heart condition I realize the need for exercise, but the cold weather has cut down on my attempts to walk.

Also, I have been on Coumadin for almost four years. One doctor strongly favors stopping the Coumadin — claiming there is the risk of bleeding. Several others disagree, and since I am doing well they care not to "rock the boat."

DEAR READER — You should check with your doctor familiar with the amount of heart damage you have before embarking on an exercise program. The value of exercise comes from working the body muscles. This in turn requires the heart to work harder to deliver more oxygen to the working muscles. In a sense, exercise is used indirectly to exercise the heart muscle.

It really doesn't make any difference that you are a double amputee. If you do the same amount of physical work that would be involved in pedaling a bicycle you will work some muscles in your body the same amount. This in turn would work your heart muscle. You might also profit from exercise devices that exercise your abdominal muscles and arm and shoulder muscles. In short, it really doesn't matter which muscles are exercised as long as the amount of exercise is great enough to significantly work the heart muscle. This usually means that large muscle groups are the most effective, hence the emphasis on the leg-type exercises.

Regarding Coumadin to keep your blood from clotting, you won't get a unanimous agreement. There are pros and cons to both views. However, for a person who has been on the medicine for some time and has done well, I am inclined to recommend he continue. You see, I'm not inclined to "rock the boat," either.

DEAR DR. LAMB — It is my understanding that after menopause a woman cannot get pregnant two years after the last period.

I am 57 and have had two periods in the last two years, brought on by stilbestrol. Can I discount these periods brought on artificially? Or, can I still get pregnant?

DEAR READER — In general if you are past 52 and it has been two years since you have had a natural period you are most unlikely to get pregnant. No doctor likes to say categorically that you can't, because there is always that rare exception. But, your chances are better than the woman using almost any kind of birth control measure, short of avoiding any exposure.

The artificial periods induced by stopping birth control pills for a time, or those induced by any other means don't count. They have no relation to the ovaries' functions. The main interest is in determining if the ovaries are still capable of releasing an ovum. That is not necessarily related to menstruation and has no relation to an artificially induced menstruation by pills or hormones.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

There is an old expression. "When in doubt, lead trumps." We prefer the expression, "When not in doubt, lead trumps."

West was in real doubt about what to lead. He didn't like to lead an ace. Leading away from an ace appeared even less desirable. A lead from four to the jack tends to be suicidal. So finally, West led the 10 of trumps.

East took his ace and played back the jack and it was up to South to carry on from there.

South's first play was to cash his king of clubs. His next lead was a low diamond. This gave West an excellent chance to be a goat. If he had been careless and played second hand low South would have been in dummy with the queen and able to discard his five of hearts on the ace of clubs.

West wasn't careless. He studied a while, went up with the ace of diamonds and led a diamond right back. South could never get to dummy and had to lose two heart tricks in the cool of the evening.

West's fine play really could not cost his side anything. If South held K-x-x of diamonds, he would finesse dummy's 10 after a low play from West.

Cold Weather For Cub Start

MONTREAL (AP) — Mukluks and mitts could be the standard dress of the day for fans when the Montreal Expos take the field Saturday for their National League home opener against the Chicago Cubs.

With right-hander Steve Renko, 15-11 last year, scheduled to start against newcomer Bill Bonham of the Cubs, the weather forecast called for temperatures of 35 to 40 degrees and either snow or rain showers by the 2:15 p.m., EDT, game time.

Members of this year's Expos squad, described Friday by General Manager Jim Fanning and Manager Gene Mauch as the best club Montreal has fielded since entering the league in 1969, found out in a hurry about the vagaries of the city's spring time.

More than 1,000 fans gathered at a downtown mall at lunch time as the players were introduced to the public.

Cannon And Fireworks For Season Start

Wrapped in warmup jackets over their uniforms, the players huddled in groups to escape the raw winds. But the 45-degree temperature and cold wind did not appear to dampen the enthusiasm of the crowd.

Four newcomers — catcher Barry Foote, second baseman Jim Cox, relief pitcher Don DeMola, and center fielder Willie Davis — joined the annual ceremony.

DeMola, a right-hander, was assured a place on the club's 25-man opening-day roster by the sale Friday of Bill Stoneman to the California Angels of the American League.

In addition to the new faces, the Expos will present an almost entirely new lineup for their opener, with shortstop Tim Foli and Ken Singleton in right field the only holdovers in position.

Iowa Staff Now Complete

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — University of Iowa basketball Coach Lute Olson said Friday he has completed his staff with the appointments of Dick Kuchen and Floyd Theard.

Kuchen, 29, a member of the Hawkeye staff the last four years, will serve as Olson's top assistant and co-ordinate recruiting.

Theard, 29, a Chicago native, will head the varsity reserve program and be in charge of scouting.

"Both men have solid basketball backgrounds," said Olson, who replaced Dick Schulz as head coach March 18.

Kuchen is a graduate of Rider College in New Jersey and was on the basketball staff at Washington University in Missouri before coming to Iowa in 1970.

Theard coached Manual High School in Denver, Colo. to second place in the AAA state high school tournament this year. He is a 1967 graduate of Kentucky State and holds a masters degree from Northern Colorado University.

Theard also played with the American Basketball Association's Denver Rockets during the 1970-71 season.

tions they held at the end of last year's tight East Division race.

Davis will patrol center field on a full-time basis, while Foote appears to have the No. 1 catching job in the bag, with Terry Humphrey as backup.

The field was in fair shape Friday—a little soft in spots—but a club spokesman said it would be "playable" Saturday unless a significant amount of rain or snow falls before the game got under way.

Cannon And Fireworks For Season Start

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tom Seaver ... Steve Carlton ... Cannon Man ... Fireworks. Fans will see them all Saturday when the National League champion New York Mets and the Philadelphia Phillies open their 1974 baseball season.

Actually, they'll come in reverse order. After the National Anthem is played before the expected crowd of 45,000 at Veterans Stadium, the fun begins.

Hugo Zacchini will be shot out of a cannon in center field.

Hopefully, the Phillies' management says, Zacchini will land in a net at home plate with the first ball of the season. He says he'll travel 175 feet at 90 miles an hour.

The fans hope he has better luck than "Kiteman." You remember Kiteman, don't you? He was supposed to swoop off a platform in the right-center field stands and fly to home plate with the first ball. But it was so windy on opening day that he skidded off his 100-foot ramp and crashed into the stands—to thunderously sarcastic applause. The flight was postponed.

A few days later, when Kiteman finally swooped, uhh...dropped...he landed unceremoniously in center field after a mere 75-foot flight. It was mortifying to say the least.

After the Cannon Man shootout, Carlton takes the mound to prove that all those spring training hits, runs and walks he gave up and those nine wild pitches were but an exhibition nightmare. Phillies' manager Danny Ozark expects the real Steve Carlton to stand up.

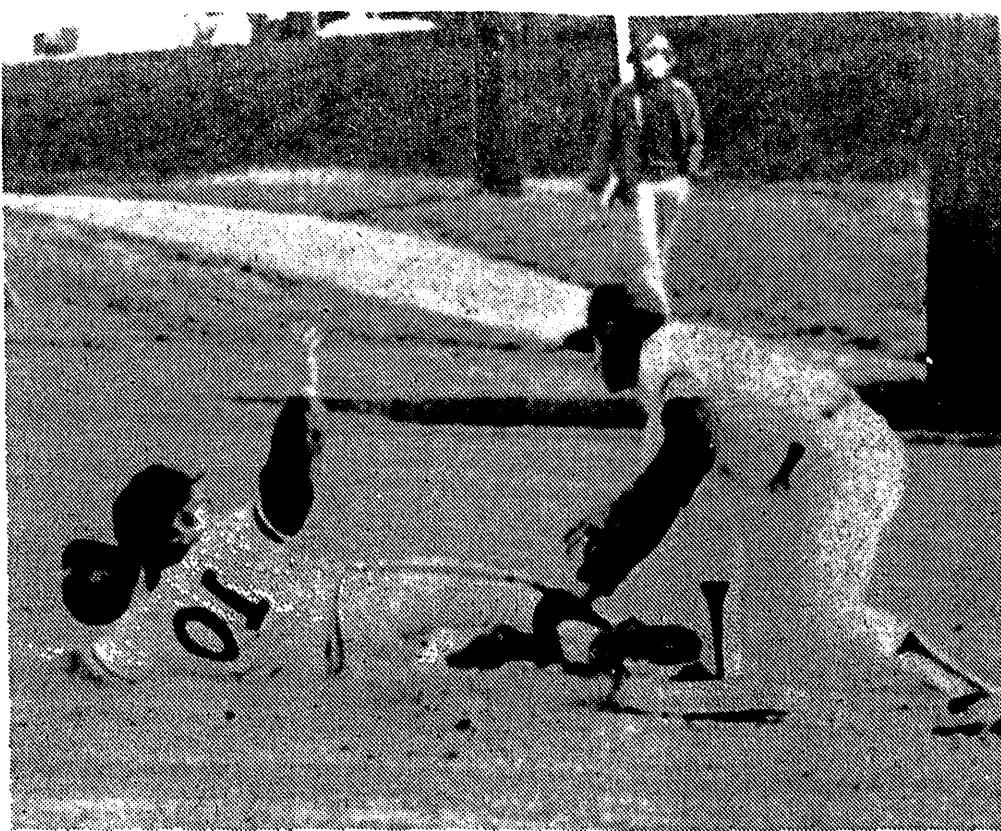

Carlton posted a 13-20 record last season after winning the Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher in 1972 by winning 27 games. He was the worst-looking pitcher this spring in the Phillies camp.

When the Phillies come to bat, there will be Seaver, last year's Cy Young Award winner, waiting to throw his bullets. Seaver won 19 and lost 11 last season. He's had a good spring and is expected to keep New York in the thick of things this season. Seaver is 16-5 lifetime against Philadelphia, Carlton 13-17 vs. New York.

Schillerstrom Hurt Blueboys Defeat Quincy By 7-6

Ron Petefish raced home in the bottom of the ninth and was safe as the catcher dropped the ball to give Illinois College a come from behind victory over Quincy, 7-6, at the Blueboys' diamond Friday night.

It was a costly victory for the Blueboys, already plagued by injuries, as star pitcher Bob Schillerstrom broke his right leg midway through the game as he collided with a Quincy fielder down the first base line after he had popped the ball in the air.

Quincy scored lone tallies in the first, second and third innings for a quick 3-0 lead before the Blueboys came up with four in the bottom of the fourth. Steve Vandevender walked to start the inning and Terry Reuschel followed with a

Yaz, Griffin Guide Boston To 9-8 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the seventh inning and Doug Griffin's three-run double in the third powered the Boston Red Sox to a 9-8 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers Friday in the season opener for both clubs.

Yastrzemski's homer, following a bad-hop single by Cecil Cooper, came off rookie Kevin Kobel and overcame an 8-7 lead which the Brewers had gained with four runs in the sixth.

Griffin's double capped a five-run third, when the Red Sox took a 7-4 lead and chased Milwaukee starter Jim Colborn, a 20-game winner last year.

Reds Denied Hank's Request About King

CINCINNATI (AP) — A touch of regret slipped into one of Henry Aaron's most magnificent achievements.

The Atlanta Braves' superstar wanted the late Dr. Martin Luther King remembered before Thursday's Opening Day game, in which he ripped his record-tying 714th career home run, equalling Babe Ruth's mark.

The Cincinnati Reds denied Aaron's request.

"It would have been appropriate," Aaron said. "A moment of silence should have been held."

King was slain on April 4, 1968, in Memphis, Tenn. Dick Wagner, Reds' vice president, explained why the Cincinnati club turned down the request before the major league opener, won by the Reds, 7-6, in 11 innings.

"As a policy," Wagner said, "our club has never gotten into religious things. We don't get into politics. We don't get into race. We believe our fans come to the ballpark to be entertained. We don't do it (tributes) for Kennedy or Lincoln or for anyone else."

home run. Craig Nerone walked, with Don Petefish then hitting a single. Don Millik followed with a double to drive in the other two runs.

IC scored again in the fifth as Larry Lascody reached on an error and scored later on Nerone's single. Quincy then tied the game by scoring two in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Ron Petefish opened the ninth with a walk, with Lascody also drawing a base on balls. After a strike out, Reuschel walked to load the bases. Nerone hit the ball on the infield, but the catcher dropped the throw to the plate that would have forced Petefish.

Griese: Shocked, But Not Alarmed

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Bob Griese, quarterback of the partially depleted Miami Dolphins, says he was shocked, but not personally alarmed by the defection of three of his teammates to the new World Football League.

"I was shocked like everybody else was," he said Friday. "It was a major shock throughout pro football."

"I didn't think they were going to sign. What I figured was they'd go up there, then come back and use that to help in negotiations with the Dolphins. I think they were surprised, too. I don't think they went up there to sign."

Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield signed a multiyear package, reportedly worth $3.5 million, with the Toronto Northmen of the WFL earlier this week. The trio will play out their option year with the National Football League team before heading north in 1975.

"Everybody asks me what we're going to do a year from now," said Griese. "I don't know, but we'll do something. Preparedness is everything in football. Csonka's a great runner, but we've got Don Nottingham, too. He doesn't run as well, but he does other things—like catching passes and blocking—a little better."

"There'll have to be some adjustments made—spread the load, so to speak. But we can still win. It's just how we do it."

Griese, who played college ball at Purdue University in the 1960s, was the featured speaker at the school's annual football clinic.

He said the WFL "is great for the players. It's turning into a player's market now."

"I'm happy in Miami, but I'll listen (to the WFL). But you've got to ask yourself what price is happiness. They may offer somebody $10 million to play, but if you can only spend $2 million in your lifetime, what's the value of $10 million if you're happy where you are?"

NBC DROPS ROTE
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. confirmed Friday that Kyle Rote, former New York Giants football star and veteran NBC-TV sports commentator, has been dropped from the American Football Conference broadcasting crew.

He will be replaced by John Brodie, former San Francisco 49ers quarterback.

Rote's departure was revealed earlier this week by the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times.

The Bulls, led by Jerry Sloan, played an aggressive, belly-button defense to slow down the Pistons, who had averaged better than 50 per cent shooting from the floor in the first two games of the series.

After the Pistons jumped out ahead after their 19-point spree, Bob Love poured in six straight points to give the Bulls the lead again, 76-71.

Both teams missed hasty shots caused by an aggressive defense going down to the final minute.

Bob Lanier, held to 19 points after averaging 32.5 in the first two games of the playoff, pulled the Pistons to within a point at 82-81 but Walker, who led all scorers with 21, was fouled with 13 seconds remaining. He canned both shots to give the Bulls an 84-81 edge.

In Opener Sizemore's Single Lifts Cards, 6-5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ted Sizemore's single following a weird double play capped a two-run rally in the bottom of the 10th inning that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night in the National League opener for both clubs.

The rally included bunt hits by Bake McBride and Jose Cruz and singles by Ken Reitz, pinch-hitter Tim McCarver and Sizemore.

The Pirates had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the 10th when Richie Hebner, who hit two home runs earlier, opened the 10th inning with a double and scored on Willie Stargell's oneout single.

McBride, who drove in two earlier runs with a single and sacrifice fly, opened the 10th with a safe bunt against Pittsburgh relief ace Dave Giusti and raced to third on Reitz' single. He scored the tying run when McCarver rapped a single just out of the reach of second baseman Rennie Stennett.

Cruz, another pinch hitter, outlegged a bunt down the third base line, loading the bases and setting the stage for the unusual double play.

Moeller, Homers Boost Clan, 6-2

Rick Moeller struck out 12 Greenville hitters and gave up only two runs, and the Clan bats found the distance with three home runs as MacMurray whipped Greenville College 6-2 at the Mac diamond Friday afternoon.

Rick Pretz started the scoring for the victors, now 5-5, as he blasted the ball over the right field fence with no one on in the bottom of the third.

MacMurray added four more runs in the last of the fifth with Tim Dougherty starting off the inning as he reached on an error by the shortstop. The next two batters struck out. Curt Grote came to the plate and sent the ball over the right field fence to make it 3-0. Gary Hirstein followed with a single, Carl Tucker doubled and Ron Striker walked to fill the bases. Dain Meyer then brought in the final two runs of the inning with a single to center.

Greenville got its two runs in the top of the sixth on Goad's home run. MacMurray added its final tally on Hirstein's lead-off homer in the seventh.

Moeller, now 2-2, went the distance for MacMurray, walking two and scattering six hits.

Bulls Nip Pistons By 84-83 Tally

CHICAGO (AP) — "A lot of teams would have cracked then," Coach Dick Motta said Friday night after his Chicago Bulls allowed the Detroit Pistons to reel off 19 straight points at the start of the fourth period.

The Bulls rallied and held on to an 84-83 triumph over the Pistons to take a 2-1 lead in their National Basketball Association Western Conference semifinal playoff.

"We showed a lot of poise," Motta said. The Bulls had led the Pistons 71-57 before suffering their scoring drought at the start of the fourth period and they had to rely on Chet Walker's pair of free throws with 13 seconds remaining to insure the victory.

Motta said of Walker's free throws: "When he stepped up there I wasn't worried at all."

The Bulls, led by Jerry Sloan, played an aggressive, belly-button defense to slow down the Pistons, who had averaged better than 50 per cent shooting from the floor in the first two games of the series.

After the Pistons jumped out ahead after their 19-point spree, Bob Love poured in six straight points to give the Bulls the lead again, 76-71.

Both teams missed hasty shots caused by an aggressive defense going down to the final minute.

Bob Lanier, held to 19 points after averaging 32.5 in the first two games of the playoff, pulled the Pistons to within a point at 82-81 but Walker, who led all scorers with 21, was fouled with 13 seconds remaining. He canned both shots to give the Bulls an 84-81 edge.

Don Adams threw in a jumper with seven seconds on the clock but the Bulls held on to the ball for the victory.

Aaron's Effort Set For Viewing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hank Aaron is primed to become baseball's greatest home-run hitter in history before millions on national television Saturday...if Atlanta Manager Eddie Mathews and the weatherman cooperate.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:15 p.m., EDT, and will be televised on NBC.

"I'm ready to play, but it's up to Mathews," Aaron told a packed hotel lobby press conference Friday, when cold, wet rainy weather washed out Cincinnati and Atlanta workouts.

"I'm sure my name will be in the lineup," said the man who needs only one magic swing to hit his 715th career homer, the most ever.

Maddox's Bat, Bradley's Arm Lift SF, 5-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Garry Maddox cracked a three-run homer Friday and Tom Bradley, in his first opening-day assignment, scattered seven hits, helping the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 5-1 in the National League season opener for both teams.

Rookie Steve Ontiveros and Dave Kingman slapped runcoring singles in the fourth inning for the Giants and Maddox smashed his homer off Houston starter Dave Roberts in the fifth.

Bradley allowed only one runner to reach second base until the ninth, when the Astros broke his shut-out on singles by Greg Gross, Randy Metzger and Bob Watson. Randy Moffitt relieved Bradley and got the final two outs.

Mathews, noting the Saturday forecast called for only a high of 40 degrees, wasn't so sure.

"I won't make out the lineup until tomorrow," the Braves' pilot said. "If it's wet and cold, he may not play. I don't want to risk an injury to him."

Besides the national television audience, a crowd of 35,000 to 40,000 is expected in Riverfront Stadium.

If Aaron starts, 23-year-old left-hander Don Gullett has the job of keeping him from breaking a tie with Babe Ruth as the game's most prolific home run author.

"I've thrown balls I've thought were by him, but..." said the hard-throwing southpaw, who has yielded seven homers to the Atlanta marvel.

Aaron, always a team man, postponed any champagne celebration after hitting his 714th homer in the first inning of the opener Thursday. It was stored in the Braves clubhouse.

"I hope we can pop it soon," the quiet superstar said Friday. "It was my idea not to pop it Thursday. If we had won, I might have felt differently."

It was another big day off the field Friday for Aaron. President Nixon telephoned him congratulations.

"That's the first time he's ever called me," Aaron said. "He just offered me congratulations and wished me well. He hoped I hit No. 715 in a hurry."

If he plays Saturday, Aaron likely will sit out the final game of the series here Sunday, playing next on national television Monday night in Atlanta against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The pitchers who have been Hank Aaron's victims these past 20 years fib a little.

They say he has no discernible weakness whatsoever at the plate.

They're wrong. Hank Aaron does have a weakness, and it's a glaring one.

He doesn't know how to fake it. He wouldn't know how if he tried. That's his big weakness.

As a consequence, it is entirely possible, even rather likely he may break Babe Ruth's home-run record by hitting No. 715 in the same place he hit No. 714.

Would Prefer Atlanta
Given his choice, Aaron would prefer to hit the record breaker before the homefolks back in Atlanta, not only as a way of showing his gratitude for their support, but also because in later years he could take some of his friends out to Atlanta Stadium and say to them, "See, this is where I did it."

Hank Aaron says he plans to play in today's game with the Reds here and maybe Sunday's and nobody really would be any the wiser if he "short-armed" his swing a little bit, like a fighter does pulling a punch, or a race driver does when he lets up a trifle on the gas pedal coming out of a turn.

But to Hank Aaron that would be faking it, and something like that is entirely foreign to his nature. He would never do a thing like that because he simply doesn't go that way. He still is somewhat sensitive over Bowie Kuhn's directive to the Braves that they had better make sure they played him the same way they had in the past in these three opening games with the Reds.

Sensitivity Surfaced
That sensitivity surfaced when Aaron was asked, after hitting No. 714 off Jack Billingham in Thursday's 11th inning 7-6 loss, whether he intended playing in both Saturday's and Sunday's contests.

"I'm gonna play Saturday; I'm only ordered to play two out of three," he laughed.

Then there was the question of how hard he'd be shooting for the record-breaker Saturday. Would he be giving it his best homerun shot?

"If I get a pitch to hit out of the ballpark, I'm gonna do my best to dispose of it," he said. "The last pitch (Roger) Nelson threw me today I should've hit out of the park, but I didn't catch it just right, and I flied out to center field."

Hank Aaron, who's feeling great and doesn't need it, has a day off today because the Braves aren't scheduled.

Giving All
Tomorrow he goes to work again, and you can rely on it, he'll be giving it all he has, because, as Jack Billingham puts it, that's why he's Hank Aaron.

Don Gullett, the Reds' fireballing 23-year-old lefty, will be out there trying to stop him. Gullett has been tagged for seven homers by Aaron in the five years he's been in the majors and he's going to do everything he can to put the collar around him tomorrow, but, if the Braves' 40-year-old marvel clips him for No. 715, he has no immediate plans to jump into the Ohio river.

"If he does it, he does it," says Gullett. "He has hit me pretty good. Those seven home runs have come off practically every pitch I throw, fast ball, curve ball, slider and changeup."

Will Pitch Aaron
"No, I'm not going to pitch around him. I certainly am not going to walk him intentionally for no reason. If he can beat me in a ballgame, fine. I'm going to be very careful, but I'm not going to throw him four balls in the dirt."

Somebody asked the youthful Gullett if the name Tracy Stallard had any particular significance for him. Stallard was the pitcher who gave up Roger Maris' 61st home run in 1961 — the home run which broke Ruth's single-season record.

"Am I supposed to remember him?" Gullett wanted to know. "I was 10 at the time, and my only recollection is that it was an awful lot of home runs. The thing that sticks with me is that Willie Mays broke in the year I was born. He was the first guy to hit a home run off me and the first guy I ever struck out. Both fast balls."

Carew, Ferrer Spark Twins To 6-4 Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rod Carew singled home the tiebreaking run in the 11th inning and rookie Sergio Ferrer scored from second base on a long fly ball, lifting the Minnesota Twins to a 6-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals Friday night in the American League opener for both teams.

With one out in the 11th, Jerry Terrell beat out a roller to the left of reliever Lindy McDaniel and Ferrer walked. Terrell scored on Carew's third single of the game and Ferrer raced around to score when Larry Hise hit a deep fly ball to center fielder Amos Otis.

The Royals scored twice in the seventh off Minnesota starter Bert Blyleven to tie the game 4-4. Hal McRae started the rally with a double and Paul Schaaf walked. After Fran Healy sacrificed, McRae scored on Fred Patek's bouncer to the mound and pinch runner Fernando Gonzalez scored on Jim Wohlford's single.

Baylor Drives In Lead Run, Birds Win 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Don Baylor, after failing on a squeeze-bunt attempt, hit a checked-swing single in the eighth inning, driving in the winning run Friday and boosting the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the season opener for both teams.

Baylor's winning hit scored Al Bumbry, who had reached first on an error by second baseman Gary Sutherland and took second on Rich Coggins' sacrifice. Then Bobby Grich was walked intentionally and Bumbry moved to third on designated hitter Tommy Davis fly to center field.

The Orioles held hitless through the first three innings by winner Mickey Lolich, tied the score 2-2 in the fourth against Detroit's ace left-hander. Willie Horton's home run in the fourth inning gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead.

Mahaffey, Jamieson Tied At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Gritty little John Mahaffey fashioned a five-under-par 66 and tied Jimmy Jamieson for the second-round lead Friday in the $220,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Mahaffey, who has finished second twice this season, had a 133 total, nine under par on the 7,021-yard Sedgefield Country Club course that still was wet from an all-night rain.

Jamieson, who missed more than a month of play because of a chipped bone in his hand, shared the top spot after his second-round 67.

Ray Floyd, mired in a deep slump since winning the PGA national championship in 1969, had a 68 and was one stroke out of the lead at 134.

Lee Trevino, who had gone 90 holes without a bogey, finally went over par on the first hole he played and slipped to a 69. Trevino, a runaway winner at New Orleans last week, was tied with seven others at 135, just two shots away.

He was tied with Leonard Thompson, South African Bobby Cole, Ken Still, Jim Wiechers, Canadian Wilf Homenuik, New Zealand's Bob Charles and Mike Hill.

Hill had a 66; Cole Homenuik 67s; Wiechers 68; Still 69, and Charles and Thompson 70 as a massive logjam of players developed with 11 men within two shots of the lead.

Three of the game's big guns failed to qualify for the last two rounds, however. Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Lanny Wadkins all missed the cut. Palmer had a 72-146 while Casper and Wadkins each were at 144.

Doug Sanders To Undergo Operation

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Veteran golf pro Doug Sanders, plagued by hand injuries for three years, will enter a Houston hospital next Friday for surgery on his right wrist and hand.

"They're going to try to straighten out my thumb, and on the wrist, well, it's mostly exploratory," said Sanders.

Sanders, 40, scored the last of his 20 tour victories in 1972. He has completed only three of eight starts this year, finishing no higher than 32nd.

Sanders was expected to be off the tour at least three months.

Stanton, Angels Rip Chisox 8-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Lee Stanton doubled, homered and drove in three runs and Bob Oliver smacked a tie-breaking single to support the five-hit pitching of Nolan Ryan and Dick Selma Friday, giving the California Angels an 8-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the teams' season opener.

Ryan, the major league strikeout leader in 1973 with a record 383, had a wobbly start. But despite walking 10 batters he beat Chicago's Wilbur Wood, a 24-game winner last year, before a crowd of 30,041 in frigid 37-degree weather.

The fireballing Ryan did not record a strikeout until the fifth inning and finished the game with four. Selma worked the final inning.

The Angels trailed until the sixth, when Stanton's leadoff homer tied the score 2-2, then moved ahead in the seventh when Oliver's single scored pinch-runner Joe Lahoud and chased the knuckleballing Wood.

The Angels wrapped up the game with five runs in the eighth off relievers Terry Forster and Gene Gossage, with Oliver singling in one run and Stanton producing another with a sacrifice fly.

Coaches Shoulder Tournament Defeats

By Ira Berkow
NEW YORK (NEA) — Something incredible took place during the NCAA basketball championships. Two coaches took responsibility for losing tournament games. Rarely in the history of this august though sweaty profession has such candor reared its head.

John Wooden of UCLA said that he had allowed his team to grow "complacent." UCLA lost to North Carolina State in the semifinals after gaining as much as a 17-point lead at one point. While on the subject, Wooden also hoisted the burden for blowing the Notre Dame game earlier in the season; it ended UCLA's 88-game winning streak.

Also in the NCAA, Marquette coach Al McGuire said that he flipped his wig while objecting to some referee calls, and the technical fouls on him helped make North Carolina State the collegiate champions.

Meanwhile, the North Carolina coach, Len Sloan, would have had good reason to undergo a lobotomy if North Carolina had lost either one of those last two games. For he had the preposterous posture of allowing the wondrous David Thompson to spend much of the time dribbling the ball about 40 feet away from the basket. And going nowhere, when he should have utilized more around the basket because of his bounding ability.

The above proves that even coaches are fallible, contrary to general belief. It may even prove that in many cases they hurt more than they help. This goes not only for college basketball, but for all sports.

It is true, as a wise Chicago friend says, that 90 per cent of the coaches don't know whether the ball is stuffed or pumped.

In basketball, the coach has a clipboard and he looks to television announcers and some viewers the way Einstein did holding a sheet of paper covered with squiggles.

In football, the coach paws the sidelines to check for, what else, dirty work. Then he puts on his earphones. Sometimes you see a coach on the sidelines doing a little jig. Often his face says the dance is over anger or joy as seen on the field. I always think he is listening to music.

Then the coach takes his clipboard and scratches his brainy backside. Now I don't know what he's listening to. Maybe it's a commercial.

And has anyone ever seen the front side of a coach's clipboard? For all the world knows, he may be drawing dirty pictures.

The first lesson a football coach must learn is what to say to the press. If he can master that, he will always have a job. The first thing to say to a question why, is, "I'll have to wait until I check the game films tomorrow."

Many coaches keep their jobs by saying how first, they build character, and two, that they "motivate" the men. Darrell Royal, coach of University of Texas football, along with eminent psychologists, agree that coaches build football teams, not character. And as far as motivation, could you imagine a coach today trying to be Knute Rockne. If he asked his boys today to win one for the Gipper, they'd lock him up in a locker.

Baseball managers might even be the broadest jokes of all. Baseball managers, like coaches in other sports, owe much of their success to failure. That is, once they get fired from one they get another. Alvin Dark is the most recent and best example. He got bounced a few times and now winds up as the A's manager. How much smarter is Alvin Dark today than when he managed losers at Cleveland and Kansas City? Older, yes, but brilliant?

Managers in baseball are nearly as valuable as the cocky, a useless remnant of the past when we roamed the earth on all fours.

Sometimes there is an innovator, like Casey Stengel (who discovered that indeed a man may hit a curve ball better when the ball breaks into him instead of away from him. And lo and behold he begins to platoon players and wins a million pennants.

And sometimes there is a coach smart enough not to interfere with his smart players. Red Auerbach was such a raving genius.

And sometimes a manager like Walter Alston will fit his theories to his players. When he had sluggers in Ebbets Field, they slugged to pennants. When he had to devise defensive teams to win, they did.

These men, though, win because they are innovators and, not afraid to throw the ball or ideas into the winds of tradition. Which is why they win consistently. Their competition just checks to see what tradition has done, and then these geniuses scratch their backsides rapturously with their graffiti clipboards. And lose or win, according to the skill of their athletes.

"Tall Tales" Fishing Contest Deadline April 15

Jacksonville Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., April 5, 1974 13
Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Ill., April 6, 1974 13

Tennessee Ernie Ford, internationally-known entertainer and avid angler, is bringing his "down home" humor and love of fishing to the judging panel of the Gladding "Fishing Tall Tales" Contest.

Tennessee Ernie and his fellow judges will look at entries from any angler with a "Fishing Tall Tale" worth telling. The contest winner will receive a free one-week salmon fishing trip to Iceland, via Icelandic Airlines, and a full fitting out of Gladding fishing equipment. No formal entry blanks needed. Just send your tall tale in a letter to Gladding "Fishing Tall Tales," P.O. Box 586, Back Bay Annex, Boston, Mass. 02117. Deadline is April 15. Tennessee Ernie and the other judges can select a winner in time for him to enjoy great July salmon fishing in Iceland.

Tennessee Ernie Ford named Judge.

Other members of the judging panel, all avid fishermen, are: True Magazine Editor Clare Conley, Chicago Tribune Outdoor Editor Tom McNally, and three museum trustees, Dr. Leonard B. Clark, former Union College Biological Sciences Department Chairman; J. Michael Hadley, President, Times Mirror Magazine, publisher of Outdoor Life; and Attorney Arthur B. Hooker, partner in the New York City law firm of Lord, Day and Lord.

The winner will stay at a modern Icelandic fishing lodge with an entire week to catch his limit in the fabulous salmon river, Midfjardara, at the height of the season.

Midfjardara has always been known as one of Iceland's best salmon rivers. It holds a very large stock of North Atlantic salmon, averaging 8 to 9 lbs., but 15 to 20 lb. catches are not uncommon and "lunkers," weighing up to 24 lbs. have been caught there.

On Iceland's north coast, the river originates 47 miles inland and plenty of snow helps maintain its volume of water well into the summer. Three separate rivers flow from Iceland's interior into Midfjardara and salmon ascend this whole network, providing anglers with some 80 pools and runs of much variety and fighting fish. There's none of the brush which annoys fishermen on many others of the world's salmon rivers.

The number of fishermen on this river is strictly controlled and few are fortunate enough to join in this specialized form of salmon fishing, a challenge for the angler who wants to meet a battling 10 or 20 lb. salmon with light tackle.

Gladding Corporation, America's oldest leisure products company, will equip the winner with a salmon rod, reel, tapers, leaders and special flies for the trip. When he returns, he will receive a Gladding Aqua-Search fish-depth finder, a Gladding Aqua-Troll electric outboard motor, a Fisher 26 inflatable motorboat, a Pearce-Simpson C.B. radio and a Gladding South Bend Classic rod and reel combination.

No formal entry blank. Just send your tall tale with your name and address. In case two or more submit the same story, the judges will select the story they deem the most colorfully embellished. Remember the deadline date of April 15 for receipt of entries.

The fuel forecast for this boating season is starting to look brighter. An improving supply picture and wiser use of fuel should mean "fun as usual" for the nation's boat owners this summer, according to Boating Industry Association Administrator Matt Kaufman. Kaufman said gasoline supplies for automotive and recreational use are expected to increase in the immediate future, "and in plenty of time for the coming boating and vacation season."

Illinois fishing prospects are also looking brighter for this season. Area fishermen who are getting out early have been catching some lunker bass. Good reports of bass hitting in Central Illinois have been coming in. Lake Sangchris, Carlyle and Shelbyville reservoirs have been producing early stringers of bass. Spinnerbaits, Hot Spots, Rapalas, and shad imitators seem to be the best lures at this time. Crappie have been hitting jigs and minnows at Lake Springfield, Spring Lake, and Anderson Lake on the Illinois. Top catches of both bass and crappies are coming out of the Goofy Ridge ditch area, near Havana. Cheese and shadguts are reported to be working on channel catfish at Lake Sangchris. Otter Lake has opened up for the fishing season, and fishermen report that it is extremely muddy at this time. Lake Jacksonville will open up on April 13, if all goes as planned.

Don Slocum, owner and operator of D and D Sports Center, has started the annual D and D fishing contest. Tom Hayes is in the number one spot with a 7 lb. 4 oz. largemouth bass. Mike Crouse is in second place with a 5 lb. 4 oz. largemouth bass. Don told this writer that the prize for the largest bass of this year will be a new 4-h.p. Mercury fishing motor. A new trolling motor will be awarded for the largest crappie of the year. A new tackle box will be the prize for the largest bluegill of the year. The monthly contest for bass, crappie, and bluegill will net the fishermen ten dollars in merchandise for the largest fish caught. The second place winner will receive five dollars in merchandise. The Zebco Fish America Awards Program is underway and contest forms are available at D and D Sports Center. The Zebco Contest forms are also available at Gene's Sporting Goods.

It looks like another top-notch year for salmon and trout on Lake Michigan. Salmon Unlimited, a sport fishing organization based largely in and around Chicago, plans to stock 300,000 chinook into the Illinois portion of the lake during this spring. Last year, the group reared and stocked 150,000 chinook. Trophies were recently awarded to winners of Salmon Unlimited's 1973 Big Fish Contest. The largest fish caught in five salmonid categories — coho, chinook, steelhead, laketrout, and brown trout won trophies. Winners include: Jack Bergbreiter and Jerry Pabst, both of Chicago, tied with 14 lb. 1 oz. coho; Jim Kurth, Chicago, 32 lb. 6 oz. chinook; Fred Gerlitz, Glenview, 25 lb. steelhead trout; Jack Bergbreiter, 15 lb. 1 oz. brown trout; Roger Laird, Waukegan, 17 lb. 5 oz. lake trout. Laird's fish is a new Illinois state record for laketrout.

Chicago's Coho Derby will run from May 1 to May 25. Waukegan's Coho '74 will run from June 1 to June 9. Spring Bird Count

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — To some the arrival of spring means a time for camping, baseball or a romantic stroll through a park. To others it's time for counting birds.

The Illinois Audubon Society is making preparations for its third annual statewide spring bird count — when hundreds of volunteers take to the hills and fields in early May to tabulate sightings of various bird species.

Purpose of the count is to determine changes in the bird population of the state. But because this is only the third such spring count it could be years before any trends become evident.

"We're going to need several years before we actually notice anything," says Vernon M. Kleen, an Illinois Audubon Society director and nongame biologist with the state Department of Conservation.

This contrasts with the Audubon Society's annual Christmas bird count, a nationwide event conducted annually for nearly three-quarters of a century.

The kinds of birds covered in the two counts are also different. The winter count involves year-round residents and birds which have migrated from the north for the winter.

The spring tally covers year-round residents, birds migrating from the south to breed in Illinois, and transients that stop off in the state while traveling either north or south.

Kleen says that ideally this second count should be held in the summer, when there are no transients. "But it's difficult to get a lot of people to help during the hot time of the year," he said.

To provide a basis for comparison year after year, the count is always held on a Saturday between May 4 and May 10, at the height of the spring migration. This year's count will be May 4.

Last year some 850 observers in more than 70 counties submitted reports. A complex system of tabulating hours spent in the field and miles covered enables experts to compare yearly tallies even though the number of observers varies.

More than 250 different species of birds were reported during last year's spring count. The most common were the grackle, redwinged blackbird, house sparrow and starling.

The robin, traditional harbinger of spring, ranked fifth in frequency of sightings and the state bird, the cardinal, ranked tenth.

More than 245,000 individual birds were counted.

Kleen says some reports of species were not accepted because they were of doubtful validity. The reports were made in good faith but the volunteers had too little background in spotting birds, he said.

"That's why we recommend people who are quite familiar with birds help out," he said.

"You've got to have people who know what they're doing."

Rodman Pool To Be Destroyed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Bureaucratic bungling and environmental emotionalism are bringing about the destruction of America's very best bass fishing lake, according to Ray Scott, president of the Bass Anglers Sportsman Society, a 165,000-member fishing and conservation group headquartered here.

He's referring to the draining of Rodman Pool, part of the controversial Cross-Florida Barge Canal. Upon orders from several federal agencies, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers began draining the 8,000-acre lake at 6 p.m. (EDST) Monday, April 1.

A previous drawdown of the lake resulted in the slaughter of millions of fish and shellfish, according to Scott. "And this drawdown probably will result in an even heavier kill, because the giant Florida largemouth bass are right in the middle of spawning season. I fear that, in addition to the billions of fingerlings that will die, we will also see thousands of mature mother bass left to flop themselves to death on the mud flats of the receding lake. The prospect is enough to make you sick to your stomach."

Why the drawdown? "I blame it all on one man," Scott said. "Assistant Secretary of the Interior Nathaniel P. Reed is determined to stop the Cross-Florida Barge Canal. He's willing to sacrifice this magnificent fishery resource for a few scrubby oak trees and palmetto thickets."

Scott said Rodman Pool, which regularly gives up bass in the 10-15 pound range to anglers from all over America, cost the taxpayer $20 million to construct. It produces annual revenue to the surrounding Central Florida area estimated at $1.2 million.

"Nat Reed's title is 'Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife' and his statutory duties are set forth clearly in the federal law," Scott said. "His leadership in the destruction of this magnificent fishery resource would seem to be directly at odds with his duties under the law."

The trial judge who heard all the arguments for and against the pool in a complex trial last year "wanted to preserve the pool for all Americans to enjoy," Scott said. "Unfortunately, at Nat Reed's urging, the Justice Department found a technical loophole that allowed Reed to bypass the judge's decision and order the draining of the pool," he said.

But Scott said he plans to seek other legal means of preventing the draining. "BASS has joined the Putnam County (Fla.) Board of County Commissioners in a court action designed to prevent the senseless destruction of Rodman," he said. At the same time, he admitted that even a favorable court decision probably would only be temporary, and the ultimate solution must be determined by congress.

For that reason, he is rallying his membership, and all those who wish to see Rodman Pool preserved, in a massive letter-writing campaign to Congress.

"We need emergency legislation, and we need it now, if we're going to save Rodman Pool and the $20 million we have already invested there," Scott said. "I urge all American fishermen to let Congress and Nat Reed hear from them today. Every day we delay action, the Lake dies a little, and so do thousands of fish. We must save Rodman Pool."

Enforcement Of Endangered Species Act

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Enforcement of the Endangered Species Act will begin March 31, according to Tony Dean, director of the Department of Conservation. The Act prohibits possession of animals, or any parts of animals which are in danger of extinction, except those which are registered and secured by permit with the Department.

After the March 31 deadline, articles not registered will be subject to seizure by the Department, said Dean. The law also prohibits transfer or sale of these items once registered.

"Persons who possess skins, rugs, furniture, articles of clothing or any other products made from rare and endangered animal species should write to the Department for an application, list their articles and send it back for the free permit," Dean said. "Citizens need only declare their items to obtain this permit."

Director Dean said that enforcement provisions of the Act will be directed toward the commercial trade, including wholesalers, retailers and suppliers, and not against the ordinary citizen in possession of personal items.

Products covered by the act include fur, hide, skin, teeth, feathers, tusks, claws or any other portion of the body from any animal protected by law. Animal species for which permits must be obtained include all those on the Endangered Species list. A few of the more commonly-owned species are: leopard, snow leopard, clouded leopard, tiger, cheetah, alligator, cayman, crocodile, vicuna, red and gray wolf, polar bear, mountain lion or cougar, jaguar, ocelot, margay, kit fox, Pacific Ridley turtle and green turtle.

Permit application forms can be obtained from: Illinois Department of Conservation, Division of Wildlife Resources, Attn.: Vernon Kleen, 605 State Office Building, Springfield, Illinois 62706, or from the Illinois Adventure Center, First Floor, State of Illinois Building, 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Eagles Nesting In Illinois

"If the northern bald eagle continues an apparent inclination to breed and nest in southern Illinois, we may be witnessing and evolutionary step in nature's survival mechanism for these birds. Reports this year and in the recent past of eagles nesting, or attempting to nest, in the midwest climate are too frequent to be taken lightly. A pair of bald eagles has built a nest in the treetops at Lyle Lake, on the Union County Wildlife

Refuge, and another pair is nesting on Crab Orchard Refuge lake, six weeks after the main eagle flight along the Mississippi River has returned north. Most eagles that are seen along the Mississippi each winter are thought to nest in Minnesota, northern Michigan and Canada; they are a species variant of the Florida bald eagle, which, of course, nests in that state. The Florida eagle is in more extinction danger than is the northern variety, though ours has its troubles, too. Boaters are being kept off Lyle Lake to help the eagle breeding while at Crab Orchard, a half-mile security area has been set up around the nest site. Crab Orchard has had a mating pair for two years previous, but no success at producing young. Western Kentucky reports a third pair of nesting birds near Lake Barkley and of six-to-eight pairs breeding in Ohio during the last few years, two young were produced last year.

F.E.O. Policies Interpreted For Boating

The Federal Energy Office in late February began its first large-scale juggling act to deal with localized — but, in some cases, statewide — shortages of gasoline.

Federal Energy Czar William Simon announced that 20 states would receive increases of gasoline allocations averaging around 2 percent. The increases ran from a high of 10.6 million gallons in New Jersey to a low of 590,000 gallons in Rhode Island.

Meantime, some spot shortages are being reported in areas where the boating season is getting under way. What are the implications for boating? Some of the questions can be answered by the most recent interpretations of FEO regulations dated Feb. 14. Here are the most recent interpretations (which could change and which may be being violated in your area):

—A gas station may not refuse to sell fuel to a trailer boat pulling up to its pumps, since all vehicles must be serviced on an equal basis. But a $3 limit per customer limit is legal —as long as it's applied to all customers alike. In that case, the boat owner would be forced to split his purchase between his car and his boat — since the limitation applies to customers, not "gas tanks" which a single customer may bring into the station in a single trip.

—A marina owner may not refuse to sell a boat owner who isn't a regular. Just like the shoreside filling station, he must continue his normal business custom of selling to all who come by.

—A marina owner can refuse to sell to automobiles if it is his normal business practice to sell to boats only. Isolated sales to a car or two do not constitute "normal practice."

—A marina that was servicing commercial accounts and/or bulk sales to commercial purchasers as a normal business practice, including using a separate pump or selling at times other than when it was selling fuel to the general public, may continue to do so. This practice cannot be followed "in such a manner as to circumvent the objectives of the mandatory allocation program."

The ruling (FEO No. 1974-6) is to be found on pp. 6111 and 6112 of the Federal Register, Feb. 19, 1974.

In a related development, the Virginia Attorney General's office advises that the state's new two-gallon limit on sales of gas in portable containers doesn't apply to portable tanks connected to an engine. In short, Virginia boat owners should take their boats with them when gassing up. The limitation was designed to discourage hoarding and carrying portable fuel tanks around in car trunks.

The OBC Government Relations Department warns boatmen not to expect an army of FEO agents to be in the field to police violations of the FEO regulations. FEO is short on personnel. If you spot violations report them — either to the nearest FEO office or the Internal Revenue Service.

VILLELLA TO CREATE "HARLEQUIN"

The CBS Television Network has commissioned Edward Villella, principal dancer with the New York City Ballet and considered by many critics to be America's leading ballet star, to create and dance in "Harlequin," a youthful version of the 16th-century commedia dell'arte character. The special, fifth in the ongoing "CBS Festival of the Lively Arts for Young People" series, will be broadcast 2:30-3:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 10, on the network.

Unlike the traditional character, usually played as a poor yet beguiling rogue, Harlequin, in Villella's production, will be portrayed as a boy beloved by his friends.

Patricia McBride, Villella's frequent partner at the New York City Ballet and on television, will dance the role of Columbine, the pure, teasing, loving girl whom Harlequin is taken with, but whose hand is sought by many.

Workers Clear Storm Debris

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — About 450 central Illinois neighbors, including bearded Mennonites laboring in blue coveralls and black-brimmed hats, helped the tornado-torn West Side of Decatur Friday paste together its lives and property.

The buzz of chain saws drowned out most conversation as workers kept busy in 30-degree temperatures made more chilly by a brisk wind. The workers, volunteers, brought 65 trucks and plenty of muscle.

Those driven from the 155 homes damaged by Wednesday's tornado found neighbors who provided places to stay and food to eat. Local restaurants donated dozens of donuts and hundreds of ham sandwiches and coffee to feed the workers.

"I've had more offers of help and free meals than I could possibly accept," said Everett Mitchell, 39, a Caterpillar Tractor Co. plant manager. He stood in the rubble of what used to be his $30,000 ranch-style home.

As he talked, workers from communities 20 miles away carried him a piece of his green carpet, a broken piece of furniture or a muddled curtain.

"No, just throw it away. And don't worry about those cabinets. The kitchen floor could tilt if you tried to get in there. It's not worth getting somebody hurt to salvage a cabinet or two," he said.

Mitchell's wife and two of his three children escaped injury as the tornado cut through the West Side, killing one person in Decatur.

Another person was killed in a twister in Champagne.

Damage to the Decatur area was estimated at about $2 million and a state official said the estimate was $5 million statewide.

"Four of us came from Clinton because we know what it's like," said John Boesdorfer, 53, who drives a truck for a fertilizer company struck by a tornado five years ago. Clinton is about 20 miles west of Decatur.

Bob Pruitt, 44, a railroad machinist, drove his wife and daughter to their home which they left in ambulances two days earlier.

"My boy had to stay in the hospital. I wasn't here when it happened, but when I got back it looked like somebody had opened a box of matches and scattered them out," Pruitt said.

Pruitt, like his neighbor Mitchell, said he plans to reconstruct his home on its original site.

Adlai Yoder, 49, his whitestreaked hair sticking from the brim of his black hat, said about 50 of his fellow Mennonites who work farms near Arthur, 30 miles east of the disaster site, met at a church early Friday and rode in vans and trucks to help.

"This is what we want to do. It's when you help someone else that you're doing something that's worth doing," he said.

Verna Killebrew Of Winchester Dies At 65

WINCHESTER — Mrs. Verna Killebrew of Winchester died Thursday afternoon at Passavant hospital. She was 65 years of age.

She was born April 6, 1908, at Stonington, Illinois, daughter of John H. and Clara Thrash Abrams. She was married in 1930 to Randall Killebrew. He survives with a son, Randall Killebrew of Lewistown, and three grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Vera Meehan of Bluffs, and a brother, Kenneth Abrams of Hannibal, Missouri, also survive. She was preceded in death by a brother, Hardin.

Mrs. Killebrew taught for 32 years, retiring in 1968. She was a member of the Winchester Christian church, Loyal Daughters class, Eastern Star, Senior Woman's club, Passavant Aid Society and Homemakers Extension.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Christian church with Rev. Warren Turner officiating. Burial will be in Winchester City cemetery.

Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Woodcock Funeral Home.

RTA Amendments

Special Session Asked

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A group of Illinois legislators said Friday they have asked Gov. Daniel Walker and the leaders of the General Assembly to call a special session devoted to proposed changes in the Regional Transportation Authority for metropolitan Chicago.

The lawmakers, most of them from Chicago suburbs which voted against the RTA in a March 19 referendum, said a special session would be necessary if legislative leaders are successful in their efforts to limit the regular spring session to consideration of the state budget and a scattering of "emergency" matters.

One of the group, Rep. James Philip, R — Elmhurst, told newsmen the RTA was "a last-minute proposition drawn up outside the General Assembly" by Walker and a few top legislative leaders.

Then, he said, the plan was "rammed down our throats" and some 50 proposed amendments never were considered. Philip said more than 20 legislators were behind the request for a special session.

"Only a few of us are opposed to the entire concept of an RTA. Most of us can live with it if there are some reasonable amendments," he said.

"Many of the people who were the biggest supporters of the RTA agree with us that some amendments are needed," Philip said.

"Just the closeness of the vote indicates the natives are restless," he said.

The RTA was approved by a margin of 684,286 to 671,287, according to the official results certified Friday by the State Board of Elections. It was rejected soundly by five of the six counties involved in the plan, but those counties were dwarfed by populous Cook County, where a 200,000-vote edge put the RTA over the top.

Philip said he and the other legislators had

SPRINGFIELD — Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan stands in front of the State Fairgrounds' swine pavilion Friday as he describes the grounds' "disgraceful deterioration." Hartigan and a panel of legislators suggested a legislative commission make recommendations for improving the grounds before this summer's fair. (UPI)

'Disgraceful Deterioration'

Officials Eye Fairgrounds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan called Friday for the formation of a special task force to investigate "the disgraceful deterioration of the State Fairgrounds" in Springfield.

Hartigan told newsmen inadequate and unsanitary facilities at the Fairgrounds had caused the American Legion to move its Boys State program to Eastern Illinois University after 35 years in Springfield.

The lieutenant governor was joined at a news conference by State Reps. J. David Jones, R-Springfield, and James T. Londrigan, D-Springfield, and Sens. Edward McBroom, R-Kankakee, and Thomas L. Hynes, D-Chicago.

The lawmakers said they would introduce a resolution calling for the formation of a bipartisan task force to investigate conditions at the Fairgrounds and submit recommendations by June 1.

Hartigan declined to say whom he thought was to blame for the deterioration at the Fairgrounds.

"Our emphasis is on a program for the future," he said.

But he said more than $300,000 appropriated by the General Assembly for repairs and improvements during fiscal 1973 was put back into the state treasury because it was not spent before the Sept. 30, 1973 deadline.

Spending the money was the responsibility of the State Fair Agency, which is under the jurisdiction of the Agriculture Department and the administration of Gov. Daniel Walker.

State Fair Manager Paul King was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Walker said: "There are some areas of capital improvement that do need to be made at the State Fair. I hope that the lieutenant governor is aware that we have asked for a substantial appropriation from the General Assembly to fix those buildings up. We can't do that without legislative authorization."

Walker's proposed budget for fiscal 1975 includes a request for $480,000 for capital improvements at the Fairgrounds. The budget also shows the General Assembly authorized $391,500 for that purpose in fiscal 1973, but that only $81,500 was spent.

Asked about this, Walker said: "I would find it so. It certainly is news to me. I'll check on it."

Wilber Cox, 77, Of Greenfield Dies Thursday

WHITE HALL — Wilber J. Cox, Greenfield route one, died 2:15 p.m. Thursday at the White Hall hospital. He was 77 years of age.

He was born June 21, 1896, in Sangamon county, son of Frank and Mary Scheumaucher Cox. He was married to Mary Jane Baise January 27, 1924, in Jacksonville. She survives with two sons, Paul and Gary, both of Greenfield, and two daughters, Mrs. Omer D. (Rita) Goode of Ruthfield and Mrs. Gene (Ruth) Pedigo of Curran.

There are fourteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren surviving with three foster sons, Steven Maxwell of Jacksonville, Florida, and David and Jimmy Horn, both at home. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Mr. Cox was preceded in death by three brothers and a sister.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Sunday at the Mackey-Daws Funeral Home.

Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home.

Parents Hear Moss Children Escaped Tornado

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Moss, 23 Jones Place, Jacksonville, received word Thursday that their children, Jim Moss and Mrs. J. F. Coomer, and family were safe at their respective homes in the state of Kentucky.

The former local residents reside in Adair and Madison counties, where there was a lot of damage.

check on it." Hartigan said looking into conditions at the Fairgrounds "is an example of the kind of initiative the lieutenant governor can take."

He said he was confident the governor would look favorably on his demonstration of initiative. And he said he hoped he could work with Walker on a suggestion made originally by Secretary of State Michael Howlett to establish a trade center at the Fairgrounds. Hartigan said under that proposal the state's businesses and industries would help renovate the Fairgrounds.

Call 4-H Building 'Filthy Pest Hole'

MORRISON, Ill. (AP) — The American Legion moved Boys' State to Eastern Illinois University after 35 years at the State Fairgrounds in Springfield because facilities there were filthy and "better for horses than for people," an official said Friday.

"Boys' State started out at Springfield, but it doesn't always have to be there," said Carl Yost, the director of the government education program for high school boys.

"Considering the deplorable facilities that we've been putting up with, it's a wonder that we stayed as long as we did. But last year was too much. I resolved that we were going to leave Springfield if we had to sleep out in an open field. That would be far better than that filthy pest hole," Yost said.

"That's strong language, but I feel that way and so does our entire board," he said.

Yost said the 1,000 boys who attend the annual week-long program each summer had been staying in the 4-H building, paying $500 in rent.

"There was no hot water for three days, there were no screens and the flies flew in from trash heaps across the way, there were about 200 panes of glass broken, and the toilets wouldn't flush," he said.

Yost said the American Legion spent several

Driver Found Not Guilty

Judge John B. Wright found Robert J. Covey of Jacksonville not guilty on a charge of failure to give information of a property damage accident following a bench trial Friday afternoon.

Covey was accused of driving through a yard and striking a pine tree on West Greenwood.

Ronald Ruyle, 18, of Meredosia, entered pleas of guilty to improper registration and no goggles and was fined $15 on each charge plus $10 court costs.

Adams Retains State GOP Post

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois Republican chairman Don Adams of Springfield was re-elected unanimously Friday, overcoming reported opposition from Sen. Charles H. Percy and former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Adams' re-election by the party's central committee was assured when his only opponent, Chicago attorney William C. Ives, pulled out of the race at the last minute.

Ives said when he knew he didn't have the votes "there was no use in fooling around. I wished him (Adams) well and offered him a cigar."

Adams said his unanimous re-election showed the party was united for the upcoming election year.

"I see our job as one of old fashioned organization. Our main goal will be to get the Republican vote out in November. It's that simple. There's nothing fancy, dramatic or romantic about it," he said.

Adams, 38, was first elected chairman in 1973 to serve out the unexpired term of veteran GOP Chairman Victor L. Smith. He was re-elected to a full four-year term.

Ives, 41, had criticized Adams for failing in a promise to revitalize the central committee.

Blood Donors Needed To Keep Program Alive

Volunteer supporters of the Morgan County Community Blood Program on Tuesday, March 26, included one first-time donor, Judith Winkelman, and several volume donors.

"In order to collect approximately 100 units of blood a month, the amount needed to meet the needs of Morgan County residents, we must continue to recruit new donors and maintain the support of regular contributors," Dr. Robert Kooiker, PMAHA pathologist, said. "Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 who is in good health may donate blood."

Collections are made every Tuesday at Passavant, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Volunteers may report at their convenience during those hours, or may telephone the hospital for appointments to avoid delay. Blood collected locally is primarily used here.

Orville Wheatley, Sr., became a member of the three-gallon club on March 26. Pauline Willner gave her forty-first unit; Charles Beddingfield now has given 22 units, and Gary Spangenberg, 18 units.

Other volunteers not previously reported are Will Dewese, Doris Dewese, Raymond DeWeese, Joyce Nolle, Odette Pitman, Darla Hembrough, Francis Bunch, Harold Lewis, Linda Besterfeldt, Carol Gill, Jennie Hester, and John Coe.

State Medical Society Chief Resigns Abruptly

CHICAGO (AP) — The speaker of the house of delegates of the Illinois State Medical Society resigned abruptly Friday, bringing the house's business session to a temporary halt.

A spokesman for the society said the reason of the resignation of the speaker, Dr. Andrew J. Brislen of Chicago, was not immediately known.

The spokesman said the 225-member policymaking body for the state medical society, broke up into caucuses and when the session resumed voted not to accept the resignation.

However, Brislen reportedly had left the meeting by then and the session continued with the vice speaker, Dr. James A. McDonald of Geneva, presiding.

The Illinois State Medical Society began its 134th annual meeting Wednesday. It is scheduled to adjourn Saturday.

Although all the talk after the election was about party unity, Percy reportedly made several personal calls to members of the central committee in support of Ives' bid to unseat Adams.

Sources said Percy was unhappy with Adams for suggesting that the Illinois primary election be moved from March to June or September. Percy has announced he will enter the Illinois primary in 1976 to test support for a possible presidential bid, and a strong early showing in Illinois in March could boost his chances.

Adams had the backing of House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, who nominated the party chairman for a $22,000 seat on the State Board of Elections last fall.

Fire Damages Waverly Home Early Friday

Fire of undetermined origin gutted a kitchen and garage area at the William Austin home, 401 W. Tremont, about 2:30 a.m. Friday in Waverly.

Waverly Volunteer Firemen said the blaze had gained considerable headway before being discovered. The Austins escaped without injury.

Smoke and water damage was evident throughout the rest of the home.

There was no estimate of the damage resulting from the fire.

Pleas Heard In Court Cases Here Friday

Several pleas of not guilty were heard before Judge John B. Wright Friday morning and further court action scheduled for each case.

Ray Fay, 80, of Route 4 entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of aggravated assault and requested a bench trial. A bench trial was scheduled at a later date.

John W. Brown, 18, of 422 Caldwell entered pleas of not guilty to charges of unlawful use of a weapon and unlawful possession of cannabis. His jury trial was set for April 16.

Brenda Chamberlain, 18, of 818 South Clay entered a plea of not guilty to criminal damage to property and a bench trial was scheduled for Monday at 2:30 p.m.

Percy Johnson, 17, of 250 E. Wolcott had a preliminary hearing scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday on two counts of burglary.

Greene Woman Injures Back At Twin-Cities

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Wayne Scott of Roodhouse was injured about 10:30 a.m. Monday while at work at Twin-Cities in White Hall. She was taken to the White Hall hospital, where she was placed in traction for a back injury.

Mrs. H. L. Janvrin has returned from an extended visit and vacation. She and her daughter, Mrs. Gary Moore of Charleston, S.C., spent time with Mrs. Janvrin's son and wife, Airman John Janvrin and Mrs. Janvrin, in Mountain Home, Idaho.
